Executive Summary

The Family and Juvenile Law Advisory Committee recommends approving the reallocation of funding for the Child Support Commissioner and Family Law Facilitator Program for the remainder of fiscal year (FY) 2015–2016 and the allocation of funding for this same program for FY 2016–2017, as required by Assembly Bill 1058 (Stats. 1996, ch. 957). The funds are provided through a cooperative agreement between the California Department of Child Support Services (DCSS) and the Judicial Council. At midyear, under an established procedure described in the standard agreement with each superior court, the Judicial Council redistributes to courts with a documented need for additional funds any available funds from courts that are projected not to spend their full grants that year, up to the amount of funds available through the contract with DCSS. The courts are also offered an option to use local court funds up to an approved amount to draw down, or qualify for, federal matching funds.

Recommendation

The Family and Juvenile Law Advisory Committee recommends that the Judicial Council, effective February 26, 2016:

1. Approve the reallocation for funding of child support commissioners for FY 2015–2016, subject to the state Budget Act;
2. Approve the reallocation for funding of family law facilitators for FY 2015–2016, subject to the state Budget Act;
3. Approve allocation for funding of child support commissioners for FY 2016–2017, subject to the state Budget Act; and
4. Approve the allocation for funding of family law facilitators for FY 2016–2017, subject to the state Budget Act.

Attachments A through D contain tables detailing the recommended reallocations and allocations of funding.

Previous Council Action

The Judicial Council is required annually to allocate non–trial court funding to the Child Support Commissioner and Family Law Facilitator Program and has done so since 1997.¹ A cooperative agreement between the California Department of Child Support Services and the Judicial Council provides the funds for this program and requires the council to annually approve the funding allocation. Two-thirds of the funds are federal, and one-third comes from the state General Fund (non–trial court funding). Any funds left unspent during the fiscal year revert to the state General Fund and cannot be used in subsequent years.

Historically, the Judicial Council at midyear redistributes to courts with a documented need for additional funds any available funds from courts that are projected not to spend their full grants. In addition, in FY 2007–2008, DCSS and the Judicial Council provided a mechanism for the courts to recover two-thirds of additional program costs beyond the contract maximum covered by local trial court funds. This federal drawdown option continues to be available for FY 2016–2017.

On April 17, 2015, the Judicial Council approved the formation of a joint subcommittee—comprising representatives from the Family and Juvenile Law, Trial Court Budget, and Workload Assessment Advisory Committees and the California Department of Child Support

¹ AB 1058 added article 4 to chapter 2 of part 2 of division 9 of the Family Code, which at section 4252(b)(6) requires the Judicial Council to “[e]stablish procedures for the distribution of funding to the courts for child support commissioners, family law facilitators pursuant to [Family Code] Division 14 (commencing with Section 10000), and related allowable costs.”

Services—to reconsider the AB 1058 Child Support Commissioner and Family Law Facilitator Program funding allocation methodology. The joint subcommittee was charged with examining the myriad factors that must be considered when allocating funding to both optimize program success and provide for mechanisms for all funds to be spent by the end of each fiscal year. The joint subcommittee was asked to report back to the Family and Juvenile Law, Trial Court Budget, and Workload Assessment Advisory Committees by December 31, 2015. The recommendation of the joint subcommittee and the individual advisory committees is on the Judicial Council’s February 26, 2016, agenda for council consideration.

Rationale for Recommendation

Midyear reallocation, FY 2015–2016

The midyear reallocation process is a review of each court’s program funding in the current fiscal year, conducted through a questionnaire distributed to each court to allow courts to indicate whether they anticipate having additional funds that can be reallocated to courts that have demonstrated a need for additional funds. Historically, the midyear reallocation is to meet one-time, nonrecurring special needs, such as equipment purchases or temporary help to clear work backlogs, but because the AB 1058 program funding has been flat since 2008, a number of courts indicated a need for additional funds just to maintain current service levels resulting from increased costs of doing business. In FY 2007–2008, an additional procedure—the federal drawdown option—was put in place to assist in covering the cost of maintaining current program service levels through the use of local trial court used as a match to obtain additional federal funds for the program. Federal drawdown funds voluntarily returned by some courts are also available to be redistributed to courts that have requested additional federal drawdown funds. Therefore, the committee recommends reallocation of the limited amount of funds available based on a proportional formula to all courts that have indicated a need.

In July 2015, the Department of Child Support Services and the Judicial Council enter into a two-year contract for funding for the AB 1058 Child Support Commissioner and Family Law Facilitator Program. At the time the Judicial Council allocated funding for fiscal year 2015–2016, the contract for fiscal years 2015–2016 and 2016–2017 had not been entered into with DCSS. Unfortunately, the contract for funding for both fiscal years reduces the amount of base funds available for allocation more than anticipated. On April 17, 2015, the Judicial Council allocated $32,125,980 in base funding and $12,232,635 in federal drawdown funds for the Child Support Commissioner Program and $10,990,357 in base funding and $4,180,585 in federal drawdown funding for the Family Law Facilitator Program.² The funds available for allocation are $31,616,936 in base funding and $13,038,953 in federal drawdown funds for the Child Support Commissioner Program and $10,789,626 in base funding and $4,449,685 in federal drawdown funding for the Family Law Facilitator Program. Although overall funding available to the courts for the AB1058 Program remains the same, courts are required to contribute additional matching funds for the federal drawdown funds to be available.

² The Judicial Council revised the allocation for the Family Law Facilitator Program on July 28, 2015, to provide funding for a court that inadvertently did not receive funding, but the same total funding amount was allocated.

Under an established procedure described in the standard agreement with each superior court, a questionnaire is sent to each court requesting the information needed to evaluate appropriate funding levels. In addition to compiling questionnaire responses, Judicial Council staff gathers information on each court's historical spending patterns and calculates projected spending based on invoices received to date for the current fiscal year. The Family and Juvenile Law Advisory Committee then recommends proposed funding changes. The criteria for consideration of court requests are caseload, funds available for redistribution, historical spending patterns, special needs, and staffing levels. Funds returned by courts with a historical pattern of underspending, funds voluntarily returned, and any previously unallocated funds are redistributed to courts with documented needs.

Historically, base funds and funds under the federal drawdown option, allocated at the beginning of a fiscal year but returned by courts unable to use all of these funds, are reallocated during the midyear process. Because for FY 2015–2016 base funds allocated exceed the base funds available under the contract, any base funds returned by the courts will not be reallocated unless they exceed the difference between the allocated amount and the contract amount. As a result of the midyear reallocation process, for the Child Support Commissioner Program, one court has volunteered to return $27,512 in base funds and 7 courts have volunteered to return a combined $627,965 in federal drawdown option funds. For the Family Law Facilitator Program, no courts have volunteered to return base funds, but two court has volunteered to return a combined $207,075 in federal drawdown option funds.

This midyear reallocation process ensures that the highest proportion of total funds allocated to the courts is spent where funding is needed. This process also minimizes the amount of unspent funds that revert to the state General Fund.

A total of $627,965 from the Child Support Commissioner Program federal drawdown grant source was available for reallocation to the child support commissioner component of the program. A total of 31 courts requested no change to their child support commissioner base allocations, 26 requested no change to their federal drawdown option, one court offered to return base funds, 7 courts offered to return federal drawdown option funds, 33 courts requested additional base funds for their child support commissioner program, and 24 requested additional federal drawdown option funds.

A total of $207,075 from the Family Law Facilitator Program federal drawdown grant source was available for reallocation to the family law facilitator component of the program. A total of 29 courts requested no change to their family law facilitator base allocations, 27 requested no change to their federal drawdown option, no court offered to return base funds, two courts offered to return federal drawdown funds, 26 courts requested additional base funds for their family law facilitator program, and 28 requested additional federal drawdown option funds.

All federal drawdown allocations to courts requesting additional funding have been based on allocating the available federal drawdown funds among the courts requesting additional funds proportionate to their share of the total base funding. Under the established allocation procedures for this program, the request was reviewed by the Family and Juvenile Law Advisory Committee. The committee recommends that the Judicial Council adopt the allocations for the Child Support Commissioner Program detailed in Attachment A and the allocations for the Family Law Facilitator Program detailed in Attachment B.

Base funding, FY 2016–2017

The Judicial Council is also responsible for the allocation of base program funding at the beginning of each fiscal year. In 1997, the Judicial Council established staffing standards for child support commissioners under Family Code section 4252(b)(3). Staffing standards are based on the number of local child support agency cases that have established child support orders. In addition, under an established procedure described in the standard agreement with each superior court, questionnaires are sent annually to each court requesting the information needed to evaluate appropriate funding levels in case of any exceptional needs.

Funding for FY 2016–2017 for the child support commissioner component of the program will be $31,616,936 base allocation and $13,038,953 from the federal drawdown option; funding for the family law facilitator component will be $10,789,626 base allocation and $4,449,685 from the federal drawdown option, for a total program base allocation of $42.4 million and a total federal drawdown allocation of $17.4 million. These amounts reflect a small reduction of base funds and a slight increase of federal drawdown funds for courts as allocated by the Judicial Council in FY 2015–2016.

The committee recommends that courts be allocated base funding, less any amount a court indicated that it wishes to relinquish, for both the Child Support Commissioner Program and the Family Law Facilitator Program as in FY 2015–2016, but that each allocation be reduced in proportion to the share of total base funding among all courts to reflect the total amount of base funding available for program funding. The committee also recommends that courts be allocated federal drawdown funding, less any amount a court indicated that it wishes to relinquish, for both the Child Support Commissioner Program and the Family Law Facilitator Program as in FY 2015–2016, but that each court requesting increased federal drawdown funding be allocated additional funding in proportion to overall funding available for program funding. The committee recommends that the Judicial Council adopt the allocations for the Child Support Commissioner Program detailed in Attachment C and the allocations for the Family Law Facilitator Program detailed in Attachment D.

Comments, Alternatives Considered, and Policy Implications

This proposal was not circulated for public comment; however, a detailed funding questionnaire was completed by all 58 courts and used to develop the allocation recommendations.

The committee considered taking no action but rejected this option as inconsistent with Judicial Council goals because it would result in the reversion of unspent funds to the General Fund. Taking no action would also deprive courts of the option of using federal financial participation to cover two-thirds of some of the existing court contributions to the program. A number of courts commented in their questionnaires about continued shortfalls in program funding, and these concerns have been forwarded to DCSS.

Implementation Requirements, Costs, and Operational Impacts

To draw down federal funds, federal provisions require payment of a state share of one-third of total expenditures. Therefore, each participating court will need to provide the one-third share of the court's total cost to draw down two-thirds of total expenditures from federal participation.
