Executive Summary

The Supreme Court, Courts of Appeal, and trial courts have submitted to the Judicial Council cumulative records of participation in education by their benches, as required under California Rules of Court, rule 10.452(d)(6) and (e)(7), for the 2019–2021 education cycle, which concluded on December 31, 2021.

Relevant Previous Council Action

The Judicial Council, effective January 1, 2007, adopted education rules for justices and judges. Rule 10.452(d)(6) and (e)(7) specifically pertain to the responsibilities of the Chief Justice, administrative presiding justices, and trial court presiding judges to collect records of participation on education of their benches and report to the Judicial Council on that participation after the end of every education cycle.

Analysis/Rationale

Rules 10.461(e) and 10.462(f) require all justices and trial court judges, respectively, to track their participation in education activity and to submit those participation records to their courts annually. At the end of every three-year education cycle, those justices and judges must submit to their courts a cumulative history of their education for the entire education cycle. As stated above, the Chief Justice, administrative presiding justices, and trial court presiding judges must in turn report that cumulative data to the Judicial Council following the conclusion of every education cycle.

As required under the rules, Judicial Council staff have received the aggregate education reporting forms for the 2019–2021 education cycle. These forms reflect compliance with the rules for continuing education hours by justices and judges. Experienced justices were required and experienced judges were expected to complete 30 hours of continuing education during the three-year education cycle. New justices were required and new judges were expected to complete a pro-rata amount of continuing education hours, depending on the year they entered the education cycle as an experienced justice or judge (i.e., 30 hours for three years, 20 for two years, or 10 for one year). Following is a broad analysis of these submissions with respect to compliance under the education rules.

Supreme and appellate courts

The table below provides the breakdown of the reporting compliance, by court, of the continuing education hour requirement for the 2019-2021 education cycle for the Supreme Court and appellate courts. In summary, the completion rate was 99.9 percent during the 2019-2021 education cycle—an increase from the 2016-2018 cycle.

Compliance With Continuing Education Hour Requirement During 2019–2021 Education Cycle

Court	Number of Justices Who Completed Hours	Number of Justices Who Did Not Complete Hours
Supreme Court	18	0
First District Court of Appeal	26	0
Second District Court of Appeal	8	0
Third District Court of Appeal	23	0
Fourth District Court of Appeal	10	0
Fifth District Court of Appeal	7	0
Sixth District Court of Appeal	18	0

Trial courts

Below is a breakdown of the reporting compliance of the continuing education hour expectation for the 2019–2021 education cycle for the trial courts. In summary, of those reporting, approximately 99 percent of trial court judicial officers completed their continuing education hour expectation during the 2019-2021 education cycle. This figure represents an increase from the 95 percent completion rate of trial court judicial officers from the 2016-2018 education cycle.

1. 58 of the 58 superior courts submitted the aggregate reporting form.
2. 53 of the courts reported that all the judicial officers who had continuing education hours expectations fulfilled their hours.
3. Out of 1,750 judicial officers statewide, 10 (approximately 1 percent) did not fully complete their continuing education hours.
4. Statewide, 1 judicial officer was granted an extension of time in which to fulfill their continuing education expectations.
