Executive Summary

The Civil and Small Claims Advisory Committee recommends revising civil restraining order forms to allow the court the discretion to make exceptions to the statutory firearms relinquishment order if a firearm is required by the respondent's employment. The committee also proposes revisions to the response forms to requests for restraining orders to provide space on the forms so that if a responding party disagrees with an order requested by the petitioner, he or she may provide an explanation. The existing forms may be misleading in proceedings governed by statutes that specifically provide that the responding party may file a response with an explanation. This explanatory information would also be helpful to the judicial officer.

Recommendation

The Civil and Small Claims Advisory Committee recommends that the Judicial Council, effective January 1, 2018, revise the civil restraining order forms as follows:

- 1. Revise the following forms to include items in which the responding party may make, or the court may act on, a request under Code of Civil Procedure section 527.9(f) to grant an exception to the statutory firearm relinquishment order:
 - Response to Request for Civil Harassment Restraining Orders (form CH-120, , item 6;
 - Civil Harassment Restraining Order After Hearing (form CH-130, item 8);
 - Response to Request for Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse Restraining Orders, (form EA-120, item 7);
 - Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse Restraining Order After Hearing, (form EA-130, item 9);
 - Response to Petition for Private Postsecondary School Violence Restraining Orders, (form SV-120, item 7;
 - Private Postsecondary School Violence Restraining Order After Hearing (form SV-130, item 9;
 - Response to Petition for Workplace Violence Restraining Orders, (form WV-120, item 7); and
 - Workplace Violence Restraining Order After Hearing (form WV-130, item 9); and
- 2. Revise all the civil restraining order response forms, listed below, to include additional space so that if a responding party disagrees with the request, he or she may provide an explanation why directly on the form:
 - Response to Request for Civil Harassment Restraining Orders (form CH-120, item 1;
 - Response to Request for Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse Restraining Orders (form EA-120, item 12);
 - Response to Petition for Firearms Restraining Order (form GV-120, item 3);
 - , Response to Petition for Private Postsecondary School Violence Restraining Orders (form SV-120item 11); and
 - , Response to Petition for Workplace Violence Restraining Orders (form WV-120item 11).

The revised forms are attached at pages 6–47.

Previous Council Action

Under the Code of Civil Procedure and the Welfare and Institutions Code, the Judicial Council must provide forms and instructions for use in civil harassment, elder and dependent adult abuse, workplace violence, and private postsecondary school violence protective order matters. The Penal Code similarly mandates Judicial Council forms in gun violence restraining order matters. The forms have been revised when changes to the law required revisions and in response to suggestions from the public, judicial officers, and court professionals. The workplace violence and private postsecondary school violence response forms in this proposal were last revised in 2014. The gun violence prevention response form was adopted in 2016 and has not since been revised. All the other forms were most recently revised effective January 1, 2017.

Rationale for Recommendation

Firearms relinquishment exemption

The Legislature has mandated that the Judicial Council prescribe the forms and rules relating to matters covered by the statutes that govern proceedings concerning restraining orders. Code of Civil Procedure section 527.9(f) provides that "[t]he court may, as part of the [firearms] relinquishment order, grant an exemption from the relinquishment requirements of this section for a particular firearm if the respondent can show that [the] firearm is necessary as a condition of continued employment and that the current employer is unable to reassign the respondent to another position where a firearm is unnecessary." The statute covers civil harassment (CH), elder or dependent adult abuse (EA), private postsecondary school violence (SV), and workplace violence (WV) proceedings. (See Code Civ. Proc., § 527.9(a).) The revised response forms in each of these types of proceedings will allow the responding party to request an exemption and explain why.

The statute includes specific findings that are to be provided in the order after hearing to support this exemption. (See Code Civ. Proc. § 527.9(f).) The domestic violence restraining order forms include for firearms relinquishment an item that expressly addresses the exemption and contains the statutory language. The recommended revisions to the civil protective order after hearing forms for CH, EA, SV, and WV proceedings do the same.²

Response forms

Currently, the forms to respond to a request for a protective order in all five case types (to prevent civil harassment, elder and dependent adult abuse, private postsecondary school violence, workplace violence, and gun violence) provide for three check box options: (a) agree; (b) do not agree; or (c) agree to certain specified orders that have been requested in each proceeding (see, e.g., form CH-120 at items 3, 4, and 7). No space is provided on any of the current forms for the responding party to include an explanation if he or she does not agree with the request. These forms may be misleading in proceedings governed by statutes that specifically provide that the responding party may file a response with an explanation. For example, in response to a petition for a civil harassment restraining order, a respondent "may file a response that explains, excuses, justifies, or denies the alleged [harassment]."³

² The revisions are highlighted at item 6b on response form CH-120 and item 8d on order form CH-130; at item 7b on response forms EA-120, SV-120, and WV-120; and at item 9d on order forms EA-130, SV-130, and WV-130.

³ Code Civ. Proc., § 527.6(h)(italics added); Code Civ. Proc., § 527.85(i) (identical statutory language for SV cases); Code Civ. Proc., § 527.8(i) (identical statutory language for WV cases); Welf. & Inst. Code, § 15657.03(g) (similar language for EA cases: may file a response that "explains or denies the alleged abuse"); Pen. Code, § 18100 et seq. (no specific mention of response in GV statutes).

The revised response forms each include a new item, "Reasons I Do Not Agree to the Orders Requested," in which a party may provide an explanation or may indicate that an additional page is attached with such information. Cross-references to that item appear at each item identifying a specifically requested order.⁴

Comments, Alternatives Considered, and Policy Implications

Comments received

The revised forms were circulated for comment during the spring 2017 comment period. Comments were received from four courts (Superior Courts of Los Angeles, Riverside, San Diego, and Ventura Counties), the Orange County Bar Association, and the Standing Committee on the Delivery of Legal Services of the State Bar.

All commenters were generally in favor of the proposed revisions, with a few seeking minor modifications of the revisions relating to firearms.⁵ Two of the courts asked that additional space be provided on the order forms for courts to more completely identify any firearms that are being exempted from relinquishment. That modification has been made, and some other minor points were addressed to assure internal consistency in the forms.

The State Bar committee asked for further modification of the firearm exemption items to address the further requirements that may come into play should a peace officer be the responding party and desire a further exemption to allow for carrying a gun off duty. The committee consulted with the Family and Juvenile Law Advisory Committee staff to determine how this point is handled in forms for domestic violence cases, in which the same statutory exemption applies. The committee was informed that the situation rarely arises, and because the statutory requirements and findings are not easily expressed in plain language, the Domestic Violence forms just cite to the statute without replicating any of its language. The committee here is providing the basic information about the exemption on the form, concluding, as a plain-language principle, that users should not have to read a statute to understand how to fill out the form.

Alternatives

The committee considered not taking any action but decided that to revise the forms as proposed would be better.

⁴ See, for example, new item 11 on form CH-120 and cross-references at revised items 3, 4, 7, and 8; new item 12 on form EA-120 and cross-references at revised items 3, 4, 5, 8, and 9; form GV-120, revised item 3; and new item 11 on forms SV-120 and WV-120 and cross-references at revised items 4, 5, and 8. The numbering of other items on the forms has been changed as needed to accommodate the new items.

⁵ A chart containing all the comments received and the committee's responses thereto is attached at pages 47–51. No modifications were requested relating to the additional space provided on the forms for further explanations or justifications by the responding parties.

Implementation Requirements, Costs, and Operational Impacts

Self-help centers and court staff may need training to recognize and understand the revised items. The intent of the revisions is that, once initial training is complete, the revised forms will assist parties in completing the forms correctly and will benefit the courts. If the protective order forms are used as part of electronic case management systems, those systems may require some modifications to use the forms.

Warning and Notice to the Restrained Person in 2:

You Cannot Have Guns or Firearms

Unless item 8d is checked, you cannot own, have, possess, buy or try to buy, receive or try to receive, or otherwise get guns, other firearms, or ammunition while this Order is in effect. If you do, you can go to jail and pay a $1,000 fine. You must sell to or store with a licensed gun dealer, or turn in to a law enforcement agency, any guns or other firearms that you have or control as stated in item (8) above. The court will require you to prove that you did so.

Instructions for Law Enforcement

Enforcing the Restraining Order

This Order is enforceable by any law enforcement agency that has received the Order, is shown a copy of the Order, or has verified its existence on the California Restraining and Protective Order System (CARPOS). If the law enforcement agency has not received proof of service on the restrained person, and the restrained person was not present at the court hearing, the agency must advise the restrained person of the terms of the Order and then must enforce it. Violations of this Order are subject to criminal penalties.

Start Date and End Date of Orders

This Order starts on the date next to the judge's signature on page 4 and ends on the expiration date in item (4) on page 1.

Arrest Required If Order Is Violated

If an officer has probable cause to believe that the restrained person had notice of the order and has disobeyed it, the officer must arrest the restrained person. (Pen. Code, §§ 836(c)(1), 13701(b).) A violation of the order may be a violation of Penal Code section 166 or 273.6. Agencies are encouraged to enter violation messages into CARPOS.

Notice/Proof of Service

The law enforcement agency must first determine if the restrained person had notice of the order. Consider the restrained person "served" (given notice) if (Pen. Code, § 836(c)(2)):

- The officer sees a copy of the Proof of Service or confirms that the Proof of Service is on file; or
- The restrained person was at the restraining order hearing or was informed of the order by an officer.

An officer can obtain information about the contents of the order and proof of service in CARPOS. If proof of service on the restrained person cannot be verified and the restrained person was not present at the court hearing, the agency must advise the restrained person of the terms of the order and then enforce it.

If the Protected Person Contacts the Restrained Person

Even if the protected person invites or consents to contact with the restrained person, this Order remains in effect and must be enforced. The protected person cannot be arrested for inviting or consenting to contact with the restrained person. The orders can be changed only by another court order. (Pen. Code, § 13710(b).)

Conflicting Orders—Priorities of Enforcement

If more than one restraining order has been issued, the orders must be enforced according to the following priorities: (See Pen. Code, § 136.2; Fam. Code, §§ 6383(h)(2), 6405(b).)

- 1. EPO: If one of the orders is an Emergency Protective Order (form EPO-001) and is more restrictive than other restraining or protective orders, it has precedence in enforcement over all other orders.
- 2. No-Contact Order: If there is no EPO, a no-contact order that is included in a restraining or protective order has precedence over any other restraining or protective order.
- 3. Criminal Order: If none of the orders includes a no contact order, a domestic violence protective order issued in a criminal case takes precedence in enforcement over any conflicting civil court order. Any nonconflicting terms of the civil restraining order remain in effect and enforceable.
- 4. Family, Juvenile, or Civil Order: If more than one family, juvenile, or other civil restraining or protective order has been issued, the one that was issued last must be enforced.

Warning and Notice to the Restrained Person in 2:

You Cannot Have Guns or Firearms

If the court grants the orders in item (9) on page 3 (unless item 9d is checked), you cannot own, have, possess, buy or try to buy, receive or try to receive, or otherwise get guns, other firearms, or ammunition while this Order is in effect. If you do, you can go to jail and pay a $1,000 fine. You must sell to or store with a licensed gun dealer, or turn in to a law enforcement agency, any guns or other firearms that you have or control as stated in item (9). The court will require you to prove that you did so.

Instructions for Law Enforcement

Enforcing the Restraining Order

This order is enforceable by any law enforcement agency that has received the order, is shown a copy of the order, or has verified its existence on the California Restraining and Protective Orders System (CARPOS). If the law enforcement agency has not received proof of service on the restrained person, the agency must advise the restrained person of the terms of the order and then must enforce it. Violations of this order are subject to criminal penalties.

Start Date and End Date of Orders

This order starts on the date next to the judge's signature on page 5. The order ends on the expiration date in item 4 on page 1.

Case Number:

Arrest Required if Order Is Violated

If an officer has probable cause to believe that the restrained person had notice of the order and has disobeyed the order, the officer must arrest the restrained person. (Pen. Code, §§ 836(c)(1), 13701(b).) A violation of the order may be a violation of Penal Code section 166 or 273.6. Agencies are encouraged to enter violation messages into CARPOS.

Notice/Proof of Service

The law enforcement agency must first determine if the restrained person had notice of the order. Consider the restrained person "served" (given notice) if (Pen. Code, § 836(c)(2)):

- The officer sees a copy of the Proof of Service or confirms that the Proof of Service is on file; or
- The restrained person was informed of the order by an officer.

An officer can obtain information about the contents of the order and proof of service in CARPOS. If proof of service on the restrained person cannot be verified, the agency must advise the restrained person of the terms of the order and then enforce it.

If the Protected Person Contacts the Restrained Person

Even if the protected person invites or consents to contact with the restrained person, this order remains in effect and must be enforced. The protected person cannot be arrested for inviting or consenting to contact with the restrained person. The order can be changed only by another court order. (Pen. Code, § 13710(b).)

Conflicting Orders—Priorities of Enforcement

If more than one restraining order has been issued, the orders must be enforced according to the following priorities: (See Pen. Code, § 136.2; Fam. Code, §§ 6383(h)(2), 6405(b).)

- 1. EPO: If one of the orders is an Emergency Protective Order (form EPO-001) and is more restrictive than other restraining or protective orders, it has precedence in enforcement over all other orders.
- 2. No-Contact Order: If there is no EPO, a no-contact order that is included in a restraining or protective order has precedence over any other restraining or protective order.
- 3. Criminal Order: If none of the orders includes a no-contact order, a domestic violence protective order issued in a criminal case takes precedence in enforcement over any conflicting civil court order. Any nonconflicting terms of the civil restraining order remain in effect and enforceable.
- 4. Family, Juvenile, or Civil Order: If more than one family, juvenile, or other civil restraining or protective order has been issued, the one that was issued last must be enforced.

Warning and Notice to the Respondent:

You Cannot Have Guns or Firearms

Unless item 9d is checked, you cannot own, have, possess, buy or try to buy, receive or try to receive, or otherwise get guns, other firearms, or ammunition while this Order is in effect. If you do, you can go to jail and pay a $1,000 fine. You must sell to or store with a licensed gun dealer or turn in to a law enforcement agency any guns or other firearms that you have or control as stated in item (9). The court will require you to prove that you did so.

Instructions for Law Enforcement

Enforcing the Restraining Order

This Order is enforceable by any law enforcement agency that has received the Order, is shown a copy of the Order, or has verified its existence on the California Restraining and Protective Order System (CARPOS). Agencies are encouraged to enter violation messages into CARPOS. If the law enforcement agency has not received proof of service on the restrained person, and the restrained person was not present at the court hearing, the agency must advise the restrained person of the terms of the Order and then must enforce it. Violations of this Order are subject to criminal penalties.

Start Date and End Date of Orders

Revised January 1, 2018

This Order starts on the date next to the judge's signature on page 4 and ends on the expiration date in item (5) on page 1.

If the Protected Person Contacts the Restrained Person

Even if the protected person invites or consents to contact with the restrained person, this Order remains in effect and must be enforced. The protected person cannot be arrested for inviting or consenting to contact with the restrained person. The orders can be changed only by another court order. (Pen. Code, § 13710(b).)

Conflicting Orders—Priorities for Enforcement

If more than one restraining order has been issued, the orders must be enforced according to the following priorities: (See Pen. Code, § 136.2, Fam. Code, §§ 6383(h)(2), 6405(b).)

- 1. EPO: If one of the orders is an Emergency Protective Order (form EPO-001) and is more restrictive than other restraining or protective orders, it has precedence in enforcement over all other orders.
- 2. No Contact Order: If there is no EPO, a no-contact order that is included in a restraining or protective order has precedence over any other restraining or protective order.
- 3. Criminal Order: If none of the orders includes a no contact order, a domestic violence protective order issued in a criminal case takes precedence in enforcement over any conflicting civil court order. Any nonconflicting terms of the civil restraining order remain in effect and enforceable.
- 4. Family, Juvenile, or Civil Order: If more than one family, juvenile, or other civil restraining or protective order has been issued, the one that was issued last must be enforced.

Instructions for Law Enforcement

Enforcing the Restraining Order

This Order is enforceable by any law enforcement agency that has received the Order, is shown a copy of the Order, or has verified its existence on the California Restraining and Protective Order System (CARPOS). Agencies are encouraged to enter violation messages into CARPOS. If the law enforcement agency has not received proof of service on the restrained person, and the restrained person was not present at the court hearing, the agency must advise the restrained person of the terms of the Order and then must enforce it. Violations of this Order are subject to criminal penalties.

Start Date and End Date of Orders

Revised January 1, 2018

This Order starts on the date next to the judge's signature on page 4 and ends on the expiration date in item (5) on page 1.

If the Protected Person Contacts the Restrained Person

Even if the protected person invites or consents to contact with the restrained person, this Order remains in effect and must be enforced. The protected person cannot be arrested for inviting or consenting to contact with the restrained person. The orders can be changed only by another court order. (Pen. Code, § 13710(b).)

Conflicting Orders—Priorities for Enforcement

If more than one restraining order has been issued, the orders must be enforced according to the following priorities: (See Pen. Code, § 136.2, Fam. Code, §§ 6383(h)(2), 6405(b).)

- 1. EPO: If one of the orders is an Emergency Protective Order (form EPO-001) and is more restrictive than other restraining or protective orders, it has precedence in enforcement over all other orders.
- 2. No Contact Order: If there is no EPO, a no-contact order that is included in a restraining or protective order has precedence over any other restraining or protective order.
- 3. Criminal Order: If none of the orders includes a no contact order, a domestic violence protective order issued in a criminal case takes precedence in enforcement over any conflicting civil court order. Any nonconflicting terms of the civil restraining order remain in effect and enforceable.
- 4. Family, Juvenile, or Civil Order: If more than one family, juvenile, or other civil restraining or protective order has been issued, the one that was issued last must be enforced.

The committee acknowledges the general agreement with the proposal.
			No with respect to the revisions to the forms so that the court may exercise its discretion to grant an exception to the statutory firearm relinquishment order to a responding party who makes the request under CCP section 527.9(f). The proposed language regarding the court's discretion to make exceptions to the statutory firearms relinquishment order if a firearm is required by the respondent's employment cites only part of the statute. As a result, the language understates the high threshold needed to maintain a firearm for employment. It is not clear why all of the requirements of the statute are not included in the language. Moreover, it is unclear why the language used on these forms is not consistent with	The committee does not believe that the rest of the statute need be replicated on the form. The language not included says: In any case involving a peace officer who as a condition of employment and whose personal safety depends on the ability to carry a firearm, a court may allow the peace officer to continue to carry a firearm, either on duty or off duty, if the court finds by a preponderance of the evidence that the officer does not pose a threat of harm. 			the language used in the family law domestic violence form since the statutes are identical (Code of Civil Procedure section 527.9(f) and Family Code section 6389(h)). The language used on the family law domestic violence form is easy to understand, and does not include select parts of the statute. As a result, it does not understate the high threshold needed to maintain a firearm for employment. SCDLS recommends that the language include all requirements in the statute to ensure that the respondent is fully aware of the high burden of proof and the process involved with obtaining the exemption, or, the language be made consistent with the language already used on the family law domestic violence form: "I ask for an exemption from the firearms prohibition under Code of Civil Procedure section 527.9 because (specify):	officer to enter into counseling or other remedial treatment program to deal with any propensity for domestic violence. The committee concludes that, as a plain-language principle, users should not have to read a statute to understand how to fill out the form.

		savings? If so, please quantify. No. Q: What would the implementation requirements be for courts? Updating training materials, forms packets, and notifying staff General Comments: 120 Forms: Item 6b (CH) & 7b (EA/SV/WV): Our court suggests the lines provided for explaining why the firearm is necessary be moved above the checkbox "Check here if there is not enough space"	Previous feedback from courts and users has led to a plain-language standard that overflow checkboxes should precede the text field. The reason is that self-represented litigants may start to write without thinking about whether there is enough space. The user should look at the available space first and decide whether there is enough for their answer. If not, then s/he should do an attachment. Our information is that judges do not want half of the text on the form and half on an attachment.
			But there was a spacing error here. There should not have been any space below "Explain." This has been fixed.

6.	Superior Court of Ventura County, Julie Camacho, Court Manager	AM	I agree with the changes as proposed but would note that this proposal does not address this issue when the temporary restraining order is issued by the court. It seems the exception to the statutory firearms relinquishment order should be addressed on the Temporary Restraining Order forms as well to provide a respondent an opportunity to address this issue at the time of the TRO.	The committee acknowledges the comment generally agreeing with the proposal. The committee sees the issue relating to the temporary restraining order (TRO); the respondent may be entitled to the exemption and should not have to surrender his or her guns for a TRO. But since the TRO is usually issued ex parte and often without notice, there is no procedural vehicle for the respondent to assert the exemption before a TRO is issued. All s/he can do is file a response asserting the exemption and try to get his or her gun back after the hearing when the exemption is memorialized on form 130.
