Executive Summary

The Civil and Small Claims Advisory Committee recommends the approval of one and revision of five unlawful detainer forms. These new and revised forms (1) implement a new law creating a new procedure for partial evictions, (2) implement a new law providing additional time for certain defendants to respond to a summons for unlawful detainer, and (3) update the forms to reflect current law regarding COVID-19 rental protections.

Recommendation

The Civil and Small Claims Advisory Committee recommends that the Judicial Council, effective January 1, 2024:

1. Approve Judgment—Unlawful Detainer Partial Eviction Attachment (form UD-110P) for use when a partial eviction is ordered under new Code of Civil Procedure section 1174.27;
2. Revise Summons—Eviction (form SUM-130) to reference the additional time that somebody served through the Secretary of State's address confidentiality program has to respond to a summons;

3. Revise Plaintiff's Mandatory Cover Sheet and Supplemental Allegations—Unlawful Detainer (form UD-101) and Answer—Unlawful Detainer (form UD-105) to remove COVID-19 tenant protections that no longer apply, update other defenses, and make non-substantive formatting changes; and
4. Revise Judgment—Unlawful Detainer (form UD-110) and revise, retitle, and renumber Judgment—Unlawful Detainer Attachment (form UD-110S) to Judgment—Unlawful Detainer Habitable Premises Attachment (form UD-110H) to reflect the new partial eviction procedure and new form UD-110P and to make non-substantive formatting changes.

The new form and revised forms, with all changes highlighted, are attached at pages 10–22.

Relevant Previous Council Action

Summons—Unlawful Detainer—Eviction (form SUM-130) was initially adopted by the Judicial Council as Summons—Unlawful Detainer (form 982(a)(11)) and renumbered in 2004. The form has been revised several times, most recently effective January 1, 2023, to expand use of the mandatory form to expressly include forcible entry and forcible detainer proceedings.

Plaintiff's Mandatory Cover Sheet and Supplemental Allegations—Unlawful Detainer (form UD-101) was adopted by the council effective October 5, 2020, for courts to determine whether judgments may issue on unlawful detainer cases in light of COVID-19 tenant protections provided by Assembly Bill 3088 (Stats. 2020, ch. 37). At the same time, the council also revised Answer—Unlawful Detainer (form UD-105) to aid defendants in responding to the allegations in new form UD-101 and raising new defenses available under AB 3088. The council further revised these forms in December 2020; May, July, and October 2021; and April and July 2022 to reflect further changes to the law regarding COVID-19 tenant protections.

Judgment—Unlawful Detainer (form UD-110) and Judgment—Unlawful Detainer Attachment (form UD-110S) were adopted effective January 1, 2003, and have not been revised since.

Analysis/Rationale

This recommendation to revise the council's unlawful detainer forms implements Senate Bill 1017 and Assembly Bill 1726, and reflects changes in the law on COVID-19 rental protections. These new and revised laws are summarized below, followed by an explanation of the form revisions that the committee recommends in response.

Senate Bill 1017

In September 2022, Governor Gavin Newsom signed Senate Bill 1017 (Stats. 2022, ch. 558),¹ which, effective January 1, 2023, made several changes to unlawful detainer actions based on an act of abuse or violence against a tenant.

Code of Civil Procedure section 1161.3² provides that a landlord cannot terminate a tenancy (or fail to renew a tenancy) based on documented abuse or violence against a tenant unless certain conditions apply. SB 1017 expanded this protection against eviction in several ways. First, the protection now applies to documented abuse against a tenant's immediate family member. (§ 1161.3(b).) Second, SB 1017 provides that a tenant may not be evicted because of acts that are "against a tenant, a tenant's immediate family member, or a tenant's household member" and that constitute certain crimes. (§ 1161.3(b); Civ. Code, § 1946.7(a)(6)–(8).) Third, SB 1017 broadened the definition of "documentation evidencing abuse or violence" in section 1161.3 to allow that "[a]ny other form of documentation or evidence that reasonably verifies that the abuse or violence occurred" is also sufficient. (§ 1161.3(a)(2)(D).)

In addition, SB 1017 created a new partial eviction procedure that applies when the perpetrator and the victim are both tenants in residence of the same unit. In such situations, the court is directed to proceed with a new process laid out in section 1174.27.³ Importantly, the complaint must include a cause of action based on an act of abuse or violence against a tenant, a tenant's immediate family member, or a tenant's household member, and the tenant must invoke section 1161.3(d)(2) as an affirmative defense in order for the court to grant a partial eviction.

If those prerequisites are met and the court determines that there is documentation evidencing abuse and there is no other basis for the unlawful detainer, then the defendant raising the affirmative defense cannot be found guilty of an unlawful detainer, cannot be named in a judgment in favor of the landlord, and cannot be held liable to the landlord for any amount related to the unlawful detainer.

If there is a showing that another defendant was the perpetrator and is guilty of an unlawful detainer, the court is required to issue a partial eviction and order the removal of the perpetrator from the dwelling unit and the changing of the locks. The court also has the option to permanently bar the perpetrator from entering the residential premises or order that the remaining occupants not permit or invite the perpetrator to live in the dwelling unit.

Assembly Bill 1726

In September 2022, the Governor also signed Senate Bill 1726 (Stats. 2022, ch. 686),⁴ which, effective January 1, 2023, provides additional time for certain defendants to respond to a summons for unlawful detainer and other summary proceedings for obtaining possession of real property. Specifically, “[i]f service is completed by mail or in person through the Secretary of State’s address confidentiality program . . . the defendant shall have an additional five court days to file a response.” (§ 1167(b).)

² All further statutory references are to the Code of Civil Procedure unless stated otherwise.

COVID-19 tenant protections

In response to the COVID-19 pandemic, the Legislature enacted numerous tenant protections and changed court processes for unlawful detainer actions. Those tenant protections, however, are almost exclusively limited to certain time periods when the rent became due, all of which ended before January 1, 2023. Accordingly, nearly all the tenant protections enumerated on two unlawful detainer forms are inapplicable to any unlawful detainer actions filed on or after January 1, 2024, because paragraph (2) of section 1161 prohibits a landlord from serving notice, and consequently bringing an unlawful detainer action, for unpaid rent more than one year after the rent becomes due.

Implementation of SB 1017

The committee recommends the following actions to implement SB 1017:

- Revise item 3k on Answer—Unlawful Detainer (form UD-105), in which the tenant indicates which defenses and objections the tenant believes apply to the unlawful detainer action, to include the new applicable provisions of SB 1017, except for the new partial eviction procedure.
- To implement the new partial eviction procedure:
 - Add new subitems to item 3k on form UD-105 to provide an option for the defendant to raise the new affirmative defense in section 1161.3(d) to trigger the partial eviction procedure.
 - Approve new form Judgment—Unlawful Detainer Partial Eviction Attachment (form UD-110P), which is an attachment to Judgment—Unlawful Detainer (form UD-110). The proposed form closely follows section 1174.27, listing the required findings and orders and providing check boxes to issue optional orders.
 - Revise form UD-110 so the court can check a box for a judgment for partial eviction (item 8) and attach new form UD-110P.
 - Change the title of form UD-110S (renumbered as form UD-110H) from Judgment—Unlawful Detainer Attachment to Judgment—Unlawful Detainer Habitable Premises Attachment because it would no longer be the only attachment to the unlawful detainer judgment form.

Implementation of AB 1726

To reflect AB 1726’s provision of additional time for certain defendants to respond to a summons for unlawful detainer and other summary proceedings for obtaining possession of real property, the committee recommends revising the first page of Summons—Eviction (form

SUM-130) to include the following statement in both English and Spanish: “If this summons was served through the Secretary of State’s Safe at Home address confidentiality program, you have 10 days from the date of service, not counting Saturdays and Sundays and other judicial holidays, to respond.”

Updating forms to reflect current law on COVID-19 rental protections

To reflect the inapplicability of many COVID-19 rental protections to unlawful detainer actions filed on or after January 1, 2024—the date the recommended form revisions will become effective if approved by the council—the committee recommends the following revisions:

- On Plaintiff’s Mandatory Cover Sheet and Supplemental Allegations—Unlawful Detainer (form UD-101):
 - Remove items 3 through 10, which concern provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure regarding unpaid rent or other financial obligations due on or before March 31, 2022.
 - Remove item 11, which exists only to confirm that the demand for rent or other financial obligations on which the unlawful detainer complaint is based is a demand for payment of rent due after March 31, 2022—i.e., that none of the provisions covered by items 3 through 10 apply.
 - Retain item 12, “Statements regarding rental assistance,” and renumber it as item 3. This item was added to form UD-101 to implement Health and Safety Code section 50897.3(e), which is not limited to any particular time period and could therefore apply to unlawful detainer actions filed on or after January 1, 2024. In addition, the committee has been informed that at least one county in the state is still accepting applications for rental assistance.⁵
- On Answer—Unlawful Detainer (form UD-105):
 - Delete item 3l, which alleges retaliation for nonpayment of rent between March 1, 2020, and September 30, 2021. A broader retaliation defense is covered by item 3e in the version of form UD-105 currently in use (renumbered to item 3f by this proposal).
 - Delete items 3m, 3n, and 3o, which list defenses and objections that pertain only to unlawful detainer actions based on rent due during specific time periods, all of which ended more than a year before January 1, 2024.
 - Add new item 3d allowing the defendant to allege that the plaintiff’s demand for possession is based on nonpayment of rent due more than a year ago, to reflect the section 1161, paragraph (2) prohibition against serving notice, and consequently bringing an unlawful detainer action, for unpaid rent more than one year after the rent becomes due.

Policy implications

The form revisions recommended in this report implement new laws (1) creating a new procedure for partial evictions in situations involving abuse or violence against a tenant and (2) providing additional time for certain defendants to respond to a summons for unlawful detainer. The recommended revisions also update unlawful detainer forms to reflect current law regarding COVID-19 rental protections. Accordingly, the key policy implications are to ensure that council forms reflect the law correctly and are not misleading to parties.

Comments

The new and revised forms were circulated for comments from March 30 to May 12, 2023 as part of the regular spring invitation-to-comment cycle. Ten comments were received: two from superior courts (in Los Angeles and San Diego counties); six from legal aid organizations that advocate for tenants;⁶ one from a bar association (in Orange County); and one from the Joint Rules Subcommittee of the Trial Court Presiding Judges Advisory Committee and the Court Executives Advisory Committee. Two commenters agreed with the proposal, two others agreed if modified, and the remaining six commenters did not indicate a position. All commenters agreed that the revisions made by the council were needed and most requested further revisions to the forms.

A chart with the full text of the comments received and the committee's responses is attached beginning at page 23. The principal comments and the committee's responses are summarized below.

Form UD-101

Federal CARES Act Notification: Multiple comments suggested adding a landlord verification that the property is not covered by the federal Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security (CARES) Act or that the landlord complied with the provisions of that act. The CARES Act provides that for certain covered properties, a 30-day notice to vacate must be provided to the tenant before a landlord can file an eviction lawsuit based on nonpayment of rent. Although the CARES Act was enacted to address the COVID-19 pandemic, the 30-day notice provision of the act continues indefinitely.

Although the commenters suggested adding this verification to form UD-101,⁷ the committee believes that such information may be best suited for Complaint—Unlawful Detainer (form

UD-100). Specifically, an additional subitem tailored to the federal CARES Act could be added to item 9a, where the plaintiff indicates whether any notices to pay rent or quit were served on the defendant. The committee is unable recommend such a substantive revision postcomment but will consider making such a revision in the future, as time and resources permit.

Rental assistance programs: One commenter also suggested renaming proposed item 3 on form UD-101 from “Statements regarding rental assistance” to “Statements regarding rental assistance, such as COVID rental assistance programs.” The committee does not recommend revisions based on this suggestion because item 3 implements Health and Safety Code section 50897.3(e), which refers to “rental assistance or other financial compensation from any other source,” and is not limited to COVID-19 rental assistance programs.⁸ Including a reference to “COVID rental assistance programs” may inadvertently imply that the item applies only to COVID-19 programs.

Form UD-105

Documentation: Commenters made two suggestions regarding SB 1017’s revised definition of documentation required to assert a defense against eviction due to abuse or violence.

First, commenters suggested that form UD-105 provide examples of “any other form of documentation or evidence that reasonably verifies that the abuse or violence occurred.” (§ 1161.3(a)(2)(D).) The committee is not recommending revisions to the form in response to this suggestion. Section 1161.3(a)(2)(D) provides no examples or other guidance for how it should be interpreted. Revising the form to include examples that are not statutorily authorized has the dual problem of potentially implying that certain types of documentation are sufficient when a court may find otherwise and, conversely, that any types of documentation not included are insufficient. The examples currently included in proposed item 3k on form UD-105 are expressly provided for in the statute.

Second, commenters suggested that form UD-105 clarify that the requisite documentation can be provided even after the unlawful detainer case is initiated, because defendants could incorrectly believe that documentation cannot be offered in an unlawful detainer case unless it was provided to the landlord before the case is filed. Based on this suggestion, the committee recommends modifying item 3k to add “which may be included with this form” directly after the language stating that documentation of the defense is required.

Just cause: One commenter suggested revising proposed item 3i on form UD-105, which lists the elements of a defense under the Tenant Protection Act of 2019, to explain the meaning of “just cause” in “plaintiff failed to state a just cause for termination of tenancy.” The committee does not recommend revisions in response to this suggestion because the definition of “just cause” is too broad to provide on this form. Such information is best left to external resources or an information sheet to accompany the form, which the committee will work on as time and resources permit.

⁸ There is a similar suggestion to include a reference to COVID for item 3d on proposed form UD-105. The committee similarly does not recommend revising that form in response to this suggestion as item 3d is not limited to tenants who have received rental assistance due to COVID.

Form UD-110

Several commenters asserted that items 3 through 7 on form UD-110 are inapplicable to partial eviction orders and should include an instruction to that effect. The committee recommends modifying item 4 on form UD-110 for use in partial eviction cases but does not believe the other suggested modifications are necessary.

Item 4 of form UD-110 provides which party is entitled to possession of the premises. The version of the form circulated for comment listed “plaintiff” and “defendant” as options, which is insufficient for a partial eviction case. The committee recommends adding a third option for the party retaining possession, “Defendant listed on attached form UD-110P in item 8b1 (Code Civ. Proc., § 1174.27).” Form UD-110P is the partial eviction attachment to form UD-110.

Items 3, 6, and 7 can be used in partial eviction cases without modification. Item 3 indicates whether judgment is for the plaintiff or defendant, and if for the plaintiff, which defendant it is against. This item can be used in a partial eviction case because only the abuser-tenant would be listed as the defendant against whom judgment is entered. Item 6 states the amount and terms of judgment, and although many parts of item 6 would not apply to a partial eviction, the damages portion could apply to a partial eviction if the abuser-defendant is required to pay damages to the plaintiff. Item 7, which indicates whether the plaintiff has breached the agreement to provide habitable premises, could also apply to a partial eviction.

Item 5, which states that the judgment applies to all occupants of the premises, would not apply to a partial eviction, but that is obvious on the face of the item and does not require further instruction.

Another commenter suggested adding definitions of “conditional judgment” and “partial eviction” to items 7 and 8, but the committee does not recommend revisions based on this suggestion because form UD-110 is executed by the court, which will not need a definition. If a partial eviction is ordered, form UD-110P will be attached to explain the specifics.

Forms UD-110P and UD-110S

Several commenters suggested revising form UD-110P to include an item indicating the amount of damages (if any) for which the abuser-tenant is liable to the plaintiff. The committee does not recommend revisions based on this suggestion because the amount of damages is already covered by item 6 on form UD-110, to which form UD-110P is attached. Similarly, a commenter suggested providing a definition of “partial eviction” on form UD-110P, but the committee has not included such information in its recommended revisions because the definition is made clear by the existing items on the form, which set out the terms of the partial eviction order.

Finally, a commenter suggested using a different letter suffix on form UD-110S because the letter “S” at the end of a form usually designates a Spanish-language version of the form. The committee agrees with the suggestion and recommends renumbering the form UD-110H.

Form SUM-130

In response to a comment, the committee recommends including the name Safe at Home on form SUM-130. The committee also recommends revising the language on form SUM-130 to specify that the time by which a defendant must respond under AB 1726 is from the date of service.

Alternatives Considered

In addition to the alternatives suggested by the commenters and discussed above, the committee considered not recommending any further revisions to these forms. However, because SB 1017 and AB 1726 made significant and substantial changes to the procedures in unlawful detainer actions, the committee determined that taking no action would be inappropriate. The committee also determined it would be inappropriate not to update the forms to remove references to COVID-19 rental protections that no longer apply.

Fiscal and Operational Impacts

The committee anticipates that the new legislation, plus the ending of the COVID-19 related protections will require courts to train court staff and judicial officers on the new law. The new form and form revisions recommended by the committee will also need to be addressed in that training, and may require changes to courts’ internal procedures, including case management systems. Courts will also incur costs to incorporate the new and revised forms into their paper or electronic processes.

FVAP’s goal is to empower abuse survivors through the court system and ensure that they and their children can live in safe and healthy environments, free from abuse. This includes a commitment to increasing survivors’ access to secure and safe housing. Our connection to the domestic violence community and position as a Co-Sponsor of SB 1017 makes FVAP uniquely situated to assess the impact of the Judicial Council’s proposed form changes on survivors, including its accessibility to survivors. We greatly appreciate the Council’s work to update these important forms. We include recommended revisions to Item 3k in the next section. Statute also includes acts of violence. California law, per SB 1017, now protects tenants from being evicted or not having their tenancies renewed based upon an act or acts against a tenant, a tenant's immediate family member, or a tenant's household member that constitute "[a] crime that caused bodily injury or death", "[a] crime that included the exhibition, drawing, brandishing or use of a firearm or other deadly weapon or instrument", or "[a] crime that included the use of force against the victim or a threat of force against the victim." (Code Civ. Proc. § 1161.3 (a), Civ. Code § 1946.7(a)(6)-(8).) Currently, Item 3k only references acts of "domestic violence, sexual assault, stalking, human trafficking, or abuse of an elder or a defendant adult." 			documentation or evidence may include. In the recommended text below, we include examples of the additional documentation or evidence to reference in Form UD-105. Clarification regarding when documentation of abuse or violence can be presented. Currently the language of item 3k does not clarify that a defendant can present the required documentation of abuse or violence to avail themselves of this defense either before or after the start of the unlawful detainer. To remove the ambiguity of the current language in 3k, we suggest the addition of language that clarifies a defendant may provide the necessary documentation before or after the commencement of the unlawful detainer. The statute’s text, legislative history and intent together make clear that a tenant may provide documentation evidencing abuse or violence after the filing of the unlawful detainer. Code of Civil Procedure sections 1161.3 and 1174.27 do not require a tenant to give their landlord documentation evidencing abuse or violence before the landlord files an unlawful detainer in order to receive the survivors’ affirmative defense. Additionally, Code of Civil Procedure Section § 1174.27(c) notes that “[t]he court shall determine whether there is documentation evidencing abuse or violence...” (italics added). Thus, Code of Civil Procedure section 1174.27(c) makes it clear that the court, and not the plaintiff landlord, makes the determination of whether proper documentation exists to assert this affirmative defense.	§ 1161.3(a)(2)(D).) In light of this comment and others, the committee recommends adding the clause “which may be included with this form” to the form directly after the language stating that documentation of the defense is required.

			Further, legislative history confirms tenants can provide their documentation evidencing abuse or violence after an unlawful detainer is filed. When enacting Code of Civil Procedure section 1161.3, the legislature specifically stated that the tenant would “most likely in his or her answer to the unlawful detainer [present the] evidence that he or she is a victim.” (Assemb. Comm. On Judiciary, Analysis of Sen. Bill No. 782 (2009-2010 Reg. Sess.) as amended June 10, 2010, p.4.) Lastly, by detailing that survivors can provide evidence of abuse or violence after the unlawful detainer is filed, the Court upholds the legislature’s intent to provide survivors’ access to the survivors’ affirmative defense. The survivors’ affirmative defense became law to “protect [survivors] from being evicted from their housing based on crimes committed against them.” (Sen. Comm. on Judiciary, Analysis of Sen. Bill No. 782 (2009-2010 Reg. Sess.) as amended March 31, 2010, p.4.) The survivors’ affirmative defense is meant to “provide...survivors of abuse and violence protection against being evicted on account of the very abuse or violence which they endured.” (Sen. Com. On Judiciary, Analysis of Sen. Bill No. 1017 (2021-2022 Reg. Sess.) as amended Mar. 31, 2022, p.7.) Many survivors are not aware of this eviction defense until after an unlawful detainer is filed and likely will not disclose the abuse until they become aware of the requirement to provide documentation to avail themselves of this defense. However, the placement of Item 3s makes the use of this defense confusing. Although Item 3k and Item 3s are related to the same unlawful detainer defense through Code of Civil Procedure sections 1161.3 and 1174.27, they appear separate from one another on form UD-105, and on completely different pages. 		Form UD-110 A. Comments Regarding Items 3 through 7 The Council should further revise form UD-110 to prevent confusion and ensure partial evictions are properly executed. The current language of Items 3, 4 and 6 do not allow for valid interpretation of partial eviction judgments outlined in Code of Civil Procedure section 1174.27. A partial eviction is a judgment entered against one or more defendant(s) and for plaintiff and the other defendant(s). The defendant(s) who have judgment entered for them retain possession of the dwelling unit. For courts to order a partial eviction they must modify the proposed UD-110 form. Because the proposed UD-110 form must be modified to order a partial eviction correctly, the court may be more likely to inadvertently issue judgements that are contrary to law or difficult to implement. To ensure UD-110 is, without modifications, usable for partial evictions we make the below recommendations. First, we recommend updating Item 3. Parties to reflect that judgment is entered for the plaintiff and some defendants in partial evictions. We further recommend that Item 3 direct the court to not fill out items 4-7 in the case of a partial eviction. We believe that directing the court to skip items 4-7 will help ensure the judgment is easily understood	In light of this comment and others, the committee recommends revising item 4 on form UD-110 to include the option of possession being awarded to “defendant listed on attached form UD-110P in item 8b1 (Code Civ. Proc. § 1174.27).” The committee does not recommend revisions based on the suggestions regarding the other items on form UD-110. Item 3 can properly be used in a partial eviction case. The abuser-tenant would be listed in item 3a and the abusee-tenant would not be listed in that item pursuant to Code of Civil Procedure section 1174.27(e)(1). Similarly, item 6 on this form can be used to order damages from the abuser-tenant to the landlord. It is not clear to the committee that item 7 would never apply to a partial eviction case. While item 5 would not apply to a partial eviction case, this seems apparent within the item and an instruction to not check it for such a case seems unnecessary.

		and compliant with Civil Code of Procedure section 1174.27. Item 4 must be left blank because it does not correctly capture possession after a partial eviction order. Also, possession of the premises is addressed in UD-110P. Item 5 must be left blank because partial evictions prohibit the judgment from applying to all occupants. Item 6 should be left blank and the damage liabilities from this item should be included on form UD-110P. We believe including the damage liabilities in UD-110P will ensure that only the defendant found guilty of unlawful detainer is responsible for damages, costs and fees. We also believe instructing the court to skip Item 6 will ensure the plaintiff is not mistakenly marked as liable to the defendant(s) not found guilty of unlawful detainer and that the defendant's lease is not mistakenly canceled or forfeited. Item 7 must be left blank because it is not applicable to partial evictions. We recommend these changes to UD-110 because we feel they are necessary for assuring compliance with SB 1017.

		Form UD- 110P A. Comments Regarding Item 8(c)(2) We appreciate the creation of the UD-110P form and recommend changes that we believe will further increase its effectiveness. Specifically, as explained above, we recommend giving space on UD-110P to include the financial liabilities for the defendant(s) found guilty of unlawful detainer. We believe including the liabilities in UD-110P will ensure that only the defendant found guilty of unlawful detainer is liable for damages, costs and fees. Also, by moving the liabilities to the UD-110P form, the listed liabilities can be tailored to those applicable to partial evictions. This will help guide the court in entering judgements consistent with Code of Civil Procedure section 1174.27.	The committee does not recommend revisions based on this suggestion. Code of Civil Procedure section 1174.27(e)(1) prohibits an abusee-tenant from being named in an unlawful detainer judgment, thus existing item 6 on form UD-110 can be used to order an abuser-tenant to pay damages to landlord.

			of the current scheme, which burdens the tenant with the responsibility of filing an answer based on information that is largely outside of their knowledge. Today, when a landlord files an unlawful detainer, they do not have to aver whether the unit at issue is a covered property under the CARES Act. It is left up to the tenant to discover whether the property is covered, something they cannot know from the eviction filing alone (and, in some cases, may only be able to find out from the landlord). While tenants living in HUD-subsidized properties or multifamily housing with a federally-backed mortgage may be able to find out that their unit is covered on their own, tenants living in 1-4 unit, unsubsidized properties with a federally-backed mortgage have no way of learning this information without the last four digits of their landlord's social security number. If the landlord refuses to provide information about the mortgage, the tenant would have a difficult time determining whether the property is covered, and may be unfairly deprived of the opportunity to plead this vital affirmative defense, especially if proceeding as a self-represented litigant, which the vast majority of tenants are doing in eviction courts across the state. Landlords are in a much better position to know whether the unit is in a covered property, and certification to that end would not create a significant burden. In fact, it is in the interest of landlords, especially unrepresented landlords, to ensure that they have given the tenant the correct notice before filing the complaint. The language should be accessible for a party with a 7th or 8th grade reading level to understand. Visually, UD-105 should be structured to support reading comprehension for those with limited literacy skills. It should contain ample blank spaces for parties to fill in facts necessary to support their defenses. Nationwide and California-specific statistics show that landlord/tenant matters are one of the most common legal substantive areas to have self-represented litigants. While self-help centers and legal services are able to assist some of these litigants, lack of resources and capacity (and the expedited timeline of eviction proceedings) leave many tenants in the position of preparing answers to unlawful detainers on their own. This leaves these litigants vulnerable to making procedural mistakes that could unnecessarily lead to the loss of a place to live. 			funded support center. NHLP’s California advocacy reflects our national initiatives and focuses on tenants’ rights, eviction prevention, and affordable housing preservation. We commend the Council’s work updating these important forms. We submit our comments with the goal of ensuring that these forms further access to justice in housing court proceedings, particularly for low-income tenants who too often go unrepresented. <hr/> The Judicial Council should add a CARES Act certification requirement for landlord/plaintiffs Subsection (c) of the Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security (CARES) Act requires landlords of covered properties to provide 30 days’ notice to tenants in eviction cases. See 15 U.S.C. § 9058(c). There is no sunset on this 30-day notice requirement. While the 30-day notice requirement is reflected on form UD-105, section 3r, as a defense to eviction, we recommend adding a certification requirement to the UD complaint and/or cover sheet. Having the CARES Act certification appear only on the answer form burdens the tenant/defendant with the responsibility of filing an answer with information that is largely outside of their knowledge. Today, when a landlord files an unlawful detainer, they do not have to aver whether the unit at issue is a covered property under the CARES Act. It is, unfairly, left up to the tenant to discover whether the property is covered, something they cannot know from the eviction filing alone (and, in some cases, may only be able to find out by asking the landlord).	 <hr/> The committee does not recommend revisions based on this suggestion as the council’s authority to require form UD-101 is repealed as of October 1, 2025. Instead, the committee will consider recommending the addition of a new item in item 9a of form UD-100, to cover the required notice under the federal CARES Act as time and resources permit.

			For example, covered properties under the CARES Act include housing with federally-backed mortgages. It can be challenging, let alone impossible, for a tenant to know whether they are living in such a property. Tenants living in HUD-subsidized properties or multifamily housing with a federally-backed mortgage may be able to find out that their unit is covered on their own through publicly-available databases, but this is not always a straightforward process. Even worse, tenants living in 1-4-unit, unsubsidized properties with federally-backed mortgages have no publicly-accessible means of identifying their unit's covered status without personal information about the property owner, typically the last four digits of their social security number. If the landlord refuses to provide information about the mortgage, the tenant cannot determine whether the property is covered, and may be deprived of the opportunity to plead this vital affirmative defense. All of these challenges are further exacerbated for self-represented litigants, who represent the vast majority of tenants in eviction courts across the state. Landlord/plaintiffs are in a much better position to know their status as a covered property, and certification to that end would not create a significant burden for them. In fact, it is in the interest of landlords, especially unrepresented landlords, to ensure that they have given the tenant the correct notice before filing the complaint. Other courts have amended their eviction process to reflect that the burden of certifying whether or not

			the CARES Act applies must be on the landlord. For example, Vermont courts adopted a court rule requiring every landlord filing an eviction to submit a declaration showing either compliance with the CARES Act 30-day notice provision or that their property is not covered under the CARES Act. Through a combination of direct client representation, self-help centers, and systemic advocacy, NLSLA assists hundreds of thousands of low-income and vulnerable individuals and families with their legal needs every year. Assisting in a variety of civil legal fields including family law, worker’s rights, healthcare, and housing, NLSLA is uniquely positioned at the front lines of California’s housing crisis. Like the proverbial ‘canary in a coal mine’, staff at NLSLA see the impediments that low-income self-represented litigants (SRLs) face when trying to fight an eviction, as well as the long-term consequences of subsequent housing insecurity. Considering the above experience, NLSLA is pleased to see the Judicial Council taking action to improve the clarity of court forms in the state of California.

			Accessibility of the court process to SRLs begins with the court forms they file. Plain language and visual distinction is crucial for readability, [FN 6 See J. Griener, D. Jimenez, L. Lupica, ‘Self-Help, Reimagined’, 92 Indiana Law Journal 3 (2017).] especially for less sophisticated litigants. Best practices indicate that practices such as bolding terms of art, defining all terms of art subsequent to their usage, using text boxes to separate definitions, and ensuring a good mixture of terms of art and colloquial language results in improved readability for SRLs. [FN 7 Id at 1156-1160.] When done correctly, SRLs can successfully complete their forms and potentially avoid losing eviction cases based on a lack of legal sophistication alone. NLSLA has a number of textual suggestions that would increase readability and reduce confusion, especially for the most vulnerable SRLs who would be most at risk of the consequences of housing insecurity. Eviction notices know no limits of sophistication of defendants; among those who are evicted are the elderly, mentally and physically disabled, and individuals of limited English proficiency. These suggestions would help prevent misunderstanding of the forms by these individuals, and therefore assist in the alleviation of the disproportionate burden of evictions on those who simply struggle with the court process as opposed to being at fault for their eviction. 		Council's efforts so far.
		In general, NLSLA would suggest that all of these forms are ultimately made accessible for individuals with a screen reader, and plain language used throughout. [FN 8 Suffolk Law School recently released an automated tool called RateMyPDF that checks court forms for readability and provides suggestions for increasing accessibility (https://ratemypdf.com). The proposed forms were analyzed by this tool during the preparation for this comment letter.]
		Outside of general language level suggestions, NLSLA has the following suggestions included in the table below:	The committee appreciates the information provided.
		SUM-130 The "address confidentiality program" needs to also be referred to as the 'Safe at Home' program, as not all program participants may be able to identify the program through the current description placing emphasis on the constitution of the program by the Secretary of State.	In light of this comment, the committee recommends adding the program's name, "Safe at Home," to form SUM-130.
		UD-101 Question 3 should explicitly mention COVID somewhere to make sure that SRLs understand that this rental assistance includes COVID programs. Something like "Statements regarding rental assistance, such as COVID rental assistance programs" would make sure that this box is not accidentally overlooked.	The subcommittee does not recommend revisions based on this suggestion as including a reference to "COVID rental assistance programs" may inadvertently imply that the item only applies to COVID programs, as opposed to "rental assistance or other financial compensation from any other source" as provided in Health and Safety Code section 50897.3(e).

		UD-105 Question 3(d) should include some mention of COVID so SRLs who received rental assistance due to COVID programs know to check this box.	The subcommittee does not recommend revisions based on this suggestion as including a reference to “COVID” may inadvertently imply that the defense for this item is limited to those who received rental assistance due to COVID, when it is applicable to any unlawful detainer initiated more than a year after rent was due.
		Question 3(i)(1) should provide at least a cursory explanation for what “just cause” is (and subsequently use bolding). SRLs who come to our self-help centers rarely know what this is or what protections are granted.	Given the various reasons for eviction that amount to just cause, the committee does not recommend revisions based on this suggestion as it is infeasible to provide an explanation within the subitem. The committee will work on providing such information in a separate information sheet as time and resources permit.
		UD-110 Question 7 should provide a cursory explanation of what a conditional judgment is. This would not need to be lengthy as the text refers to the other form.	The committee does not recommend revisions based on this suggestion. Form UD-110 is executed by the court, who would know what a conditional judgment is, and if one is ordered, the other form will be attached.
		Question 8 should provide a cursory explanation of what a partial eviction (ie; “an eviction of less than all of the tenants”) is. This does not need to be lengthy as the text refers to the applicable form.	The committee does not recommend revisions based on this suggestion. Form UD-110 is executed by the court, who would know what a partial eviction is, and if one is ordered, the other form will be attached.

		these new defenses, the form should make clear that they can provide the required documentation with the Answer form and need not have provided it the landlord or their agent at an earlier time.	committee recommends adding the clause, “which may be included with this form” to the form directly after the language stating that documentation of the defense is required.
		3) Combine all SB 1017 defenses into one Item under Section 3 Items 3k and Item 3s are related to the same unlawful detainer defense under Code of Civil Procedure sections 1161.3 and 1174.27, so it is confusing to separate the defenses from one another on form UD-105, especially where they appear on different pages. We suggest that Item 3s be moved so that it is a subpart of Item 3k in order to make the defense easier to assert and less confusing.	In light of this comment and others, the committee recommends adding the following to item 3k in lieu of item 3s: (1) The abuse or violence was committed by a person who does not live in the dwelling unit. (2) The abuse or violence was committed by a person who lives in the dwelling unit and defendant claims protection from eviction under Code of Civil Procedure section 1161.3(d)(2).
		B. Form UD-110 As drafted, proposed Form UD-110 could lead to confusing judgments where a survivor is evicted or ordered to pay damages even where the Court intends to order a partial eviction where the survivor retains housing. The current language of Items 3, 4 and 6 do not allow the Court to make for the orders associated with partial eviction judgments outlined in Code of Civil Procedure section 1174.27, and the form language does not alert the Court that these items should not be completed in a partial eviction. To address this issue, we recommend amending Item 3 “Parties” to add an option (c) to allow the Court to order judgment for the plaintiff and some defendants in partial evictions. We further recommend that Item 3 direct the court to not fill out items 4-7 in the case	In light of this comment and others, the committee recommends modification to item 4 on form UD-110 to include the option of possession being awarded to “defendant listed on attached form UD-110P in item 8b1 (Code Civ. Proc. § 1174.27).” The committee does not recommend revisions for the other items on form UD-110 based on this suggestion. Item 3 can properly be used in a partial eviction case. The abuser-tenant would be listed in item 3a and the abusee-tenant would not be listed in that item pursuant to Code of Civil Procedure section 1174.27(e)(1). Similarly, item 6 on this form can be used to order damages from the abuser-tenant to the landlord. It is not clear to the committee that item 7 would never apply

			mortgage may be able to find out that their unit is covered on their own, tenants living in 1-4 unit, unsubsidized properties with a federally-backed mortgage have no way of learning this information without the last four digits of their landlord's social security number. If the landlord refuses to provide information about the mortgage, the tenant would have a difficult time determining whether the property is covered, and may be unfairly deprived of the opportunity to plead this vital affirmative defense, especially if proceeding as a self-represented litigant, which the vast majority of tenants are doing in eviction courts across the state. Landlords are in a much better position to know whether the unit is in a covered property, and certification to that end would not create a significant burden. In fact, it is in the interest of landlords, especially unrepresented landlords, to ensure that they have given the tenant the correct notice before filing the complaint. The unlawful detainer forms are particularly important because most tenants are not represented by counsel, and rely on these forms to learn about their legal rights and defenses when they are facing eviction. 			I. Implementation of Senate Bill 1017 Western Center supports the recommendations of Family Violence Appellate Project (FVAP), whose comments on these forms are submitted via separate letter. As explained in FVAP's comment letter, changes to the forms are necessary so that unrepresented tenants who are survivors of violence and abuse have a fair opportunity to use the new protections created by SB 1017.
