Executive Summary

The Civil and Small Claims Advisory Committee proposes the adoption, approval, and revision of 13 forms to implement statutory changes in Senate Bill 91 (Stats. 2021, ch. 2), enacted January 29, 2021, and Assembly Bill 832 (Stats. 2021, ch. 27), enacted June 28, 2021. Assembly Bill 832 establishes new procedures for bringing unlawful detainer actions based on nonpayment of rent, and for judgments in such cases, effective October 1, 2021. Provisions in SB 91, as amended by AB 832, allow parties, effective November 1, 2021, to litigate claims for nonpayment of COVID-19 rental debt in small claims court regardless of the amount demanded, and mandates new pleading requirements for such actions whether filed in small claims court or in general civil court. In addition, AB 832 requires the council to develop forms for parties to use in actions to recover COVID-19 rental debt. The proposed forms address these statutory changes.

Recommendation

The Civil and Small Claims Advisory Committee recommends that the Judicial Council:

1. Adopt Application to Prevent Forfeiture Due to COVID-19 Rental Debt (form UD-125), effective October 1, 2021;
2. Adopt the following forms, effective November 1, 2021:
 - Complaint—Recovery of COVID-19 Rental Debt (form PLD-C-500);
 - Answer—Recovery of COVID-19 Rental Debt (form PLD-C-505);
 - Verification by Plaintiff Regarding Rental Assistance—Recovery of COVID-19 Rental Debt (form PLD-C-520);
 - Plaintiff's Claim and ORDER to Go to Small Claims Court (COVID-19 Rental Debt) (form SC-500); and
 - Other Plaintiffs or Defendants (COVID-19 Rental Debt) (form SC-500A);
3. Approve COVID-19 Rental Debt in Small Claims Court (form SC-500-INFO), effective October 15, 2021;
4. Revise the following forms, effective October 1, 2021:
 - Plaintiff's Mandatory Cover Sheet and Supplemental Allegations—Unlawful Detainer (form UD-101);
 - Answer—Unlawful Detainer (form UD-105); and
 - Verification by Landlord Regarding Rental Assistance—Unlawful Detainer (form UD-120); and
5. Revise the following forms, effective November 1, 2021:
 - Plaintiff's Claim and ORDER to Go to Small Claims Court (form SC-100);
 - Fictitious Business Name (form SC-103); and
 - What is "Proof of Service"? (form-104B).

The proposed new and revised forms are attached at pages 19–61.

Relevant Previous Council Action

Unlawful detainer forms

Assembly Bill 3088 (Stats. 2020, ch. 37), which includes the COVID-19 Tenant Relief Act of 2020, was enacted as urgency legislation on August 31, 2020, and put in place new provisions, which went into effect immediately, addressing unlawful detainer actions during the COVID-19 pandemic. (See Link A.) The bill provided, among other things, certain protections against the termination of residential tenancies for failure to pay rent due from March 1, 2020, through January 31, 2021.

For courts to determine whether judgments may issue on unlawful detainer cases in light of the new state protections and protections provided by federal law, plaintiffs need to provide information beyond the allegations contained in the form Complaint—Unlawful Detainer (form UD-100) or previously included in individually drafted complaints. For that reason, the council adopted Plaintiff’s Mandatory Cover Sheet and Supplemental Allegations—Unlawful Detainer (form UD-101), effective October 5, 2020, which includes allegations as to the various facts that a court needs to know to properly apply the provisions in AB 3088. The council also revised Answer—Unlawful Detainer (form UD-105) to aid defendants in responding to the allegations in new form UD-101 and raising new defenses available under AB 3088. The answer form was further revised in December 2020, following a postapproval circulation for public comment.

Senate Bill 91 (Stat. 2021, ch. 2) was enacted on January 29, 2021, as urgency legislation, going into effect immediately, amending the tenant protections that had been provided under AB 3088. (See Link B.) Senate Bill 91 extended the time period of the protections to June 30, 2021, added some further protections, and established a rental assistance program.¹ In light of those statutory changes, the council promptly revised two unlawful detainer forms (forms UD-101 and UD-105), effective February 16, 2021, to change the end dates of the covered periods and incorporate the new protections already in effect. The council also adopted a new form (form UD-120) to facilitate compliance with a new statutory requirement for certain verifications by a landlord. Based on comments received after the forms were circulated for public comment, the council further revised all three forms at its May 2021 meeting.

Assembly Bill 832 (Stats. 2021, ch. 27) was enacted on June 28, 2021, as urgency legislation, going into effect immediately, and further extended the time period for the tenant protections under AB 3088 and SB 91 to September 30, 2021. (See Link D.) Given the immediate extension of tenant protections, at its July 9 meeting, the council approved technical revisions to forms UD-101 and UD-105 to change the end dates of the covered periods.

Small claims forms

In addition to establishing tenant protections in the unlawful detainer context, AB 3088 also permitted parties to bring collection actions for COVID-19 rental debt as small claims actions—regardless of the amount demanded—as of March 1, 2021. To address the impending jurisdictional change to small claims court, the council’s Rules Committee approved circulation of a revised claim form and information sheet proposed by the Civil and Small Claims Advisory Committee in November 2020. Following receipt of comments, further action on that proposal was deferred in light of the enactment of SB 91, which moved the date for the commencement of the small claims actions in such cases to August 1, 2021. The advisory committee intended to recommend new and revised forms to the council in July 2021 (and the recommendation was approved by the Rules Committee in June), but because Assembly Bill 832 moved the date for commencing such actions to November 1, 2021, that recommendation was again deferred.

¹ The Legislature made minor cleanup revisions to these provisions of SB 91 in Assembly Bill 81, enacted a month later. (See Link C.)

Civil pleading forms

The council has not previously acted on the general civil pleading forms in this proposal.

Analysis/Rationale

Taken together, AB 3088 and SB 91 established and subsequently extended certain protections against the termination of residential tenancies for failure to pay rent due from March 1, 2020, through June 30, 2021. The two laws also provided landlords with the ability to recover COVID-19 rental debt in small claims court, but only after the unlawful detainer protections ended. SB 91 also added a requirement that plaintiffs in all cases to recover COVID-19 rental debt attach to their complaints documentation of their efforts to assist tenants in obtaining rental assistance. (Code Civ. Proc., § 1179.10(a)²) and provide certain verifications regarding rental assistance before a judgment may be entered in their favor (Health & Saf. Code, § 50897.3(e)).

AB 832 extended many of the protections in the AB 3088 and SB 91 and also enacted the COVID-19 Rental Housing Recovery Act (§ 1179.08 et seq.), which, for certain unlawful detainer actions based on nonpayment of rent and brought on or after October 1, 2021, imposes new requirements on plaintiffs, expands certain rights of defendants, and will require courts to handle some procedures in such cases differently from other unlawful detainer cases. Specific AB 832 provisions that are addressed in the proposed forms include the following:

- An additional general notice under section 1179.04 is now required to be provided to any tenant who, as of July 1, 2021, missed a rental payment due between March 1, 2020, and September 30, 2021. (§ 1179.04(c).)
- A new specific notice to pay or quit that demands payment of rental debt that came due between October 1, 2021, and March 31, 2022 must include certain statutory language and other information. (§§ 1179.09(b), 1179.10(a).)
- A summons cannot be issued for an unlawful detainer action based on nonpayment of rent or other financial obligations due anytime between March 1, 2020, and March 31, 2022, unless the plaintiff verifies certain statements to be true—either that:
 - The plaintiff applied for rental assistance and was denied; or
 - The plaintiff applied for rental assistance, at least 20 days passed since the later of when the application was completed or the notice to quit provided, and the plaintiff has heard from neither the tenant nor a governmental rental assistance agency that the tenant has completed the tenant’s portion of the application; or
 - The tenancy began after October 1, 2021. (§ 1179.11(a).)

² All remaining statutory references are to the Code of Civil Procedure unless otherwise stated.

- Before a judgment or default judgment may issue in an unlawful detainer case, a court must make findings related to the plaintiff's application for rental assistance. (§ 1179.11(c).)
- Under a newly established procedure, a tenant can ask the court to prevent forfeiture of a lease if an application for rental assistance corresponding to part or all of the rental debt has been approved. (§ 1179.13.)
- The date on which actions to recover COVID-19 rental debt could commence changed from August 1 to November 1, 2021. (§§ 116.223(b)(3), 871.10(c) & (e).)
- The statute mandates that the Judicial Council develop forms for the recovery of COVID-19 rental debt in small claims and general civil court actions, including the requirement that such forms include, on the first page, notice that access to the record in the case is limited. (§ 1161.2.5(a)(3).)
- Access to case files for unlawful detainer actions based on nonpayment of rent during the covered period and for actions to recover COVID-19 rental debt is permanently limited. (§§ 1161.2, 1161.2.5.)

The recommended revised and new forms are intended to implement the changes made by AB 832 and, in the case of the small claims forms, AB 3088 and SB 91.

Unlawful detainer forms

New requirements for a summons to issue

As described above, AB 832 set out requirements that must be met for a summons to issue in certain unlawful detainer actions. Accordingly, item 3 has been added to Plaintiff's Mandatory Cover Sheet and Supplemental Allegations—Unlawful Detainer (form UD-101) to include the statements set out in section 1179.11(a), one of which a plaintiff must make under penalty of perjury in order for a summons to be issued. If the appropriate boxes are checked (and a final determination notice is attached, if required), a clerk may issue the summons. Information about this requirement has also been added to the information box at the beginning of the form.

In addition, in light of these new requirements, a specific denial regarding those verifications has been added to the Answer—Unlawful Detainer (form UD-105, at item 2(b)(2)) for defendant to assert with a single checkbox that the required statements are not true.

New notice requirements

Given that, under the new law, landlords may have been required to provide tenants who missed rental payments with as many as three different general notices regarding tenants' rights (§ 1179.04), the committee recommends revising items 6(a) and 7(a) on form UD-101 to refer to "all the required versions" of the notice. Similarly, item 3(m)(1) on form UD-105 would allow defendants to allege that plaintiffs did not serve the required "general notice or notices."

Additionally, item 8 on form UD-101 has been reworked in order for plaintiffs to clearly identify how each of the required general notices has been provided.

Item 10 in form UD-101 has been added to allow plaintiffs in actions based on a demand for rental debt due between October 1, 2021, and March 31, 2022, to allege that the new specific notice to pay or quit required in such cases has been provided. (§ 1179.10.) Likewise, item 3(n) has been added on the answer, form UD-105, to allow defendants to allege that plaintiffs did not properly serve such notice.

Findings before judgment

AB 832 requires additional findings a court must make before an unlawful detainer judgment or default judgment can issue in actions based on nonpayment of rent filed between October 1, 2021, and March 31, 2022: that the plaintiff must have completed an application for rental assistance before filing the complaint and that the application was denied for certain specified reason. (§ 1179.11(c).) Statements supporting such findings have therefore been added to Verification by Landlord Regarding Rental Assistance—Unlawful Detainer (form UD-120, at item 3), a form required with any request for default judgment in actions based on nonpayment of rent. Item 3(o) on form UD-105 also would allow defendants to allege that the required findings cannot be made.

New form to apply for prevention of forfeiture

New section 1179.13 establishes a process whereby defendants in an unlawful detainer action can ask the court to “prevent the forfeiture of a lease or rental agreement,” either pre- or postjudgment, based on defendants having received approval of government rental assistance. This recommendation includes new mandatory Application to Prevent Forfeiture Due to Covid-19 Rental Debt (form UD-125) to implement this procedure.³ The proposed form asks defendants to verify certain statements that must be true to establish a basis for forfeiture prevention—that they have been approved for governmental rental assistance—and then requires defendant to attach or provide the statutorily required information to support such an application.

Small claims forms

New claims form for COVID-19 cases rental debt recovery cases

The committee initially recommended revisions to the claim form for small claims court (form SC-100) so that the form could also be used in actions to recover COVID-19 rental debt. (See Judicial Council of Cal., Advisory Com. Inv. to Comment SP20-10, Small Claims: Forms for COVID-19 Rental Debt Cases (Mar. 1, 2021).) However, in response to comments received when the revised form was circulated last November, and because AB 832 now requires the council to develop forms for COVID-19 rental debt recovery in small claims court (§ 1161.2.5), the committee now recommends adoption of a separate mandatory claim form, Plaintiff’s Claim and ORDER to Go to Small Claims Court (COVID-19 Rental Debt) (form SC-500).

³ Section 1179.13(c)(3)(B) authorizes the council to mandate a form for the application to prevent forfeiture.

Proposed form SC-500 closely parallels existing form SC-100, with a few significant differences:

- The top of form SC-500 includes the mandated language from section 1161.2.5 alerting courts and parties that the action is to recover COVID-19 rental debt and that access to records in the case is limited. There is also a bolded note to the defendant that “[t]his small claims case cannot result in your eviction.”
- Item 3 in form SC-100 asks plaintiffs to identify the amount owed by defendants, describe why money is owed, and explain how the amount was calculated. The item in form SC-500 is tailored to request information directly relevant to COVID-19 rental debt recovery actions.
- New item 9 has been added to require plaintiffs to explain how they have made a good-faith effort to assist defendants in obtaining rental assistance and attach documentation of those efforts, as required in all actions to recover COVID-19 rental debt. (§ 871.10(a).)
- New item 10 requires plaintiffs to verify that they have not received rental assistance and that they do not have a pending application for rental assistance corresponding to the amount claimed. Such verifications are required before the court issues a judgment, under Health & Safety Code section 50897.3(e)(1).
- To adapt the form for use in COVID-19 rental debt recovery cases, form SC-100 items that are not applicable in these cases have been eliminated.⁴
- There are also minor differences on page 5 of form SC-500, Information for the defendant (the person being sued), including a note that the jurisdictional limit on small claims cases has been lifted for COVID-19 rental debt recovery cases and a reminder that the action is not a basis for eviction.

New information sheet for COVID-19 rental debt recovery cases⁵

New information sheet COVID-19 Rental Debt in Small Claims Court (form SC-500-INFO; originally circulated in November 2020 as proposed form SC-110-INFO) is intended to provide both plaintiffs and defendants information about such cases. The form defines COVID-19 rental debt and notes that cases seeking recovery of such debt are exempt from the usual jurisdictional limitation of small claims court. The form includes one item summarizing the procedures to initiate a COVID-19 rental debt case in small claims court and another telling the parties what to take to court to address the relevant issues.

Because section 116.223(b)(1) expressly states that the small claims court will have jurisdiction over any defenses to actions for recovery of COVID-19 rental debt, the form also lists several potential defenses that could affect the amount of the rent due, including breach of the warranty of habitability, the right to make needed repairs and deduct the cost from rent, improper late fees, improper increases in rental amounts due, and various other defenses. This list is particularly important because defendants do not file an answer in small claim cases, so both parties will need to consider in advance what defenses may be applicable and be prepared to argue and present evidence at trial. Although the committee has attempted to list all major applicable defenses, the form also notes that the list is not exhaustive and that other laws, including local ordinances, could affect parties' rights.

Links to sources of assistance—including a state publication on residential tenants' and landlords' rights and responsibilities, a website providing information on legal services organizations, and forms to request interpreters or accommodations for disabilities—are included on the form.⁶ The form also makes it clear to landlords that using small claims for a case to recover COVID-19 rental debt is just one option and that they also have the right to go to general civil court, with the right to appeal the court's decision and the right to be represented by counsel. The form also notes the new form for such claims, Complaint—Recovery of COVID-19 Rental Debt (form PLD-C-500). Litigants are also advised of the limited access to the case file under section 1161.2.5.

New form SC-500A

In addition to the new claim form and information sheet, the committee recommends adoption of Other Plaintiffs or Defendants (COVID-19 Rental Debt) (form SC-500A), an attachment to form SC-500 that allows a party to name additional plaintiffs or defendants. This proposed form parallels form SC-100A, used in all other small claims cases, but excludes those items that do not apply to actions to recover COVID-19 rental debt, specifically those that relate to corporate defendants and to limits on the amount of small claims cases over $2,500 that can be filed in a calendar year. (Cf. §§ 1179.02(h) & 116.223(c).)

Revised form SC-100

Adoption of recommended form SC-500 requires also revising the Plaintiff's Claim and ORDER to Go to Small Claims Court (form SC-100) to include a warning not to use it in COVID-19 rental debt cases. Revised form SC-100 would include (1) an instruction on the first page (in a box to draw attention to it) not to use form SC-100 for an action to recover COVID-19 rental debt and to instead use form SC-500, and (2) a parenthetical note in item 3 (amount claimed) alerting plaintiffs that form SC-100 cannot be used to claim COVID-19 rental debt.

The recommended revision to this form would also add a request for the plaintiff's email address in item 1. This is not directly related to AB 832 but was requested previously by several courts in light of the increased use of remote hearings and remote alternative dispute resolution for small claims cases as a result of the public health issues resulting from the COVID-19 pandemic.⁷

The only other substantive revision to form SC-100 concerns the instructions relating to settlements. At the bottom of the first column of page 5 of existing form SC-100 (in the "Do I have options?" item), defendants are instructed that if they settle the case before trial, the plaintiff must file form CIV-110, Request for Dismissal, with the clerk. The committee understands that, in practice, many parties to small claims actions who settle their cases file a copy of the written and signed settlement agreement with the clerk in lieu of filing form CIV-110, which allows court to enter judgment under section 664.6. Accordingly, to reflect current practice and eliminate the need to file potentially unnecessary forms, the advisory committee recommends the addition of language to both forms SC-100 and SC-500, so the instruction will be that, upon a settlement, "the plaintiff must file form CIV-110, Request for Dismissal or a written and signed settlement agreement."

Other revised small claims forms

Form SC-500 tells plaintiffs to attach form SC-103 (Fictitious Business Name) if a plaintiff is doing business under a fictitious name; however, current form SC-103 requires the filer to choose whether form SC-103 is attached to "Form SC-100" or "Form SC-120." Given that litigants may attach form SC-103 to form SC-500, the recommended revision adds a third check box with "Form SC-500" to the top of the form.

Similarly, form SC-500 points filers to What is Proof of Service? (form SC-104B) to learn about service. However, form SC-104B states that it includes information about serving forms SC-100 and SC-120. Because SC-500 is a claim form subject to the service requirements of section 116.340, this recommended revision adds "SC-500" to form SC-104B in the three places where form SC-100 is mentioned.

Civil pleading forms

AB 832 mandates that the council develop forms for parties to use for actions to recover COVID-19 rental debt in general civil court as well as in small claims court. (§ 1161.2.5(a)(3).) Accordingly, the committee recommends the adoption of new mandatory complaint and answer forms (forms PLD-C-500 and PLD-C-505) for use in general civil actions.⁸ The committee also recommends a new form for the verifications regarding rental assistance required before judgment may be issued for plaintiff in such actions (form PLD-C-520).

New civil complaint form for COVID-19 rental debt recovery cases

The new Complaint—Recovery of COVID-19 Rental Debt (form PLD-C-500) begins with the statutorily required notice that the matter is an action for recovery of COVID-19 rental debt, with limited access to the files. There is also an information box noting, among other things, what form the defendant must use to respond to the complaint.

The allegations in the complaint are divided into sections by subject matter, with a title for each section. This structure is intended to make the form easier for self-represented landlords to use and for self-represented tenants to respond to.

- Introductory Allegations parallel the relevant introductory items in the form contract complaint (form PLD-C-010). Item 4, regarding assignment, has been included because of the possibility that landlords may assign the debt rather than sue on it themselves, especially if the defendant is no longer a tenant. An assignee is asked to identify who assigned the debt and when.⁹
- Allegations About COVID-19 Rental Debt (items 5 and 6) include allegations as to the basis for the debt (identifying the tenancy and the amount of rent and any other financial obligations agreed to) and allegations about the total amount claimed and specific details as to what that total is based on.¹⁰
- Allegations About Rental Assistance (items 7 and 8) include the information required under section 871.10 (requiring that any claim for recovery must include documentation of plaintiff's efforts to help defendant obtain rental assistance) and the verifications under Health & Safety Code section 50897.3(e) (that the landlord has not received, nor has an application pending for, rental assistance for the amounts claimed). The latter item also includes instructions similar to those on form UD-101, that the court cannot enter judgment without these statements being verified and that a form verification will be required with a request for a default judgment.¹¹
- Other Allegations (item 9) is included so that plaintiffs can state any other claims or relevant allegation they wish to include in the complaint.

⁹ The date of assignment is relevant because Civil Code section 1788.65 prohibits assignment of COVID-19 rental debt before October 1, 2021.

¹⁰ The latter item is similar to item 3 of form SC-500, claiming damages.

¹¹ Because the verifications must be made by the plaintiff—not necessarily the landlord—an item has been included to allow plaintiff to assert the basis for the allegation.

An optional verification is included at the end of the form. The complaint does not have to be verified, but a note points the plaintiff to item 8, which contains a note that the assertions in that item will need to be verified before judgment can be issued.

New civil answer form for COVID-19 rental debt recovery cases

The new mandatory Answer—Recovery of COVID-19 Rental Debt (form PLD-C-505) was developed with the knowledge that many of the defendants in these cases will be self-represented. The instruction box at the beginning of the answer form includes instructions on the time frame in which the answer generally must be filed and notes that there are alternative responses that may be made (demurrer, motion to strike, or motion to quash), and the potential for cross-complaints. It also advises the defendant to seek legal assistance.

The Denials section includes two separate items. Item 2 is a general denial and includes instructions as to when it may be used. Item 3 is for specific denials, with instructions as to when this item (rather than the general denial) should be used and for what purpose. The instructions are followed by optional subparts that align with each titled section of allegations in the complaint, allowing the defendant to deny, as appropriate, the specific items in the complaint stated in that titled section.

Item 4 lays out potential defenses and objections, similar to the list in the unlawful detainer answer form (form UD-105) (and with similar instructions at the top), but only includes those items that could affect the amount of rent owed.

A verification is included at the end of the form, with a note as to when verification is required.

New civil verification form for COVID-19 rental recovery cases

The recommended new Verification by Plaintiff Regarding Rental Assistance—Recovery of COVID-19 Rental Debt (form PLD-C-520) is intended to implement the verification requirement of Health & Safety Code section 50897.3(e)). That section mandates that the court shall not issue a judgment in favor of the plaintiff in any action to recover COVID-19 rental debt without the plaintiff's express verification that the landlord has not received rental assistance or other financial assistance, nor has any applications pending for such assistance, corresponding to the amount demanded in the complaint. Because the law requires that the verification be made by plaintiff (rather than landlord), and because the plaintiff and landlord may not be one and the same, form PLD-C-520 starts with plaintiff choosing whether plaintiff is the landlord or an assignee or representative of the landlord (and if the latter, identifying the landlord and describing the relationship). In addition, in the item with the statements to be verified, a plaintiff who is not the landlord must describe the basis for verifying the statements about the landlord.

As discussed above, information is included in the new complaint form to ensure that plaintiffs know that this verification is required for judgments in recovery action. However, because the plaintiff must verify that no funds have been received and no application is pending before a judgment may be entered, such verification may be required at the time of the judgment, as well, which may be entered weeks or months after the complaint is filed. In cases that go to trial, a court considering entering a judgment for plaintiff may obtain an oral verification from the plaintiff on the record. However, if the plaintiff is not at trial, and for all default judgments, a written verification will be required. So that all plaintiffs can properly provide such a declaration, the committee is proposing that this form be mandatory for use with any request for a default judgment, to ensure both that a plaintiff can easily provide the required verification and that a verification filed with the court meets the statutory requirements. (The form would be optional for other uses, and available for use as desired by a party or if requested by a judicial officer.)

Policy implications

The revised and new forms in this proposal would implement new and amended statutes that provide protections for tenants and alter the procedures for bringing unlawful detainer actions and actions to recover COVID-19 rental debt. Accordingly, the key policy implications are ensuring that council forms reflect the law correctly and are not misleading to parties—especially self-represented litigants—or courts. The proposed forms should assist courts in providing consistent experiences for all parties as they attempt to navigate the new provisions related to unlawful detainer and the recovery of COVID-19 rental debt.

Comments

The new and revised forms in this proposal were circulated for comments from August 9 to August 20, 2021. (Invitation to comment SP21-05.) Thirty-two commenters responded, including over a dozen legal service and tenant advocacy organizations, the California Apartment Association (CAA), three individual attorneys, one law firm, three public housing authorities, a superior court commissioner, a superior court administrator, the Superior Court of Riverside County, and the Superior Court of San Diego County.

Some of the comments were general, but most focused on specific forms in the proposal. A chart providing all the comments, organized by form, and the committee’s responses to the comments is attached at pages 62–138. Only two commenters did not agree with the proposal; one commenter indicated they agreed with the proposal; five comments agreed with the proposal if modified; and the other twenty-four commenters did not indicate a position. The overall thrust of the comments is that the proposed revisions and new forms are important and helpful, but that further modifications would be beneficial. The most significant comments are discussed below.

In addition to the August 2021 circulation, two of the small claims forms in this proposal, forms SC-100 and SC-500-INFO (circulated as form SC-110-INFO) were also circulated for comments from November 23 to December 23, 2020. (Invitation to comment SP20-10.) Twenty-three commenters responded during that comment period, including multiple legal services organizations, several professional associations, three courts or their personnel, and two judicial officers. Taken altogether, the comments agreed with the proposed revisions and new information sheet, but suggested further modifications. A chart with all those comments, organized by issue, and the committee’s responses to the comments is attached at pages 139–201. The most significant comments from that circulation (“November 2020 comment period”) are also discussed below.

Unlawful detainer forms

The comments on Plaintiff's Mandatory Cover Sheet and Supplemental Allegations—Unlawful Detainer (form UD-101) suggested minor modifications to specific items to increase clarity and readability. The committee agreed with many of those modifications. For example, item 8 now includes the year when referencing the different notices required under section 1179.04 (e.g., “September 2020 notice” instead of “September notice”).

Many of the comments on form UD-105, Answer—Unlawful Detainer, concerned the wording or inclusion of specific defenses in item 3 of the form. The committee accepted many of the suggestions, such as including a defense based on the federal CARES Act because Congress made certain provisions of the act permanent. (See item 3(r).)

Commenters also made two broad suggestions about form UD-105 not directly related to AB 832 or COVID-19 issues. The first of these was to recommend a simpler answer form that a self-represented litigant can fill out in less time. One commenter attached a suggested example, which contained only a general denial. Such a proposal is outside the scope of this proposal and would need to be circulated for comment before it could be recommended. Moreover, the committee does not believe that such an answer form should be developed because general denials are not always an acceptable answer for an unlawful detainer action and, without the option to provide specific denials, the defendant may be subject to a default judgment. Additionally, failure to provide affirmative defenses at the outset in an action that by statute must proceed to trial quickly may result in defendants waiving those defenses.

The other suggestion—made by several of the tenant advocates—was that the form contain an item with the option to request a jury trial. The committee determined that no such request currently exists on any Judicial Council pleading form and that adding it to form UD-105 would represent a significant departure from current practice. Additionally, any party may request a jury trial using Request/Counter Request to Set for Trial (form UD-150), as explained on the California Court Online Self-Help Center. Accordingly, the committee did not take this suggestion.

Small claims forms

As mentioned above, because of the passage of AB 832 shortly before the council was to consider new and revised small claims forms, two of the small claims forms in this proposal were circulated for comment both in November 2020 and in August 2021. The forms that were circulated for comment in August 2021 included modifications made in response to the earlier comments. Nonetheless, significant comments from both comment periods are discussed below.

Form SC-100

The November 2020 invitation to comment on Plaintiff's Claims and ORDER to Go to Small Claims Court (form SC-100) asked for specific comments on the requests that the plaintiff provide both the plaintiff's and the defendant's email addresses, added to items 1 and 2. Numerous commenters weighed in. Most legal services organizations suggested eliminating the line for defendant's email address because of concerns that the address may not be correct or monitored regularly by the defendant; it may be improperly used, such as for other debt collection; and inclusion may erroneously suggest that electronic service to the defendant is adequate. Other comments opined that including email addresses on the form is helpful in sending out information about hearings or alternative dispute resolution to all parties. Taking the comments into consideration, the committee concluded that although including a request for plaintiffs to provide their own email addresses on the claim forms (if they have one) was appropriate, it was not appropriate to ask them to provide the defendant's.

The comments received on this form in the August 2021 comment period were generally limited to including additional information on the first page. Accordingly, the first page of the form now includes a definition of COVID-19 rental debt and information about the possibility of filing the form electronically.

Form SC-500

Item 3 on proposed new Plaintiff's Claim and ORDER to Go to Small Claims Court (COVID-19 Rental Debt), regarding the amount of damages claimed by defendant, came up during both comment periods. The comments in the November 2020 comment period requested that item 3 (which requires plaintiffs to identify the amount owed by defendants, describe why money is owed, and explain how the amount was calculated) include information specific to COVID-19 rental debt cases. To address these comments, the proposed new form SC-500 requires plaintiffs, in item 3, to break out the elements of the total amount claimed. Plaintiffs must list the amount they claim the defendant owes as rent and the date it came due and separately list any other amounts of COVID-19 rental debt being claimed and when those amounts became due and what they are for. Also, in response to those comments, item 4 was added to proposed form SC-500 requiring plaintiffs to list any payments made by or on behalf of defendants, and any offsets credited to them. Because no discovery is allowed in small claims actions, this requirement is the only way defendants can know what payments plaintiffs acknowledge receiving or how much of an offset they have credited to defendants.

The comments in the August 2021 comment period suggested language tweaks to make items 3 and 4 on form SC-500 clearer. In addition, a few commenters suggested replacing items 3 and 4 with a fillable table for plaintiffs to complete. The committee considered doing so but concluded that using a table instead of freeform text presented significant concerns and would be more complex than desired. For example, it would be difficult to capture multiple payments in a given month from different sources on a table without providing multiple lines for each month over a 19-month period. Similarly, it would be challenging for plaintiffs alleging that multiple "other financial obligations" were due in any given month to explain what each was for without a very lengthy table. On the other hand, a plaintiff alleging only that rent is due for a certain number of months, with no payments received, would need only a small amount of space to describe the claims. Given that each COVID-19 rental debt situation will be different, the committee concluded that providing a space for freeform text, with the option to attach another sheet if more space is needed, is preferable to requiring all parties to fill out a lengthy fixed table. The committee did, however, modify the language in items 3 and 4 in light of the comments to clarify what information plaintiffs are required to provide.

In addition to those comments, several comments suggested minor language and formatting modifications, some of which the committee included in the proposed forms. For example, the notice about a small claims court not being able to evict defendants is now in a bold font on the first page, and items 9 and 10 contain check boxes to ensure that plaintiffs affirmatively verify the required statements about assisting tenant in obtaining rental assistance and not having rental assistance corresponding to the amount demanded.

Form SC-500-INFO

Proposed COVID-19 Rental Debt in Small Claims Court (form SC-500-INFO) includes many of the suggestions from both comment periods. For example, in the November 2020 comment period, multiple commenters suggested that the defenses to claims on the circulated information sheet (then form SC-110-INFO) were insufficient, particularly in light of the additional defenses raised by AB 3088. Several commenters also suggested that the defenses should be organized in their own item because, given that no answer is required in small claims court, defendants need to be prepared to raise defenses and objections at trial. The committee agreed and created the “What arguments can you make?” item on page 2 of the form, putting all the described defenses into this item and, as suggested, adding language that the issues listed could affect the amount of rent owed and that local ordinances could also affect parties’ rights. The committee also modified the form’s discussion of the defenses within the list to use simpler language.

In the November 2020 comment period, some commenters also suggested inclusion of a list that identifies legal services organizations for each county on the information sheet. To address this concern, the committee added a “Legal services organizations” heading to the item “Where can you get help with a small claims case?” on page 3 and added a linked URL to <http://lawhelpca.org>, where defendants may find listings of local legal services organizations. The website, run by the Legal Aid Association of California and partially funded by the State Bar of California, offers the ability to find legal services organizations by county.

As a result of comments received in August 2021, the proposed form now includes an express suggestion that parties bring the rental agreement to trial. Additionally, to be more accessible, the proposed form now refers to “landlord” and “tenant” throughout, instead of “plaintiff” and “defendant.”¹²

As with the unlawful detainer forms, most of the comments to the pleading forms concern minor language modifications to improve clarity and readability. For example, the new Complaint—Recovery of COVID-19 Rental Debt (form PLD-C-500) now includes a notice in the information box at the top that the form cannot be used in actions to recover commercial rental debt.

¹² Unlike in general civil court, an assignee of a claim may not bring a claim in small claims court. (§ 116.420(a).) Therefore, in small claims court the plaintiff and the landlord will be the same person.

Additionally, the changes made to item 3 on form SC-500 to more clearly identify the information that plaintiff must provide about the amount claimed have also been made to item 6 of form PLD-C-500, the corresponding item on that form.

The committee also agreed with many of the commenters' suggestions on how to improve form PLD-C-505, the COVID-19 rental debt recovery answer form. Specifically, a defense was added to address the provisions of Civil Code section 1788.66, which prohibits the assignment of COVID-19 rental debt of any person if the person would have qualified for rental assistance funding or if the person's household income is below a certain level. In response to comments, the committee also modified the language in item 3 advising defendants about when they should make specific denials instead of a general denial. For example, in the proposed form, defendants are warned that not checking any specific denial boxes "will be an admission that all the statements in that section of the complaint are true."

Two significant suggestions were offered that the committee declined to make. First, an option to request a jury trial was not added to the end of form PLD-C-505 for the same reasons that it was not added to form UD-105. Second, the committee did not take the suggestion of several commenters that form PLD-C-505 be an optional form. The commenters expressed concern that if form PLD-C-505 was adopted as a mandatory form then certain defendants might receive a default judgment if they answer the complaint with something other than form PLD-C-505 and the form is rejected. The committee ultimately decided to recommend that both the proposed complaint form and the proposed answer form be mandatory, for several reasons:

- The new statute mandates that the council develop pleading forms for these actions and include prominently on such forms a statement that access to the records in the case is limited. (§ 1161.5.2(a)(3).) If the intent of the provision—placed in the statutory section regarding “masking” of such actions—is to ensure that this statement is on all pleadings in actions to recover COVID-19 rental debt, the intent can be achieved only if the forms containing such notation are mandatory.
- A mandatory complaint ensures that plaintiffs are aware of and comply with the new pleading requirement that any claim have documentation attached supporting that plaintiff took action to assist the tenant regarding rental assistance. (§871.10(a).)
- Given the complexity of the issues involved, and the likelihood that many defendants will be self-represented, a mandatory complaint enabled the committee to create an answer form that should be easier for defendants to use because the denial section can identify specific allegations for the defendant to respond to and because the defenses section essentially includes a checklist for the defendant as to what defenses are available. These helpful sections are especially important given that there is no information sheet currently available for these cases.

To address the concerns of commenters, a notice has been added to the information box at the beginning of the complaint (form PLD-C-500) to alert defendants that they must use form PLD-C-505 to answer the complaint.

Public housing authority comments

Public housing authorities (PHAs) for three different jurisdictions within the state commented that federal laws regulating the housing authorities prohibit them from providing certain required information on forms PLD-C-500, UD-101, UD-120, and UD-125. They raised three primary concerns.

First, the PHAs asserted that federal privacy laws prohibit them from applying for rental assistance without a resident’s consent. Accordingly, they state that they will be unable to complete the landlord’s portion of the rental assistance application (which requires the provision of certain information about the tenant even in landlord’s application) and so cannot complete certain items on the identified forms in the proposal. To remedy their concerns, the PHAs recommended including a place for PHAs to plead preemption or, at the very least, an “other” box to make such a pleading on “all proposed forms.”

The committee notes that the council has no authority to provide PHAs or any other landlords blanket relief from California statutory requirements, including the requirement that plaintiffs in unlawful detainer actions must verify that they have applied for rental assistance before a court may issue a summons in such an action. To the extent plaintiffs in an unlawful detainer action assert preemption, or specific exemptions, they may raise such arguments to the court in a specific action, most likely by ex parte application. To address the PHAs’ concerns about the forms, item 13, Other Allegations, has been added to form UD-101. This item provides space for plaintiffs to make any additional assertions they want to make on that form. The committee declined to alter the other forms identified in the comment. The civil complaint form (form PLD-C-500) already contains an item for “other allegations” (item 9). To the extent that PHAs are unable to verify the statements on form UD-120, they can explain their inability to make the verifications on that form or in their request for default.¹³

Second, the PHAs stated that federal law prohibits them from waiving rental debt, rendering them unable to participate in the state’s previous rental assistance program (which provided 80 percent of an eligible household’s rental debt to the landlord in exchange for the landlord’s accepting that amount as full payment of the rental debt) and so unable to complete certain items about rental assistance. Because the previous rental assistance program provisions are no longer in effect, and rental assistance is now to be provided for the full amount of rental debt, not 80 percent, this comment no longer applies and the committee did not modify the proposal in response to it.

¹³Because form UD-125—an application to request relief from forfeiture—will be filled out by defendants only, there is no basis for considering the PHA comments in relation to that form.

Finally, the PHAs asserted that Code of Civil Procedure section 446 exempts public agencies from verifying complaints and, accordingly, the PHAs cannot properly complete form UD-101 or form UD-120. It is not clear to the committee that section 446(a) is broad enough to relieve public agencies from having to comply with other statutory provisions that require verifications outside a pleading, such as the provision in the Health and Safety Code requiring the plaintiff to verify that no rental assistance has been received before the court may issue a judgment. However, the items in forms UD-101 and PLD-C-500 allowing for “other allegations” should be sufficient to permits PHAs to raise the facts they believe support their claims.

Alternatives considered

The alternative of not taking action was not considered. As discussed above, four of the proposed new forms (forms UD-125, SC-500, PLD-C-500, and PLD-C-505) are specifically authorized by statute; the other proposed new forms are related to those first four. The primary revisions to the existing forms are required to conform the content of the forms with the law now in effect. Failure to take action on those forms would result in incorrect and misleading statements of law on the forms. In addition, specifically with respect to the new requirements for issuance of summons in unlawful detainer cases, courts would be faced with having to determine whether individually crafted declarations and pleading complied with the new law.

Fiscal and Operational Impacts

AB 3088, SB 91, and AB 832 will continue to have significant impacts on court operations, including potentially requiring adjustment of case management systems to accept filings beyond the jurisdictional limit of small claims and training staff about the new requirements that must be met for a summons to issue in unlawful detainer actions. The new and revised forms are intended to assist courts in dealing with the impact of the legislation by making it easier for clerks and judicial officers to process and adjudicate unlawful detainer and actions for recovery of COVID-19 rental debt. Court staff, judicial officers, and self-help center staff will need to be trained on the new forms, including when the forms are required and what they contain. Case management systems may need to be adjusted to appropriately handle the new forms.

ANSWER—RECOVERY OF COVID-19 RENTAL DEBT <input type="checkbox"/> TO COMPLAINT OF (name):	CASE NUMBER:

ACTION FOR RECOVERY OF COVID-19 RENTAL DEBT
AS DEFINED UNDER CODE OF CIVIL PROCEDURE SECTION 1179.02
 Access to the records in this case is limited under Code of Civil Procedure section 1161.2.5.

This form must be used to answer Complaint—Recovery of COVID-19 Rental Debt (form PLD-C-500) within 30 calendar days after defendant is served with the complaint. Alternatively, defendant may file a demurrer, motion to strike, or motion to quash within that same time period if any of those responses are appropriate. A cross-complaint may be made on a separate pleading form (Judicial Council forms that have form numbers preceded by PLD) or individually prepared on pleading paper. Defendant may want to consult with an attorney.

If defendant cannot afford to pay filing fees to answer, defendant may ask the court to waive the fees by completing Request to Waive Court Fees (form FW-001), and filing it with the court.

1. Defendant (name or names):
 answers the complaint as follows:

DENIALS (Complete item 2 or item 3, not both.)

2. General Denial (Read the instructions below before checking this item.)

Defendant generally denies each statement in the complaint.

(This item can be checked only if either of the following applies:

- The complaint is not verified. (The complaint is verified if the Verification at the bottom of page 4 of form PLD-C-500 is signed or if a Verification is attached to the form.); or
- The amount demanded in the complaint is $25,000 or less (a limited civil case) AND the debt has not been assigned to someone other than the landlord. (If item 4 on form PLD-C-500 has been checked, this General Denial cannot be checked.)

If this General Denial is checked, go on to item 4.

If this General Denial is not checked, defendant may make the Specific Denials in item 3.)

3. Specific Denials of Allegations in Complaint

Defendant may complete this item if Defendant did not check the general denial box, above. Defendant should complete each section in item 3 below if defendant either

- disagrees that one or more statements in the corresponding section of the complaint is true or correct (list those statements by item number or letter in subpart (1) for each section); or
- does not have enough information or belief to state whether one or more of the statements in the corresponding section of the complaint are true or false (list those statements by item number or letter in subpart (2) for each section).

If defendant agrees with all of the statements in a section of the complaint, do not check any boxes for that section in item 3 below. This will be an admission that all the statements in that section of the complaint are true.

3. c. Allegations About Rental Assistance (items 7 and 8 on form PLD-C-500)

- (1) Defendant denies the following statements in the section of the complaint titled Allegations About Rental Assistance (write the item number of any items in that section of form PLD-C-500 that defendant disagrees with, or explain why defendant disagrees):

- (2) Defendant has no information or belief as to whether the following items in the section titled Allegations About Rental Assistance are true, so denies them (write the item number of any items in that section of form PLD-C-500 that defendant denies on this basis):

d. Other Allegations (item 9 on form PLD-C-500 and any statements in Attachment 9 to the form)

- (1) Defendant denies the following statements in the section of the complaint titled Other Allegations or in Attachment 9 to the complaint (write the item number or letter of any items in that section of form PLD-C-500 or in Attachment 9 that defendant disagrees with, or explain why defendant disagrees. If more room is needed, use form MC-025.)
 - Response is provided on form MC-025, titled as Attachment 3d.

- (2) Defendant has no information or belief as to whether the following items in the section titled Other Allegations or in Attachment 9 are true, so denies them (write the item number or letter of any items in that section of form PLD-C-500 that defendant denies on this basis):

e. Demand for Judgment (item 12 on form PLD-C-500)

- (1) Defendant denies the following statements in the section of the complaint titled Demand for Judgment (write the item number or letter of any items in that section of form PLD-C-500 that defendant disagrees with, or explain why defendant disagrees):

- (2) Defendant has no information or belief as to whether the following items in the section titled Demand for Judgment are true, so denies them (write the item number or letter of any items that defendant denies on this basis):

4. Defenses and Objections

(Check all that apply. NOTE: For each box checked, defendant must state any additional facts needed to support it in item 4m or, if more room is needed, on form MC-025. The parties may disagree about the amount of rent that is owed for various reasons. Read more about these reasons in the California Department of Real Estate's guide at <https://landlordtenant.dre.ca.gov/resources/guidebook/index.html> in the "Living in the Rental Unit" and "Dealing with Problems" sections.)

- a. Defendant delivered to the landlord one or more declarations of COVID-19–related financial distress and (check any that apply)
 - (1) the amount demanded includes late fees on rent or other financial obligations due between March 1, 2020, and September 30, 2021 (Civ. Code, § 1942.9);
 - (2) the amount demanded includes fees for services and the fees that were increased between March 1, 2020, and September 30, 2021, or had not been charged before (Civ. Code, § 1942.9).

- b. Defendant has completed an application for government rental assistance for part or all of the amount demanded, which is still pending, and (check one)
 - (1) a copy of the notification from the government rental assistance program that a completed application was submitted is attached, marked as Attachment 4h.
 - (2) defendant does not have a copy of a notification, but the application was completed with the following government rental assistance program:
(name of program):
(date completed):

Instructions for the person suing:

Do not use this form to recover COVID-19 rental debt, which is unpaid rent or other financial obligations under a tenancy due between March 1, 2020, and September 30, 2021. (See Code of Civil Procedure, §1179.02.) To recover COVID-19 rental debt, use form SC-500, Plaintiff's Claim and ORDER to Go to Small Claims Court.

- You are the plaintiff. The person you are suing is the defendant.
- Before you fill out this form, read form SC-100-INFO, Information for the Plaintiff, to know your rights. You can get form SC-100-INFO at any courthouse or county law library, or go to www.courts.ca.gov/forms.
- Fill out pages 2, 3, and 4 of this form. Make copies of all the pages of this form and any attachments—one for each party named in this case and an extra copy for yourself. Take or mail the original and the copies to the court clerk's office and pay the filing fee. The clerk will write the date of your trial in the box above. Your court may allow electronic filing. Check your local court website for information: www.courts.ca.gov/find-my-court.htm.
- You must have someone at least 18—not you or anyone else listed in this case—give each defendant a court-stamped copy of all pages of this form and any pages this form tells you to attach. There are special rules for “serving,” or delivering, this form to public entities, associations, and some businesses. See forms SC-104, SC-104B, and SC-104C.
- Go to court on your trial date listed above. Bring witnesses, receipts, and any evidence you need to prove your case.

Yes No If no, explain why not:

5 Why are you filing your claim at this courthouse?

This courthouse covers the area (check the one that applies):

- a. (1) Where the defendant lives or does business. (4) Where a contract (written or spoken) was made, signed, performed, or broken by the defendant or where the defendant lived or did business when the defendant made the contract.
- (2) Where the plaintiff's property was damaged.
- (3) Where the plaintiff was injured.
- b. Where the buyer or lessee signed the contract, lives now, or lived when the contract was made, if this claim, is about an offer or contract for personal, family, or household goods, services, or loans. (Code Civ. Proc., § 395(b).)
- c. Where the buyer signed the contract, lives now, or lived when the contract was made, if this claim is about a retail installment contract (like a credit card). (Civ. Code, § 1812.10.)
- d. Where the buyer signed the contract, lives now, or lived when the contract was made, or where the vehicle is permanently garaged, if this claim is about a vehicle finance sale. (Civ. Code, § 2984.4.)
- e. Other (specify): _____
- _____

Requests for Accommodations

Assistive listening systems, computer-assisted real-time captioning, or sign language interpreter services are available if you ask at least five days before the trial. For these and other accommodations, contact the clerk's office for form MC-410, Disability Accommodation Request. (Civ. Code, § 54.8.)

"Small claims court" is a special court where claims for $10,000 or less are decided. Individuals, including "natural persons" and sole proprietors, may claim up to $10,000. Corporations, partnerships, public entities, and other businesses are limited to claims of $5,000. (See below for exceptions.*) The process is quick and cheap. The rules are simple and informal. You are the defendant—the person being sued. The person who is suing you is the plaintiff.

Do I need a lawyer? You may talk to a lawyer before or after the case. But you may not have a lawyer represent you in court (unless this is an appeal from a small claims case).

How do I get ready for court? You don't have to file any papers before your trial, unless you think this is the wrong court for your case. But bring to your trial any witnesses, receipts, and evidence that support your case. And read "Be Prepared for Your Trial" at www.courts.ca.gov/smallclaims/prepare.

What if I need an accommodation? If you have a disability or are hearing impaired, fill out form MC-410, Disability Accommodation Request. Give the form to your court clerk or the ADA/Access Coordinator.

What if I don't speak English well? Ask the court clerk as soon as possible for a court-provided interpreter. You may use form INT-300, Request for Interpreter \(Civil\) or a local court form to request an interpreter. If a court interpreter is unavailable for your trial, it may be necessary to reschedule your trial. You cannot bring your own interpreter for the trial unless the interpreter has been approved by the court as a certified, registered, or provisionally qualified interpreter. (See Cal. Rules of Court, rule 2.893, and form INT-140.)

Where can I get the court forms I need? Go to any courthouse or your county law library, or print forms at www.courts.ca.gov/forms.

What happens at the trial? The judge will listen to both sides. The judge may make a decision at your trial or mail the decision to you later.

What if I lose the case? If you lose, you may appeal. You'll have to pay a fee. (Plaintiffs cannot appeal their own claims.)

- If you were at the trial, file form SC-140, Notice of Appeal. You must file within 30 days after the clerk hands or mails you the judge's decision (judgment) on form SC-200 or form SC-130, Notice of Entry of Judgment.
- If you were not at the trial, fill out and file form SC-135, Notice of Motion to Vacate Judgment and Declaration, to ask the judge to cancel the judgment (decision). If the judge does not give you a new trial, you have 10 days to appeal the decision. File form SC-140.

For more information on appeals, see www.courts.ca.gov/smallclaims/appeals.

Do I have options? Yes. If you are being sued you can:

- Settle your case before the trial. If you and the plaintiff agree on how to settle the case before the trial, the plaintiff must file form CIV-110, Request for Dismissal or a written and signed settlement agreement with the clerk. Ask the Small Claims Advisor for help.

- Prove this is the wrong court. Send a letter to the court before your trial explaining why you think this is the wrong court. Ask the court to dismiss the claim. You must serve (give) a copy of your letter (by mail or in person) to all parties. (Your letter to the court must say you have done so.)
- Go to the trial and try to win your case. Bring witnesses, receipts, and any evidence you need to prove your case. To have the court order a witness to go to the trial, fill out form SC-107, Small Claims Subpoena and Declaration, and have it served on the witness.
- Sue the person who is suing you. If you have a claim against the plaintiff, and the claim is appropriate for small claims court as described on this form, you may file Defendant's Claim (form SC-120) and bring the claim in this action. If your claim is for more than allowed in small claims court, you may still file it in small claims court if you give up the amount over the small claims value amount, or you may file a claim for the full value of the claim in the appropriate court. If your claim is for more than allowed in small claims court and relates to the same contract, transaction, matter, or event that is the subject of the plaintiff's claim, you may file your claim in the appropriate court and file a motion to transfer the plaintiff's claim to that court to resolve both matters together. You can see a description of the amounts allowed in the paragraph above, titled "Small Claims Court."
- Agree with the plaintiff's claim and pay the money. Or, if you can't pay the money now, go to your trial and say you want to make payments.
- Let the case "default." If you don't settle and do not go to the trial (default), the judge may give the plaintiff what he or she is asking for plus court costs. If this happens, the plaintiff can legally take your money, wages, and property to pay the judgment.

What if I need more time?

You can change the trial date if:

- You cannot go to court on the scheduled date (you will have to pay a fee to postpone the trial), or
- You did not get served (receive this order to go to court) at least 15 days before the trial (or 20 days if you live outside the county).

Ask the Small Claims Clerk about the rules and fees for postponing a trial. Or fill out form SC-150 (or write a letter) and mail it to the court and to all other people listed on your court papers before the deadline. Enclose a check for your court fees, unless a fee waiver was granted.

* Exceptions: Different limits apply in an action against a defendant who is a guarantor. (See Code Civ. Proc., § 116.220(c).) Limits do not apply in an action to recover COVID-19 rental debt. (See Code Civ. Proc., §§ 116.223 & 1179.02; form SC-500.)

La “Corte de reclamos menores” es una corte especial donde se deciden casos por $10,000 o menos. Los individuos, o sea las “personas físicas” y los propietarios por cuenta propia, pueden reclamar hasta $10,000. Las corporaciones, asociaciones, entidades públicas y otras empresas solo pueden reclamar hasta $5,000. (Vea abajo para las excepciones.*) El proceso es rápido y económico. Las reglas son sencillas e informales. Usted es el Demandado—la persona que se está demandando. La persona que lo está demandando es el Demandante.

¿Necesito un abogado? Puede hablar con un abogado antes o después del caso. Pero no puede tener a un abogado que lo represente ante la corte (a menos que se trate de una apelación de un caso de reclamos menores).

¿Cómo me preparo para ir a la corte? No tiene que presentar ningún documento antes del juicio, a menos que piense que ésta es la corte equivocada para su caso. Pero lleve al juicio cualquier testigos, recibos y pruebas que apoyan su caso. Y lea “Esté preparado para su juicio” en www.courts.ca.gov/reclamosmenores/prepares.

¿Qué hago si necesito una modificación? Si tiene una discapacidad o tiene impedimentos de audición, llene el formulario MC-410, Solicitud de modificaciones para discapacidad. Entregue el formulario al secretario de la corte o al Coordinador de Acceso/ADA de su corte.

¿Qué pasa si no hablo bien inglés? Solicite un intérprete al secretario de la corte lo más pronto posible. Puede usar el formulario INT-300 o un formulario de su corte local. Si no está disponible un intérprete de la corte para su juicio, es posible que se tenga que cambiar la fecha de su juicio. No puede llevar su propio intérprete para el juicio a menos que el intérprete haya sido aprobado por la corte como un intérprete certificado, registrado, o provisionalmente calificado. (Vea la regla 2.893 de las Reglas de la Corte de California, y el formulario INT-140.)

¿Dónde puedo obtener los formularios de la corte que necesito? Vaya a cualquier edificio de la corte, la biblioteca legal de su condado, o imprima los formularios en www.courts.ca.gov/smallclaims/forms (página está en inglés).

¿Qué pasa en el juicio? El juez escuchará a ambas partes. El juez puede tomar su decisión durante la audiencia o enviársela por correo después.

¿Qué pasa si pierdo el caso? Si pierde, puede apelar. Tendrá que pagar una cuota. (El Demandante no puede apelar su propio reclamo.)

- Si estuvo presente en el juicio, llene el formulario SC-140, Aviso de apelación (Notice of Appeal). Tiene que presentarlo dentro de 30 días después de que el secretario le entregue o envíe la decisión (fallo) del juez en el formulario SC-200 o SC-130, Aviso de publicación del fallo (Notice of Entry of Judgment).
- Si no estuvo en el juicio, llene y presente el formulario SC-135, Aviso de petición para anular el fallo y Declaración para pedirle al juez que anule el fallo (decisión). Si la corte no le otorga un nuevo juicio, tiene 10 días para apelar la decisión. Presente el formulario SC-140.

Para obtener más información sobre las apelaciones, vea www.courts.ca.gov/reclamosmenores/apelaciones.

¿Tengo otras opciones? Sí. Si lo están demandando, puede:

- Resolver su caso antes del juicio. Si usted y el Demandante se ponen de acuerdo en cómo resolver el caso antes del juicio, el Demandante tiene que presentar el formulario CIV-110 Solicitud de desestimación (Request for Dismissal) o un acuerdo de resolución escrito y firmado al secretario de la corte. Pídale al Asesor de Reclamos Menores que lo ayude.

- Probar que es la corte equivocada. Envíe una carta a la corte antes del juicio explicando por qué cree que es la corte equivocada. Pídale a la corte que despida el reclamo. Tiene que entregar (dar) una copia de su carta (por correo o en persona) a todas las partes. (Su carta a la corte tiene que decir que hizo la entrega.)
- Ir al juicio y tratar de ganar el caso. Lleve testigos, recibos y cualquier prueba que necesite para probar su caso. Si desea que la corte emita una orden de comparecencia para que los testigos vayan al juicio, llene el formulario SC-107, Citatorio de reclamos menores (Small Claims Subpoena) y entrégueselo legalmente al testigo.
- Demandar a la persona que lo demandó. Si tiene un reclamo contra el Demandante, y el reclamo se puede presentar en la corte de reclamos menores, tal como se describe en este formulario, puede presentar el formulario SC-120, Reclamo del demandado (Defendant’s Claim) y presentarlo en este mismo caso. Si su reclamo excede el límite permitido en la corte de reclamos menores, puede igualmente presentarlo en la corte de reclamos menores si está dispuesto a limitar su reclamo al máximo permitido, o puede presentar un reclamo por el monto total en la corte apropiada. Si su reclamo excede el límite permitido en la corte de reclamos menores y está relacionado con el mismo contrato, transacción, asunto o acontecimiento que el reclamo del Demandante, puede presentar su reclamo en la corte apropiada y presentar una moción para transferir el reclamo del Demandante a dicha corte, para poder resolver los dos reclamos juntos. Puede ver una descripción de los montos permitidos en el párrafo anterior titulado “Corte de reclamos menores”.
- Aceptar el reclamo del Demandante y pagar el dinero. O, si no puede pagar en ese momento, vaya al juicio y diga que quiere hacer los pagos a plazos.
- No ir al juicio y aceptar el fallo por falta de comparecencia. Si no llega a un acuerdo con el Demandante y no va al juicio (fallo por falta de comparecencia), el juez le puede otorgar al Demandante lo que está reclamando más los costos de la corte. En ese caso, el Demandante legalmente puede tomar su dinero, su sueldo o sus bienes para cobrar el fallo.

¿Qué hago si necesito más tiempo? Puede cambiar la fecha del juicio si:

- No puede ir a la corte en la fecha programada (tendrá que pagar una cuota para aplazar el juicio), o
- No le entregaron los documentos legalmente (no recibió la orden para ir a la corte) por lo menos 15 días antes del juicio (ó 20 días si vive fuera del condado).

Pregúntele al secretario de reclamos menores sobre las reglas y las cuotas para aplazar un juicio. O llene el formulario SC-150 (o escriba una carta) y envíelo antes del plazo a la corte y a todas las otras personas que figuran en sus papeles de la corte. Adjunte un cheque para pagar los costos de la corte, a menos que le hayan dado una exención.

¿Necesita ayuda? El Asesor de Reclamos Menores de su condado le puede ayudar sin cargo.

O visite www.courts.ca.gov/reclamosmenores/asesores.

* Excepciones: Existen diferentes límites en un reclamo contra un garante. (Vea el Código de Procedimiento Civil, sección 116.220 (c).) Los límites no se aplican a las acciones para reclamar una deuda de alquiler del COVID-19. (Vea el Código de Procedimiento Civil, secciones 116.223 y 1179.02; y el formulario SC-500.)

What is “service”?

“Service” or “serving” is when someone—not you or anyone else listed in this case—gives a copy of your court papers to the person, business, or public entity you are suing. Service lets the other party know:

- What you are asking for;
- When and where the trial will be; and
- What the party can choose to do.

There are strict rules for serving court papers. This form explains how to serve these forms:

- Form SC-100, Plaintiff’s Claim
- Form SC-120, Defendant’s Claim
- Form SC-500, Plaintiff’s Claim (COVID-19 Rental Debt)

How is service done?

This form tells you how to serve by personal service or substituted service.

Personal service means someone gives the papers directly to the person being sued or to the agent authorized to accept service (business or public entity).

Substituted service means someone gives the papers to an adult where the person lives, works, or receives mail (including a private post office box, but not a U.S. Postal Service P.O. Box).

What if the court papers do not get served?

The judge cannot hear your case unless the court papers were served correctly.

Can the court serve the papers for me?

Yes. You can pay the court to mail your claim to the person you are suing. But if the person you are suing or the person’s agent for service doesn’t sign the U.S. Postal Service mail receipt with his or her complete name, or if someone else signs the receipt, you will have to serve again using personal or substituted service.

Who can serve?

You can ask a friend, a process server, or the sheriff. The server must be at least 18 and not listed in the case. A “process server” is someone you pay to deliver court forms. Look in the Yellow Pages under “Process Serving.” The sheriff (or marshal if your county has one) can also deliver court forms. Ask the court clerk how to contact the sheriff. Or look in the county section of your phone book under “Sheriff.” You must pay the server, unless you qualify for a fee waiver.

How is personal service done?

Ask someone who is at least 18 and not listed in this case to personally “serve” (give) a copy of your court papers to the person or the agent authorized to accept court papers for the person, business, or public entity listed on form SC-104.

Give the server a separate Proof of Service form for each person, business, or public entity you are suing. And tell the server to:

- Walk up to the person to be served.
- Say, “These are court papers.”
- Give the person copies of all papers checked on form SC-104, Proof of Service. If the person won’t take the papers, just leave them near the person. It doesn’t matter if the person tears them up.
- Fill out and sign page 2 of form SC-104, Proof of Service.

How is substituted service done?

If you don’t want to use personal service or can’t find the person to be served, ask someone who is at least 18 and not listed in this case to serve the court papers.

Give the server a separate Proof of Service form for each person, business, or public entity you are suing. Tell the server to give the papers to:

- A competent adult (at least 18) at the home of and living with the person to be served or
- An adult who seems to be in charge where the person to be served usually works or
- An adult who seems to be in charge where the person receives mail (including a private mailbox, but not a U.S. Postal Service P.O. Box). Note: This is only for cases where the physical address of the person to be served is not known.

Then do the following:

- Write down that person’s name and say, “Please give these court papers to [name of person to be served].” If the person does not want to give his or her name, describe the person you served.
- Give that person copies of all papers checked on form SC-104, Proof of Service. If the person won’t take the papers, just leave them near the person.
- Mail another copy of the papers (by first-class mail) to the person being sued at the same address where you left the papers.
- Fill out and sign page 2 of form SC-104, Proof of Service.

What does the server do with the original Proof of Service form?

If a process server or sheriff served the papers, he or she can file form SC-104, Proof of Service, with the clerk. If the server used a different Proof of Service form, ask him or her to list each paper served on the form. Also make sure that the registered server will file the original directly with the court and will mail you a copy of the filed form. Take it with you when you go to court.

If a friend served the papers, tell him or her to give the completed form back to you. Keep a copy for your records and take the copy with you when you go to court.

You need to file the original completed Proof of Service form 5 days before your trial.

When do the court forms have to be served?

- If you are serving form SC-100, Plaintiff’s Claim, or form SC-500, Plaintiff’s Claim (COVID-19 Rental Debt), look at the trial date on page 1. Then, look at a calendar.

For personal service, subtract 15 days from the trial date (or 20 days if the person, business, or public entity is located outside the county). That’s the deadline for serving your small claims forms. But you can serve the forms before the deadline.

For substituted service, subtract 25 days from the date the server mailed a copy of the court papers served (or 30 days if the person, business, or public entity is located outside the county). That’s the deadline for serving your small claims forms. But you can serve the forms before the deadline.

If the person, business, or public entity to be served is outside California or if you are serving a different form, ask the Small Claims Advisor for more information.

- If you are serving form SC-120, Defendant’s Claim, look at the trial date on page 1. Then look at a calendar.

For personal or substituted service, subtract 5 days from the trial date. That’s the deadline for serving your small claims forms if you were served at least 11 days before the trial. If you were served 10 days or less before the trial date, you must serve at least 1 day before the trial. But you can serve the forms before the deadline.

What if I can’t get the court papers served before the trial?

If you were not able to serve your claim (form SC-100, SC-120, or SC-500) before the deadline for service, talk to your Small Claims Clerk. Each county has its own rules.

If you already served your claim on some parties but not everyone you are suing, you may need to fill out and file form SC-150, Request to Postpone Trial, at least 10 days before the trial date (or explain why you couldn’t meet the 10-day deadline). Then give or mail a copy of this form to all other plaintiffs and defendants listed on your court papers.

The court may postpone your trial for 15 days or more.

Who do I have to serve?

If you are suing a person (or people)—not a business or public entity—serve each person you are suing. For example, if you were in a car accident and you are suing the owner and the driver of the car, you must list the names of the owner and the driver on your claim and serve both people.

Examples:

If the owner and driver are the same person:
Lee Smith, owner and driver

If the owner and driver are not the same person:
Lee Smith, owner and driver
Bob Smith, owner

If you are suing a business, an association, or a public entity, read form SC-104C, How to Serve a Business.

3 The plaintiff claims the defendant owes $ _____ for COVID-19 rental debt (unpaid rent or other financial obligations of a tenant that came due in the period from March 1, 2020, to September 30, 2021). (Code Civ. Proc., § 1179.02.) (Explain amount below.)

a. Rent. List all rent you claim defendant owes that came due in the period from March 1, 2020, to September 30, 2021. For each month you claim rent is due, include each amount due and the date it came due.

b. Other amounts of COVID-19 rental debt. List all unpaid financial obligations under the lease or rental agreement (other than rent) that you claim defendant owes and that came due during the period in (a) above. For each month you claim other financial obligations are due, include each amount, the date it came due, and what it was for (for example, parking fees or utilities included as part of the rental agreement).

Check here if you need more space. Attach one sheet of paper or form MC-031, and write "SC-500, Item 3" at the top.

4 Amounts paid or offsets.

List any amounts you received from defendant, rental assistance programs, and other third parties that you have already credited, and any other amounts you have offset or credited, for rent or other financial obligations due between March 1, 2020, and September 30, 2021, that you are not claiming in item 3 above. Include each amount, when it was paid or credited, and what it was for.

Check here if you need more space. Attach one sheet of paper or form MC-031, and write "SC-500, Item 4" at the top.

5 You must ask the defendant (in person, in writing, or by phone) to pay you before you sue. Have you done this?

Yes No If no, explain why not:

Plaintiff (list names):

Case Number:

6 Why are you filing your claim at this courthouse?

This courthouse covers the area (check one that applies):

- a. Where the defendant lives or does business.
b. Where the rental agreement, lease, or contract (written or spoken) was made, signed, performed, or broken by the defendant or where the defendant lived or did business when the defendant made the contract.
c. Other (specify):

7 List the zip code of the place checked in 6 above (if you know it):

8 Have you filed more than 12 other small claims within the last 12 months in California?

Yes No If yes, the filing fee for this case will be higher.

9 Plaintiff must make a good-faith effort to help defendant obtain rental assistance before filing this case. Check all that apply below. You must also attach documentation of those efforts or, if you do not have documentation, describe your effort below.

Plaintiff made a good-faith effort to help defendant obtain rental assistance before filing this case, as required under Code of Civil Procedure section 871.10(a), by:

- a. Investigating whether governmental rental assistance is available to the tenant;
b. Seeking governmental rental assistance for the tenant; or
c. Cooperating with the tenant's efforts to obtain rental assistance from any governmental entity or other third party.

Check here if documentation is attached. If not attached, describe your efforts below.

Blank lines for describing efforts if documentation is not attached.

10 I understand that the court cannot issue a judgment for me if I have received rental assistance for the amounts I am claiming from defendant. (Both statements must be true.)

- a. I have not received rental assistance or other financial compensation from any other source corresponding to any of the amount claimed in item 3 above; and
b. I do not have any application pending for rental assistance or other financial compensation from any other source corresponding to any of the amount claimed in item 3 above.

11 I understand that by filing a claim in small claims court, I have no right to appeal this claim.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the information above and on any attachments to this form is true and correct.

Requests for Accommodations

Assistive listening systems, computer-assisted real-time captioning, or sign language interpreter services are available if you ask at least five days before the trial. For these and other accommodations, contact the clerk's office for Disability Accommodation Request (form MC-410). (Civ. Code, § 54.8.)

"Small claims court" is a special court where generally only claims for $10,000 or less are decided. This limitation has been lifted for cases for recovery of COVID-19 rental debt.* The process is quick and cheap. The rules are simple and informal. You are the defendant—the person being sued. The person who is suing you is the plaintiff.

Do I need a lawyer? You may talk to a lawyer before or after the case. But you may not have a lawyer represent you in court (unless this is an appeal from a small claims case).

How do I get ready for court? Read form SC-500-INFO, COVID-19 Rental Debt in Small Claims Court. You don't have to file any papers before your trial, unless you think this is the wrong court for your case. But bring to your trial any witnesses, receipts, and evidence that support your case. And read "Be Prepared for Your Trial" at www.courts.ca.gov/smallclaims/prepare.

Where can I get the court forms I need? Go to any courthouse or your county law library, or get forms at www.courts.ca.gov/forms.

What if I need an accommodation? If you have a disability or are hearing impaired, fill out form MC-410, Disability Accommodation Request. Give the form to your court clerk or the ADA/Access Coordinator.

What if I don't speak English well? Ask the court clerk as soon as possible for a court-provided interpreter. You may use form INT-300, Request for Interpreter \(Civil\), or a local court form to request an interpreter. If a court interpreter is unavailable for your trial, it may be necessary to reschedule your trial. You cannot bring your own interpreter for the trial unless the interpreter has been approved by the court as a certified, registered, or provisionally qualified interpreter. (See Cal. Rules of Court, rule 2.893, and form INT-140.)

What happens at the trial? The judge will listen to both sides. The judge may make a decision at your trial or mail the decision to you later.

What if I lose the case? If you lose, you may appeal. You'll have to pay a fee. (Plaintiffs cannot appeal their own claims.)

- If you were at the trial, file form SC-140, Notice of Appeal. You must file within 30 days after the clerk hands or mails you the judge's decision (judgment) on form SC-200 or form SC-130, Notice of Entry of Judgment.
- If you were not at the trial, fill out and file form SC-135, Notice of Motion to Vacate Judgment and Declaration, to ask the judge to cancel the judgment (decision). If the judge does not give you a new trial, you have 10 days to appeal the decision. File form SC-140.

For more information on appeals, see www.courts.ca.gov/smallclaims/appeals.

Do I have options? Yes. If you are being sued, you can:

- Settle your case before the trial. If you and the plaintiff agree on how to settle the case before the trial, the plaintiff must file form CIV-110, Request for Dismissal or a written and signed settlement agreement with the clerk. Ask the Small Claims Advisor for help.

*Limits do not apply in an action to recover COVID-19 rental debt, which is unpaid rent or other financial obligations of a tenant that are due between March 1, 2020, and Sept. 30, 2021. (See Code Civ. Proc., §§ 116.223 & 1179.02.) Read SC-500-INFO, COVID-19 Rental Debt in Small Claims Court.

- Prove this is the wrong court. Send a letter to the court before your trial explaining why you think this is the wrong court. Ask the court to dismiss the claim. You must serve (give) a copy of your letter (by mail or in person) to all parties. (Your letter to the court must say you have done so.)
- Go to the trial and try to win your case. Bring witnesses, receipts, and any evidence you need to prove your case. To have the court order a witness to go to the trial, fill out form SC-107, Small Claims Subpoena and Declaration and have it served on the witness.
- Sue the person who is suing you. If you have a claim against the plaintiff, and the claim is for $10,000 or less, you may file Defendant's Claim and ORDER to Go to Small Claims Court (form SC-120) and bring the claim in this action. If your claim is for more than allowed in small claims court, you may still file it in small claims court if you give up the amount over the small claims value amount, or you may file a claim for the full value of the claim in the appropriate court. If your claim is for more than allowed in small claims court and relates to the same contract, transaction, matter, or event that is the subject of the plaintiff's claim, you may file your claim in the appropriate court and file a motion to transfer the plaintiff's claim to that court to resolve both matters together. You can see a description of the amounts allowed in the paragraph above, titled "Small Claims Court."
- Agree with the plaintiff's claim and pay the money. Or, if you can't pay the money now, go to your trial and say you want to make payments.
- Let the case "default." If you don't settle and do not go to the trial (default), the judge may give the plaintiff what he or she is asking for plus court costs. If this happens, the plaintiff can legally take your money, wages, and property to pay the judgment. (But not your rental unit; this is not an eviction case.)

What if I need more time?

You can change the trial date if:

- You cannot go to court on the scheduled date (you will have to pay a fee to postpone the trial), or
- You did not get served (receive this order to go to court) at least 15 days before the trial (or 20 days if you live outside the county).

Ask the Small Claims Clerk about the rules and fees for postponing a trial. Or fill out form SC-150 (or write a letter) and mail it to the court and to all other people listed on your court papers before the deadline. Enclose a check for your court fees, unless a fee waiver was granted.

La “Corte de reclamos menores” es una corte especial donde generalmente se deciden casos por $10,000 o menos. Se suspendió este límite para acciones para reclamar una deuda de alquiler del COVID-19.* El proceso es rápido y económico. Las reglas son sencillas e informales. Usted es el Demandado—la persona que se está demandando. La persona que lo está demandando es el Demandante.

¿Necesito un abogado? Puede hablar con un abogado antes o después del caso. Pero no puede tener a un abogado que lo represente ante la corte (a menos que se trate de una apelación de un caso de reclamos menores).

¿Cómo me preparo para ir a la corte? Lea el formulario SC-500-INFO, La deuda de alquiler del COVID-19 en la corte de reclamos menores. No tiene que presentar ningún documento antes del juicio, a menos que piense que ésta es la corte equivocada para su caso. Pero lleve al juicio los testigos, recibos y pruebas que apoyan su caso. Y lea “Esté preparado para su juicio” en www.courts.ca.gov/reclamosmenores/preparesse.

¿Dónde puedo obtener los formularios de la corte que necesito? Vaya a cualquier edificio de la corte, la biblioteca legal de su condado, o imprima los formularios en www.courts.ca.gov/smallclaims/forms (página está en inglés).

¿Qué hago si necesito una modificación? Si tiene una discapacidad o tiene impedimentos de audición, puede llenar el formulario MC-410, Solicitud de modificaciones para discapacidad. Entregue el formulario al secretario de la corte o al Coordinador de Acceso/ADA de su corte.

¿Qué pasa si no hablo bien inglés? Solicite un intérprete al secretario de la corte lo más pronto posible. Puede usar el formulario INT-300 o un formulario de su corte local. Si no está disponible un intérprete de la corte para su juicio, es posible que se tenga que cambiar la fecha de su juicio. No puede llevar su propio intérprete para el juicio a menos que el intérprete haya sido aprobado por la corte como un intérprete certificado, registrado, o provisionalmente calificado. (Vea la regla 2.893 de las Reglas de la Corte de California, y el formulario INT-140.)

¿Qué pasa si pierdo el caso? Si pierde, puede apelar. Tendrá que pagar una cuota. (El Demandante no puede apelar su propio reclamo.)

- Si estuvo presente en el juicio, llene el formulario SC-140, Aviso de apelación (Notice of Appeal). Tiene que presentarlo dentro de 30 días después de que el secretario le entregue o envíe la decisión (fallo) del juez en el formulario SC-200 o SC-130, Aviso de publicación del fallo (Notice of Entry of Judgment).
- Si no estuvo en el juicio, llene y presente el formulario SC-135, Aviso de petición para anular el fallo y Declaración para pedirle al juez que anule el fallo (decisión). Si la corte no le otorga un nuevo juicio, tiene 10 días para apelar la decisión. Presente el formulario SC-140.

Para obtener más información sobre las apelaciones, vea www.courts.ca.gov/reclamosmenores/apelaciones.

¿Tengo otras opciones? Sí. Si lo están demandando, puede:

- Resolver su caso antes del juicio. Si usted y el Demandante se ponen de acuerdo en cómo resolver el caso antes del juicio, el Demandante tiene que presentar el formulario CIV-110 Solicitud de desestimación (Request for Dismissal) o un acuerdo de resolución escrito y firmado al secretario de la corte. Pídale al Asesor de Reclamos Menores que lo ayude.

*Los límites no se aplican a las acciones para reclamar una deuda de alquiler del COVID-19, que se define como alquiler u otras obligaciones financieras impagas de un inquilino que vencieron entre el 1 de marzo de 2020 y el 30 de septiembre de 2021. (Vea el Código de Procedimiento Civil, secciones 116.223 y 1179.02.) Lea el formulario SC-500-INFO, La deuda de alquiler del COVID-19 en la corte de reclamos menores.

- Probar que es la corte equivocada. Envíe una carta a la corte antes del juicio explicando por qué cree que es la corte equivocada. Pídale a la corte que despida el reclamo. Tiene que entregar (dar) una copia de su carta (por correo o en persona) a todas las partes. (Su carta a la corte tiene que decir que hizo la entrega.)
- Ir al juicio y tratar de ganar el caso. Lleve testigos, recibos y cualquier prueba que necesite para probar su caso. Si desea que la corte emita una orden de comparecencia para que los testigos vayan al juicio, llene el formulario SC-107, Citatorio de reclamos menores (Small Claims Subpoena) y entrégueselo legalmente al testigo.
- Demandar a la persona que lo demandó. Si tiene un reclamo contra el Demandante, y el reclamo se puede presentar en la corte de reclamos menores, tal como se describe en este formulario, puede presentar el formulario SC-120, Reclamo del demandado (Defendant's Claim) y presentarlo en este mismo caso. Si su reclamo excede el límite permitido en la corte de reclamos menores, puede igualmente presentarlo en la corte de reclamos menores si está dispuesto a limitar su reclamo al máximo permitido, o puede presentar un reclamo por el monto total en la corte apropiada. Si su reclamo excede el límite permitido en la corte de reclamos menores y está relacionado con el mismo contrato, transacción, asunto o acontecimiento que el reclamo del Demandante, puede presentar su reclamo en la corte apropiada y presentar una moción para transferir el reclamo del Demandante a dicha corte, para poder resolver los dos reclamos juntos. Puede ver una descripción de los montos permitidos en el párrafo anterior titulado “Corte de reclamos menores”.
- Aceptar el reclamo del Demandante y pagar el dinero. O, si no puede pagar en ese momento, vaya al juicio y diga que quiere hacer los pagos a plazos.
- No ir al juicio y aceptar el fallo por falta de comparecencia. Si no llega a un acuerdo con el Demandante y no va al juicio (fallo por falta de comparecencia), el juez le puede otorgar al Demandante lo que está reclamando más los costos de la corte. En ese caso, el Demandante legalmente puede tomar su dinero, su sueldo o sus bienes para cobrar el fallo. (Pero no su hogar alquilado; esto no es un caso de desalojo.)

¿Qué hago si necesito más tiempo? Puede cambiar la fecha del juicio si:

- No puede ir a la corte en la fecha programada (tendrá que pagar una cuota para aplazar el juicio), o
- No le entregaron los documentos legalmente (no recibió la orden para ir a la corte) por lo menos 15 días antes del juicio (o 20 días si vive fuera del condado).

Pregúntele al secretario de reclamos menores sobre las reglas y las cuotas para aplazar un juicio. O llene el formulario SC-150 (o escriba una carta) y envíelo antes del plazo a la corte y a todas las otras personas que figuran en sus papeles de la corte. Adjunte un cheque para pagar los costos de la corte, a menos que le hayan dado una exención.

Beginning November 1, 2021, a landlord has the option to bring an action in small claims court to recover COVID-19 rental debt that is more than the normal limits for small claims actions. The purpose of bringing these claims in small claims court is to resolve disputes about COVID-19 rental debt. The small claims court cannot determine possession of residential property or evict a tenant from property.

What is COVID-19 rental debt?

COVID-19 rental debt means any unpaid rent or any other money owed under a residential lease or residential rental agreement (for example, parking fees or utility payments) that came due between March 1, 2020, and September 30, 2021.

What is small claims court?

Small claims court is a special court where disputes are resolved quickly and inexpensively. The rules are simple and informal. You may ask a lawyer for advice before you go to court, but you cannot have a lawyer in court.

Who are the parties in a small claims case?

- The person who sues is the plaintiff, the landlord in these cases. If the landlord is a business, an employee such as a property manager may go to a small claims trial for the landlord (use form SC-109, Authorization to Appear).
- The person who is sued is the defendant, the tenant in these cases. There may be more than one tenant paying rent for a single residence. The landlord may want to name all tenants as defendants.

How does a COVID-19 rental debt case start in the small claims court?

The landlord must:

- Complete and file form SC-500, Plaintiff's Claim and ORDER to Go to Small Claims Court \(COVID-19 Rental Debt\);
- Attach documentation showing the landlord's good-faith efforts to seek rental assistance (examples of documentation include emails, texts, and notes from phone calls); and
- Serve the form on the tenants (see form SC-100-INFO, Information for the Plaintiff).

How does a tenant respond?

A tenant does not need to file any papers before the trial date. Tenants should go to court on the day of trial with evidence about the amount of COVID-19 rental debt owed, if any.

What should tenant take to small claims court for a COVID-19 rental debt case?

Both the landlord and the tenant in a small claims action for COVID-19 rental debt can present arguments and evidence about how much money they believe is owed, how much has already been paid, and other factors that can affect the amount of COVID-19 rental debt that must be paid.

The parties should bring the rental agreement, any rental receipts, and any other receipts or other documents that show the following:

- The amounts of COVID-19 rental debt owed and the dates on which each amount came due. Remember that COVID-19 rental debt means rent and other financial obligations that came due between March 1, 2020, and September 30, 2021.
- Any amounts that the tenant paid toward the rent or other financial obligations and the dates of payment.
- Any other amounts of rent or other obligations that were paid through rental assistance programs or other third parties on behalf of the tenant.
- Any evidence of conditions affecting the residence, such as items needing repair.
- Any evidence to support arguments made to determine the amount of money owed.

Page 2 of this information sheet provides a list of some of the arguments that landlords and tenants can make to help the court determine the amount of COVID-19 rental debt that is owed.

Can you bring a witness to small claims court?

Both the landlord and the tenant may bring witnesses to the trial who can tell the court what they know about the COVID-19 rental debt, the condition of the home, and agreements between the landlord and the tenant about the need for repairs and payment for repairs.

What arguments can you make?

The landlord and tenant may disagree about the amount of rent that is owed for various reasons. Read more about these reasons in the California Department of Real Estate's guide at landlordtenant.dre.ca.gov/resources/guidebook/index.html, in the "Living in the Rental Unit" and "Dealing with Problems" sections. Below are questions that can help you identify the issues that may exist in the case and may affect the amount of rent owed.

Please note: This list does not include every possible argument. Other laws, including local ordinances, may affect the rights of landlords and tenants in COVID-19 rental debt cases.

- Did landlord make a good-faith effort to:
 - Investigate whether governmental rental assistance is available to the tenant;
 - Seek governmental rental assistance for the tenant; or
 - Cooperate with the tenant's efforts to obtain rental assistance from any governmental entity or other third party under Civil Code section 1947.3(a)(3)?
- Is there any pending application for rental assistance or other financial compensation from any other source corresponding to the amount claimed?
- Did landlord receive rental assistance or other financial compensation from any other source corresponding to the amount claimed?
- Did landlord improperly apply payments to past-due rent without the tenant's written agreement?
- Does the amount claimed include service fees that were increased or not previously charged?
- Does the amount claimed include late fees on rent or other financial obligations?
- Did landlord improperly raise the rent?
- Did tenant or a third party offer a rental payment that landlord would not accept?
- If the lease or rental agreement was terminated, was the security deposit returned? Read more about the rules for security deposits at www.courts.ca.gov/selfhelp-eviction-security-deposits.htm.
- Did tenant make needed repairs and properly deduct the cost from the rent? If so, did landlord give proper credit?
- Did landlord fail to provide habitable premises? This means that if the housing did not meet certain standards, the amount owed may be reduced.

Note: It is illegal for a landlord to retaliate against a tenant for raising any of the above issues or any of the defenses listed on form UD-105, Answer—Unlawful Detainer

Can a tenant file a claim in the landlord's case?

A tenant who is a defendant in a COVID-19 rental debt case may bring a claim against the landlord in the same case using form SC-120, Defendant's Claim and ORDER to Go to Small Claims Court.

What if you disagree with the court's decision?

If you are a tenant, you may appeal the decision on a claim filed against you. More information about appeals is available in the information at the end of Plaintiff's Claim and ORDER to Go to Small Claims Court \(COVID-19 Rental Debt\) (form SC-500) and at www.courts.ca.gov/smallclaims/appeals.

If you are the landlord, you cannot appeal a small claims decision on a claim you filed. (Note that a landlord has the option of filing a COVID-19 rental debt recovery case in general civil court use form [Complaint—Recovery of COVID-19 Rental Debt (form PLD-C-500)]. In general civil court, all parties may appeal the court's decision and all parties may be represented by lawyers.)

How much does it cost to file a case in small claims court?

The amount the court charges a landlord to file a case in small claims court depends on the amount demanded and how many cases are brought by the landlord in a single year. The filing fees for small claims cases are listed on the Statewide Civil Fee Schedule, available at www.courts.ca.gov/7646.htm. There is no fee for the tenant to go to the hearing.

What if you cannot afford the filing fee?

If you want to sue someone in small claims court and cannot afford to pay court fees and costs, you may not have to pay. The court may waive all or part of those fees if you: Are getting public benefits; or

- Are a person with very low income; or
- Do not have enough income to pay for your
- household's basic needs and your court fees.

To ask the court to waive your fees in small claims court, complete form FW-001, Request to Waive Court Fees. File your request with the court.

Where can you get help with a small claims case?

- Small Claims Advisors. Every county has a Small Claims Advisor who is available to help you with your small claims case. These services are free. To find the Small Claims Advisor in your county, go to www.courts.ca.gov/selfhelp-advisors.htm.
- Forms and online help. You can find small claims forms and more information about small claims court at the California Courts Online Self-Help Center www.courts.ca.gov/smallclaims. You can also get forms and help at your county law library or the courthouse nearest you.
- Local court websites. Your local court may have additional information and help for your small claims matter. Visit your court's website for current information on small claims hearing procedures. For help finding your court, visit www.courts.ca.gov/find-my-court.htm.
- Legal services organizations. Local organizations may be able to assist parties in preparing for court. Parties may be able to find a legal service organization that serves their area at <http://lawhelpca.org/>.
- Lawyers. Both parties may ask a lawyer about the case, but a lawyer may not represent either party in court at the small claims trial. Generally, after judgment and on appeal, both parties may be represented by lawyers.

What help is available when you go to court?

- Accommodations for disability. If you have a disability and need an accommodation while you are at court:
 - You can use form MC-410, Disability Accommodation Request, to tell the court about your needs.
 - For more information about making a disability accommodation request, see form MC-410-INFO, How to Request a Disability Accommodation for Court.
 - Remember to submit your request to the ADA Coordinator or designated person in your court.
 - Visit your court's website to find the ADA Coordinator or designated person. For help finding your court, go to www.courts.ca.gov/find-my-court.htm.
- Interpreters. If you do not speak English well:
 - Ask the court clerk as soon as possible for a court-provided interpreter.
 - You may use form INT-300, Request for Interpreter \(Civil\), or a local court form to request an interpreter.
 - If no court interpreter is available at the time of your trial, it may be necessary to reschedule your trial.
 - You cannot bring your own interpreter for the trial unless the interpreter has been approved by the court as a certified, registered, or provisionally qualified interpreter. See Cal. Rules of Court, rule 2.893, and form INT-140, Temporary Use of a Noncertified or Nonregistered Spoken Language Interpreter.

Who can look at your case file?

If you are sued in small claims court for nonpayment of COVID-19 rental debt, only the following people may see the case file:

- The parties (landlords and tenants).
- A person who gives the court clerk the name of at least one landlord and one tenant.
- A person who lives in the residence for which COVID-19 rental debt is owed who shows proof of residency and gives the clerk the case number or the name of one of the parties.
- A person who gets an order from the court after showing that they have good cause to see the case file.

- f. By serving defendant with the notice to quit or filing the complaint, plaintiff is arbitrarily discriminating against the defendant in violation of the Constitution or the laws of the United States or California.
- g. Plaintiff's demand for possession violates the local rent control or eviction control ordinance of (city or county, title of ordinance, and date of passage):
(Also, briefly state in item 3w the facts showing violation of the ordinance.)
- h. Plaintiff's demand for possession is subject to the Tenant Protection Act of 2019, Civil Code section 1946.2 or 1947.12, and is not in compliance with the act. (Check all that apply and briefly state in item 3w the facts that support each.)
- (1) Plaintiff failed to state a just cause for termination of tenancy in the written notice to terminate.
- (2) Plaintiff failed to provide an opportunity to cure any alleged violations of terms and conditions of the lease (other than payment of rent) as required under Civil Code section 1946.2(c).
- (3) Plaintiff failed to comply with the relocation assistance requirements of Civil Code section 1946.2(d).
- (4) Plaintiff has raised the rent more than the amount allowed under Civil Code section 1947.12, and the only unpaid rent is the unauthorized amount.
- (5) Plaintiff violated the Tenant Protection Act in another manner that defeats the complaint.
- i. Plaintiff accepted rent from defendant to cover a period of time after the date the notice to quit expired.
- j. Plaintiff seeks to evict defendant based on an act against defendant or a member of defendant's household that constitutes domestic violence, sexual assault, stalking, human trafficking, or abuse of an elder or a dependent adult. (This defense requires one of the following: (1) a temporary restraining order, protective order, or police report that is not more than 180 days old; OR (2) a signed statement from a qualified third party (e.g., a doctor, domestic violence or sexual assault counselor, human trafficking caseworker, or psychologist) concerning the injuries or abuse resulting from these acts.)
- k. Plaintiff seeks to evict defendant based on defendant or another person calling the police or emergency assistance (e.g., ambulance) by or on behalf of a victim of abuse, a victim of crime, or an individual in an emergency when defendant or the other person believed that assistance was necessary.
- l. Plaintiff's demand for possession of a residential property is in retaliation for nonpayment of rent or other financial obligations due between March 1, 2020, and September 30, 2021, even though alleged to be based on other reasons. (Civ. Code, § 1942.5(d); Gov. Code, § 12955.)
- m. Plaintiff's demand for possession of a residential property is based on nonpayment of rent or other financial obligations due between March 1, 2020, and September 30, 2021, and (check all that apply):
- (1) Plaintiff did not serve the general notice or notices of rights under the COVID-19 Tenant Relief Act as required by Code of Civil Procedure section 1179.04.
- (2) Plaintiff did not serve the required 15-day notice. (Code Civ. Proc., § 1179.03(b) or (c).)

PLAINTIFF: DEFENDANT:	CASE NUMBER:
--------------------------	--------------

3. m. (3) Plaintiff did not provide an unsigned declaration of COVID-19–related financial distress with the 15-day notice. (Code Civ. Proc., § 1179.03(d).)
- (4) Plaintiff did not provide an unsigned declaration of COVID-19–related financial distress in the language in which the landlord was required to provide a translation of the rental agreement. (Code Civ. Proc., § 1179.03(d).)
- (5) Plaintiff identified defendant as a “high-income tenant” in the 15-day notice, but plaintiff did not possess proof at the time the notice was served establishing that defendant met the definition of high-income tenant. (Code Civ. Proc., § 1179.02.5(b).)
- (6) Defendant delivered to plaintiff one or more declarations of COVID-19–related financial distress and, if required as a “high-income tenant,” documentation in support. (Code Civ. Proc., §§ 1179.03(f) and 1179.02.5.)
(Describe when and how delivered and check all other items below that apply):
- (a) Plaintiff’s demand for payment includes late fees on rent or other financial obligations due between March 1, 2020, and September 30, 2021.
- (b) Plaintiff’s demand for payment includes fees for services that were increased or not previously charged.
- (c) Defendant, on or before September 30, 2021, paid or offered plaintiff payment of at least 25% of the total rental payments that were due between September 1, 2020, and September 30, 2021, and that were demanded in the termination notices for which defendant delivered the declarations described in (a). (Code Civ. Proc., § 1179.03(g)(2).)
- (7) Defendant is currently filing or has already filed a declaration of COVID-19–related financial distress with the court. (Code Civ. Proc., § 1179.03(h).)
- n. Plaintiff’s demand for possession of a residential property is based on nonpayment of rent or other financial obligations due between October 1, 2021, and March 31, 2022, and (check all that apply):
- (1) Plaintiff’s notice to quit did not contain the required contact information for the pertinent governmental rental assistance program, or the other content required by Code of Civil Procedure section 1179.10(a).
- (2) Plaintiff’s notice to quit did not include a translation of the statutorily required notice. (Code Civ. Proc., § 1179.10(a)(2) and Civ. Code, § 1632.)
- o. For a tenancy initially established before October 1, 2021, plaintiff’s demand for possession of a residential property is based on nonpayment of rent or other financial obligations due between March 1, 2020, and March 31, 2022, and (check all that apply):
- (1) Plaintiff did not complete an application for rental assistance to cover the rental debt demanded in the complaint before filing the complaint in this action.
- (2) Plaintiff’s application for rental assistance was not denied.
- (3) Plaintiff’s application for rental assistance was denied for a reason that does not support issuance of a summons or judgment in an unlawful detainer action (check all that apply):
- (a) Plaintiff did not fully or properly complete plaintiff’s portion of the application. (Code Civ. Proc., § 1179.09(d)(2)(A).)
- (b) Plaintiff did not apply to the correct rental assistance program. (Code Civ. Proc., § 1179.09(d)(2)(C).)
- (4) Rental assistance has been approved and tenant is separately filing an application to prevent forfeiture (form UD-125).
- p. Plaintiff’s demand for possession of a residential property is based on nonpayment of rent or other financial obligations and (check all that apply):
- (1) Plaintiff received or has a pending application for rental assistance from a governmental rental assistance program or some other source relating to the amount claimed in the notice to pay rent or quit. (Health & Saf. Code, §§ 50897.1(d)(2)(B) and 50897.3(e)(2).)
- (2) Plaintiff received or has a pending application for rental assistance from a governmental rental assistance program or some other source for rent accruing since the notice to pay rent or quit. (Health & Saf. Code, §§ 50897.1(d)(2)(B) and 50897.3(e)(2).)
- (3) Plaintiff’s demand for possession is based only on late fees for defendant’s failure to provide landlord payment within 15 days of receiving governmental rental assistance. (Health & Saf. Code, § 50897.1(e)(2)(B).)

6.	Law Offices of Michael P. Flattery by Michael P. Flattery Attorney Los Angeles	AM	Needs clarification. The Summary refers to "residential tenancies". Can these forms be used in "commercial tenancies." There are a lot of commercial landlords that need to be able to pursue deferred rent from tenants, and need to know if these forms can be used for that purpose. If so, on the forms or somewhere, it needs to say that the forms can be used for commercial and/or residential claims. I do understand that there is currently no rental assistance for commercial tenants and habitability and other potential defenses may not be available. The rights and responsibilities and commercial and residential tenants and landlords needs to be clearly identified/stated. The residential landlords and tenants are given information and direction. The commercial landlords and tenants need the same. Thank you	The committee notes that Code of Civil Procedure section 1179.02 excludes commercial tenancies from the definition of “COVID-19 rental debt” by expressly excepting “tenants of commercial property” from the definition of “tenant.” Accordingly, the small claims and civil pleading forms in the proposal do not apply to commercial tenancies. To alert filers that form PLD-C-500 cannot be used for actions to recovery commercial rental debt, an instruction has been added to the top of that proposed form.
7.	Housing Authority of the City of Los Angeles by Kito Robinson Smith Staff Attorney	AM	The Judicial Council of California forms and instructions as drafted do not appear to contemplate use by or make any exceptions for public housing authorities (“PHA”). PHAs administer public housing programs pursuant to federal law, regulations, and guidance from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (“HUD”). There are direct conflicts with laws governing PHAs. The U.S. Supreme Court has recognized that “considerable weight should be accorded to an executive department’s construction of a statutory scheme it is entrusted to administer, and the principle of deference to administrative interpretations.” [FN i Chevron, U.S.A. Inc. v Natural Resources Defense Council, Inc., et al. (1984) 467 U.S. 837, 844, [Attachment 1] ² .] Moreover, deference should be given to HUD guidance when enforcing laws governing a public housing program. 			Comments: PHAs administer a federally-funded public housing program and are obligated to comply with federal laws and regulations. These laws and regulations cover such topics as what rent must be collected by PHAs and privacy protections for tenants. [FN ii Unlike private housing providers that may charge whatever rent the market can bear, PHAs subsidize the housing provided and generally only charge rent based on a fixed percentage (30%) of a tenant’s income, down to a “minimum rent” that at the Housing Authority of the City of Los Angeles is only $50 per month.] AB832 and other eviction moratoria conflict with these federal laws and regulations, and guidance by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development. [See comments below on specific issues.]
8.	Housing Authority of the City of San Buenaventura by Denise Wise Chief Executive Officer & Tiernan Dolan General Counsel	NI	Thank you for the opportunity to comment on the proposed forms to be used in unlawful detainer actions after the California eviction moratorium ends. We are concerned that the forms do not contemplate the various exemptions from state law that public housing authorities (PHA) may claim when pursuing an unlawful detainer action. As discussed in more detail below, the various obligations of a plaintiff to pursue emergency rental assistance will place an irremediable conflict upon our PHA. We look forward to the Council resolving these issues in an even-handed manner that will allow PHAs to pursue an unlawful detainer action without having to violate Federal statutes and HUD regulations. [See comments below on specific issues.]	The committee appreciates the information provided.

Every year, LAFLA provides free, high-quality legal services to more than 100,000 people living in poverty across the Greater Los Angeles Area. We change lives through direct representation, systems change, and community education. In the wake of the COVID-19 pandemic, hundreds of thousands of tenants were faced with job losses and wage losses. Nearly 900,000 households in California are currently behind on rent. Once the current moratorium on evictions are lifted many landlords will seek to sue tenants in small claims courts to get back rent owed. Unlike general civil litigation cases, individuals defending themselves in small claims court cannot be represented by an attorney, and most are not familiar with the court system or the applicable laws to present their best defense. Asian Americans Advancing Justice – Asian Law Caucus	The rapidly changing and complex eviction laws make it difficult to create simple forms that will allow pro se litigants a meaningful opportunity to assert these protections. Our comments on the forms below are primarily aimed at simplifying the language to make it easier for litigants to understand. Several parts of the form would benefit from rewording to simplify the language. We suggest changing the second paragraph in the caption to read “To obtain a summons in an unlawful detainer action for nonpayment of rent on a residential property filed before March 31, 2022, a plaintiff must verify that the plaintiff applied for governmental rental assistance, which was not granted, or that the tenancy began after September 30, 2021. (See item 3.)” This simplifies the sentence and makes it more readable. We also suggest rewording the third paragraph in the caption to read “To obtain a judgment in an unlawful detainer action for nonpayment of rent on a residential property, a plaintiff must verify that no rental assistance or other financial compensation has been received for the amount demanded in the notice or accrued afterward, that no application is pending for such assistance, and that no application for such assistance has been approved. To obtain a default judgment, plaintiff must use Verification by Landlord Regarding Rental Assistance (form UD-120) to make this verification and provide other information required by statute.” This simplifies the sentence, removes passive voice, and clarifies that the plaintiff may not obtain a judgment if they have received rental assistance, if an application is pending, or if an application is approved. The language in paragraph 3(c)(1) could more closely mirror CCP § 1179.11(a)(1)(B) by including where the decision came from. We suggest changing it to “a copy of a final decision from the pertinent government rental	In light of this comment, the language in the second paragraph of the caption has been simplified in the proposal. In light of this comment, the language in the third paragraph of the caption has been simplified in the proposal. The committee declines to change “accruing” to “accrued” as Health and Safety Code section 50897.3(e)(2) uses “accruing.” Similarly, that section, or any other section, does not contain a requirement that plaintiff verify that no application for rental assistance has been approved, and accordingly the committee declines that suggestion as well. The committee concluded that the additional language does not make the instruction clearer, and so declines the suggestion.

The note outlines what is not a final decision, but this is not exhaustive of what does or does not meet the definition. Language can include: (See Code of Civ. Proc., § 1179.09(d) to learn more about what “final decision” means.) This language also closely mirrors language from 3b on page 1 on defining “initially established.” In paragraph 3(c)(2), after “the following are true” we suggest adding “(See Health & Safety § 50897 to learn more about what a “completed application” is.)” This tracks with CCP § 1179.11(a)(2)(A) where it states, “Before filing the complaint, the landlord submitted a completed application, as defined in Section 50897 of the Health and Safety Code...” The language in paragraph 3(c)(2)(b) could be more specific to better align with CCP § 1179.11(a)(2)(C). We suggest changing the language to “Plaintiff has not received a notice or obtained verification from the governmental agency that defendant submitted a completed application for rental assistance.” Currently, the form does not include language about obtaining verification as an alternative to notice. For paragraph 8(a), we suggest several changes. 	Section 3(c)(2)(a) refers to a “three-day notice to pay rent or quit.” However, AB 843 refers to “the three-day notice underlying the complaint.” period (Code of Civ. Proc. § 1179.11 (a)(2)(B)(ii)). Since AB 832 covers not only rent – but other financial obligations, the three-day notice may be a three-day notice to perform conditions/covenants or quit, served under Code of Civ. Proc. § 1161(3), as result a result of the tenant’s failure to pay non-rent charges such as for utilities, parking or storage, or to pay the landlord for damage to the unit as required by the rental agreement. CAA recommends that the language from the statute be used. Section 7(d) refers to “rent due.” However, Code of Civ. Proc. § 1179.03(g)(2)(B) requires payment of 25% of the “transition rental payment demanded.” This term is not limited to rent – rather it includes rent and other financial obligations of the tenant under the tenancy that came due during the transition period. CAA recommends that subsection 7(d) refer to “rent or other financial obligations” as in the heading for Section 7.	In light of this comment, item 3(c)(2)(a) now refers to “the three-day notice underlying the complaint.” The committee has made such a change in the proposal.

Gary Starre	If a landlord did not give one of the 3 required notices under CCP 1179.04, has he lost the right to evict a tenant, or even collect from the tenant? There needs to be a method to apply for relief from that forfeiture.	Determining whether failure to provide one or more of the required notices prevents eviction, and creating a process to apply for relief from that potential consequence is beyond the purview of the committee.

Asian Americans Advancing Justice – Asian Law Caucus	In general, because of the high number of unrepresented litigants, and particularly litigants who are limited in limited English proficiency, we would recommend simplifying sections of UD-105 to help self-represented litigants understand the affirmative defenses on the UD-105 form. This will ensure that pro per litigants are able to determine whether it applies to their eviction situation, and if so, check the box so that they are not unfairly deprived of the opportunity to raise the defense to the court. For paragraph 3(n)(1), an explanation is needed for the phrase “other required content,” that follows the sentence: “Plaintiff’s notice to quit did not contain the required contact information for the pertinent governmental rental assistance program, “or other required content.” For self-represented litigants, this phrasing is vague and confusing. We would recommend that the Judicial Council provide an example of what is meant by the phrase to help the self-represented litigant understand what that phrase means so they may determine whether the affirmative defense applies to their situation. We suggest adding Civil Code §1632 (California Language Translation Act) to paragraph 3(n)(2): “Plaintiff did not translate the statutorily required notice to quit as required by statute. (Code Civ. Proc. 1179.10(a)(2)(D)).” Paragraph 3(p) contains minor errors and is worded in a confusing way. We suggest editing paragraph 3(p)(1) in simplified language to state: “Plaintiff received or has applied for rental assistance for the amount claimed in the notice to pay rent or quit. (Health & Saf. Code, §§ 50897.1(d)(2)(B) and 50897.3(e)(2).)	The committee declines this suggestion as after reviewing the affirmative defenses the committee did not determine that any changes were appropriate. In light of the comment, the end of item 3(n)(1) now reads, “or the other content required in Code of Civil Procedure section 1179.10(a).” Providing examples of some but not all required content may confuse defendants and there is insufficient room to provide all required content. In light of this and other comments, item 3(n)(2) now reads, “Plaintiff’s notice to quit did not include a translation of the statutorily-required notice. (Code Civ. Proc., § 1179.10(a)(2) and Civ. Code, § 1632.)” The committee declines this suggestion as plaintiff may have applied for assistance and been denied, in which case defendant would not have a defense.

	Paragraph 3(p)(2) should replace the word accruing with “rent the tenant owes”: Plaintiff received or has applied for rental assistance from the State Rental Assistance Program for rent the tenant owes since the notice to pay rent or quit. (Health & Saf. Code 50897.1(d)(2)(B) and 50897.3(e)(2).) Paragraph 3(p)(3) states “Plaintiff’s demand for payment includes late fees charged for defendant’s failure to remit a rental assistance payment to landlord within 15 business days. (Health & Saf. Code, § 50897.1(e)(2)(B).)” Remit is not a commonly used word and this subsection would be easier to understand if the word “remit,” is replaced with “pay.” Plaintiff’s demand for payment includes late fees charged for defendant’s failure to pay rental assistance to landlord within 15 business days. (Health & Saf. Code 50897.1(e)(2)(B).) Lastly, we disagree with the Judicial Council’s recommendation to remove all of the eviction protections under federal law. While many of the protections are likely to end by the time that tenants being evicted from their homes use the updated UD-105 form, there is one protection that the Judicial Council has removed from the UD-105 which still remains, and that is the protection under the CARES Act, Section 4024(c), which is still in effect for tenants in covered housing, and that requires the expiration of a 30-day notice to quit before eviction commences. This is a necessary affirmative defense that we have used to keep families, survivors of domestic violence, and individuals in low-income communities housed during this pandemic. Presently, this defense is in UD-105 at paragraph 3(q). We would respectfully request that the Judicial Council add this back to the Defenses and objections section of UD-105 since those protections have not expired as Congress made those protections permanent in the reauthorization of the CARES Act.	The committee declines this suggestion as the Health and Safety Code uses the word “accruing.” In light of this comment and others, item 3(p)(3) now reads, “Plaintiff’s demand for possession is based only on late fees for defendant’s failure to provide landlord payment within 15 days of receiving government rental assistance. (Health & Saf. Code, § 50897.1(e)(2)(B).)” The committee notes that Health and Safety Code section 50897.1(e)(2)(B) uses the word, “provide.” In light of this comment, item 3(r) now contains a defense relating to plaintiff not providing the required notice to evict under the federal CARES Act.

	Add a jury request box Tenants are being asked to complete and understand a very large number of forms due to the new COVID-19 protections. As we raised in prior comment letters, it would simplify the process if there were a jury request box on the Answer form to facilitate tenants’ ability to exercise their constitutional right to a jury.	The committee declines this suggestion as no such item exists on the form complaint or on any other Judicial Council pleading form, and adding it would represent a significant departure from current practice, and also because this suggestion is outside the scope of this proposal. The committee notes that any party may request a jury trial using form UD-150, Request/Counter Request to Set for Trial as explained on the California Court’s Self-Help web page.
California Apartment Association	Section 3(n)(2) refers to translation of the “statutorily required notice to quit as required by statute.” However, Code of Civ. Proc. § 1179.10(a)(2)(D) requires a translation of the notice text in subparagraph (C), not the entire three-day notice. CAA recommends that Section 3(n)(2) be revised as follows: Plaintiff did not translate the statutorily include a translation of the required notice text in the notice to quit, as required by statute. Section (3)(r)’s scope is overbroad Code of Civ. Proc. § 1179.04.5’s prohibition on application of security deposits to COVID-19 rental debt and application of payments to prospective rent does not apply to a landlord’s application of the deposit or payments prior to the provision’s effective date of January 29, 2021. CAA recommends that Section 3(r) be revised as follows: On or after January 29, 2021, Plaintiff improperly applied payments made by defendants...	In light of this and other comments, item 3(n)(2) now reads, “Plaintiff’s notice to quit did not include a translation of the statutorily-required notice. Jane Wong	The proposed UD-105 does a good job of being very thorough and including many possible defenses under state law. Paragraph 3 (Defenses and Objections) is so thorough, in fact, that I’m afraid it will soon run out of letters in the alphabet to list out all defenses. On a more serious note, my concern is that this lengthy 5-page Answer form, while useful for tenant attorneys, is confusing and overwhelming for pro per tenants. Since the UD-	The committee declines this suggestion as the answer form proposed by the commenter only permits defendants to make a general denial, which may not be appropriate in all cases and may lead to default judgments. Additionally, failure to provide affirmative defenses at the

	105 is the only Judicial Council Answer form that exists, tenants have no choice but to file either this long and legally dense form or to try and figure out what “pleading paper” means under the Rules of Court (a non-option). And they must do this within an impossibly short time period of 5 business days from being served the Summons and Complaint. What is sorely lacking is a second optional Judicial Council Answer form that is feasible for a pro per tenant to fill out and file in under one hour – which is oftentimes all the time they have before a default judgment will be entered against them. Creating a second Answer form would prevent wrongful evictions by enabling more pro per tenants to successfully file an Answer within the 5 business days, preventing unnecessary default judgments and giving tenants the opportunity to amend their Answer with more thorough defenses. As it stands, the average default judgment rate of Unlawful Detainers in California is about 40 percent. Much of this unfortunate statistic is due to the impossibly short time period of 5 business days within which tenants must file a response after being served. There is no need to exacerbate this logistical challenge for pro per tenants by limiting them to one Judicial Council Answer form that is long, confusing, and unwieldy for non-lawyers. The second Judicial Council Answer form would ideally be one page long. I have created a sample mock-up of what I envision for this form (attached here [and pasted below]). Thank you for your consideration.	outset in an action that by statute must proceed to trial quickly may result in defendants waiving those defenses. Developing a one-page answer form is also outside the scope of the proposal.

Application to Prevent Forfeiture Due to COVID-19 Rental Debt (Form UD-125)
Commenter	Comment	Committee Response
Asian Americans Advancing Justice – Asian Law Caucus	Omit from the caption “for the court to stop the eviction process, the defendant may have to pay any amounts demanded in the complaint that the rental assistance does not cover.” This borders on legal advice and may confuse pro per litigants and deter them from seeking relief under C.C.P. §1179.13.	The committee notes that Code of Civil Procedure section 1179.13(a)(3) conditions a court preventing forfeiture of a lease on the “approved payment from the rental assistance program, together with any additional payments made by the tenant, constitut[ing] full payment of the rental debt demanded in the complaint.” The caption now contains a citation to that section, but the committee otherwise declines the suggestion because omitting the language may mislead filers.
Community Legal Aid SoCal	SUPPORT OF THE NEW APPLICATION TO PREVENT FORFEITURE DUE TO COVID-19 RENTAL DEBT (FORM UD-125) Many of the remedies available to unlawful detainer defendants are often inaccessible due to the complicated legal motions that must be drafted to obtain the relief. Examples of this are Motions to Set Aside Judgments and Stays of Execution of Judgments. Often tenants are not able to obtain the legal help they need to prepare these complex motions on the short timeframes they have to respond in unlawful detainer cases. For this reason, the Application to Prevent Forfeiture Due to COVID-19 Rental Debt (form UD-125) will be of great assistance to pro per tenants. It appears simple to fill out making it accessible to the majority of tenants. This will allow tenants to assert their legal rights even if they are unable to get legal assistance.	The committee appreciates the information provided.

Plaintiff's Claim and ORDER to Go to Small Claims Court (Form SC-100)

California Apartment Association	The first bullet in the “Instructions for the person suing” states that the form should not be used “for an action for recovery of COVID-19 rental debt as defined under Code of Civil Procedure section 1179.02”. CAA requests that the definition of that term be included in the instructions, rather than requiring the plaintiff to look up the definition in the Code of Civil Procedure.	In light of this comment and others, a definition of COVID-19 rental debt has been added to the first page of the form.
Christine Copeland	Form SC-100 Information for the defendant, page 5 Under “ How do I get ready for court? ” The second sentence reads “But bring to your trial any witnesses, receipts and evidence that supports your case.” I think “supports” should be “support.”	The committee has modified the form in light of this comment.
Legal Aid Foundation of Los Angeles	LAFLA agrees with the Committee’s revision to Form SC-100 to alert plaintiffs that there is a separate, mandatory form for cases to recover COVID-19 rental debt. We propose the following additional changes be made to Form SC-100: Under “Instructions for the person suing” the box stating the form should not be used for recovery of COVID-19 rental debt should include the dates specified under Cal. Civ. Proc. § 1179.02 (March 1, 2020 – September 30, 2021). The dates are necessary to ensure that pro se plaintiffs can easily distinguish if they are using the correct form. The “Information for the defendant” page should include instructions for the defendant to follow if the plaintiff improperly filed an action for recovery of COVID-19 rent debt on the SC-100 form.	The committee appreciates the commenter’s agreement with that aspect of the proposal, which has been retained. In light of this comment and others, a definition of COVID-19 rental debt has been added to the first page of the form. The committee declines this suggestion as defendant may raise the issue at trial.
Neighborhood Legal Services of Los Angeles County by Ana Maria Garcia	On the SC-100 - Information for Defendant - the defendants are told they do not have to answer - and this might give the wrong impression. They will be at a disadvantage if they do not respond to the Plaintiff's claim in writing, prior to the hearing date on the claim. It will be harder to present their case to the Judge because they have nothing on file. These are not trained lawyers and the amount of time they will have to present the case may not be enough.	The committee appreciates the information provided and notes that providing a procedure for defendants to file an answer in small claims court is beyond the scope of this proposal and would fundamentally alter the process of small claims court.

Christine Copeland	SC-103 Fictitious Business Name It would be nice to make clear that this form is mandatory , so that court clerks do not file a Plaintiff’s claim or a Defendant’s claim if SC-103 is required by a litigant’s answer to Item 1 on SC-100 or item 2 on SC-120 but not presented for filing.	The committee declines this suggestion as failure to include form SC-103 is not a basis for the clerk to not file a claim. To the extent commenter suggests that form SC-103 should be a mandatory form and not an optional form, such a change is outside the scope of this proposal and should be circulated for comment.
Community Legal Aid SoCal	Form SC-500 is a claim form and is therefore subject to the service requirements of section 116.340. The current Small Claims Proof of Service (form SC-104) will need to be modified to include Plaintiff’s Claim and ORDER to Go to Small Claims Court (COVID-19 Rental Debt) (form SC-500). Form SC-500 should be included in section 3 on the first page of the SC-104. While the proposed modifications to the Small Claims forms include adding references to SC-500 in the revised What is Proof of Service? (Small Claims) (form-104B), the modifications omit including SC-500 on the actual Proof of Service (form SC-104.)	The committee declines this suggestion as form SC-104 already contains an “other” checkbox with a blank line that can be used to specify that form SC-500 was served.
Legal Aid Foundation of Los Angeles	Additional Small Claims Forms – Request for Adoption of New Judgment Form for COVID-19 Rental Debt LAFLA further recommends that the Judicial Council and Small Claims Advisory Committee consider revising the existing small claims judgment forms (SC-130 and SC-200) or create a new small claims judgment form for recovery of COVID-19 rental debt. LAFLA suggests this action because COVID-19 rental debt varies compared to typical small claims judgments or consumer debt. Proc. § 1161.2.5) The current judgment forms (SC-130 and SC-200) do not address the new laws relating to COVID-19 rental debt. At the very least, these judgment forms should be revised with information pertaining to the differences described above. Furthermore, LAFLA recommends that a revised form or new form include a clear disclaimer that the small claims judgment for COVID-19 rental debt is not an eviction and that this judgment cannot be used to require a tenant/defendant to move out of their home. It is vital that litigants are aware of these differences. Plaintiffs must be put on notice of these key differences to avoid inadvertently violating COVID-19 rental debt assignment laws. Defendants must be on notice of these laws so they can raise proper defenses in collection actions. Improper assignment and reporting of debt can have a detrimental impact on an individual’s financial security and well-being, even resulting in bankruptcy. A revised or new form would advise litigants of these important protections relating to COVID-19 rental debt.
Neighborhood Legal Services of Los Angeles County by Ana Maria Garcia	Finally, the Request for Order and Answer [form SC-105] is a difficult form to understand if you are a self-represented litigant. This is basically a Motion to Dismiss - the claim a Defendant makes when they feel the claim was filed in the wrong place. The Defendant is requesting an Order from the Court and the Answer is from the Judge on their motion to dismiss. The title of the document should be changed. The use of the word Answer is misleading. It is not the Answer of the Litigant but of the Judge to the Litigant's request to dismiss the case.	The committee declines this suggestion as it is outside the scope of the proposal.

California Apartment Association	CAA requests that the definition of COVID-19 rental debt be included in the box at the top of the form rather than requiring the plaintiff to look up the definition in the Code of Civil Procedure.	The committee declines this suggestion as there is insufficient room to include such a definition, but notes that a definition of COVID-19 rental debt appears on form SC-500-INFO in the proposal.
Christine Copeland	It appears that the SC-500 is referenced and envisioned to be only a component of a Plaintiff’s claim. For instance, see the language at the proposed new SC-100 item 3 and/or see the title of SC-500. The fact this form is limited to Plaintiff’s claims assumes that all landlords filing for past-due Covid-19 rent will be Plaintiffs. However, a landlord wanting to collect past-due Covid-19 rent could be filing an SC-120 into a case started by the Plaintiff/tenant. For example, a Plaintiff/tenant sues a landlord/Defendant for return of a security deposit. In response, a Defendant/landlord might file a claim, via SC-120, asking for Covid-19 related past-due rent. This does	The committee declines this suggestion as such cases will likely be rare as a tenant with a claim against a landlord is unlikely to be initiating a case if they owe the landlord past rent. The more likely scenario is that a landlord initiates a claim to recover COVID-19 rental debt and the tenant wishes to initiate a counterclaim against the landlord. For an example, see Santa Clara County Superior Court case number 21SC085321 at https://portal.scscourt.org/case/NDQxMTU5MA== The case link above shows that Plaintiff/tenant filed a claim for return of a security deposit; Defendant/landlord filed a counterclaim (SC-120) on 7/23/21 asking for unpaid rent (it was filed prematurely given AB832 but that is not the point here). A landlord filing an SC-120 form seeking past-due Covid-19 rent should be required to file SC-500 instead just like if that landlord was a Plaintiff. So SC-500 should be “ambidextrous” in a sense-make it apply to either a Plaintiff/landlord or a Defendant/landlord, and adjust all other forms (i.e. SC-500-INFO) accordingly. Form SC-500, page 3 item 3(a) - the rent dates range listed is from 3/1/20 through 9/30/21. If so, do we want to say that and change the 9/30/21 cutoff to 10/31/21 instead? The same comment applies to the asterisked item at the bottom of SC-500, page 5- right before the parenthetical, we have the 9/30/21 date as a cutoff for the filing restriction. Community Legal Aid SoCal	The new Plaintiff's Claim and ORDER to Go to Small Claims Court (COVID-19 Rental Debt) (form SC-500) meets the objectives and requirements of Assembly Bill 832. However, because of the many requirements set forth in AB 832, form SC-500 is more complicated than the existing Plaintiff's Claim and ORDER to Go to Small Claims Court (form-SC-100) and as a result may be confusing to Small Claims litigants. Proposed form SC-500 requires plaintiffs to break out the elements of the total amount claimed, to list the amount they claim the defendant owes as rent, and the date it came due, and to separately list any other amounts of COVID-19 rental debt being claimed and when those amounts became due. Item 4 requires plaintiffs to list any payments made by or on behalf of defendants, and any offsets credited to them. As the form is written it may be confusing for litigants to differentiate what to include under sections a) and b) of Item 3. Litigants may need addition clarification regarding what to list as “other amounts of Covid 19 rental debt.” Thus, clarifying language and brief examples of the types of various financial obligations that may be considered COVID-19 Rental Debt should be added directly on to Section 3 b of form SC-500. Creating a custom attachment with columns listing the dates, amounts and description, for items 3 and 4 of form SC-500 may also be useful. This could help to keep the required information organized and easier for the litigants and Judicial Officers to understand.	In light of this comment and others, item 3(b) on form SC-500 in the proposal now includes “(for example, parking fees or utilities included as part of the rental agreement).” While the committee considered replacing items 3 and 4 with a table, the committee declines this suggestion because using a table to collect information about the amount claimed presented additional concerns. 		example, it would be challenging to capture multiple payments made in a single month by different sources and without providing multiple lines for each month over a 19-month period, a table could not easily capture multiple “other financial obligations” due each month and what they were for. On the other hand, a plaintiff alleging only that rent is due for a certain number of months, with no payments received, will only need a small amount of space to describe the claims.

	defendant in obtaining rental assistance, as required by Civ. Proc. § 871.10(a). This separate, mandatory form will reduce confusion among litigants and small claims commissioners/judges to streamline the small claims process in COVID-19 rental debt cases. Keeping this in mind, LAFLA proposes the following changes be made to Form SC-500: In “Notice to the Person Being Sued” the language about eviction should be simplified for pro se litigants. For example, the disclaimer could state “(Note: You are being sued in small claims court. This is not an eviction notice and this case cannot result in your eviction).” The instructions in Item 3 should clarify that any rent paid by the defendant or a third party will be accounted for in Item 4. Item 3 should further instruct that any amount claimed in Item 4 should not be included in the total amount plaintiff claims that the defendant owes. Instructions for Item 3 should also note that plaintiff’s claim for amount owed should exclude court fees and that late fees may not be charged to COVID-19 rental debt per Civ. Proc. § 1942.9. Item 4 should be titled more clearly for pro se litigants. The title should model the plaintiff/defendant language used in Item 3 and state “amounts paid by defendant or third party and offsets” to clarify what to account for in Item 4. The definition of third party should be provided to make clear that it includes payments from rental assistance programs.	The committee has bolded the disclaimer on page 1 and changed “The . . . case” to “This . . . case,” but otherwise declines to change the language as it may be more confusing. The committee declines this suggestion as it may make the form more confusing and item 4 already alerts filers that item 4 is for amounts “that you are not claiming in item 3.” The committee declines this suggestion as court fees are never included as part of the amount demanded and to the extent plaintiff claims late fees, they must be included in item 3(b). The committee declines to change the title of item, but has changed the instruction to include “amounts you received from defendant, rental assistance programs, and other third-parties.”

Neighborhood Legal Services of Los Angeles County by Ana Maria Garcia	The SC-500 Plaintiff's Claim is pretty thorough and will lay out the Plaintiff's claims fully and completely for the Court and for the Defendant when served. The requirement that the Defendant is not required to file an Answer seems to put the tenant at a disadvantage. While the Petitioner's claim is in writing and the Judge can read it and understand it prior to hearing, the defendant would be left to lay out his side of the story with nothing written down, presented to the Judge beforehand. This does not seem to be a level playing field. The Judge should have the plaintiff's claim and Defendant's Answer in writing, so that the Judge can review and prepare adequately for the hearing. The PLD-C-505 is a civil Answer for Recovery of Rental Debt. This document seems to set out the tenant's options including defenses. However, this document is not for a small claims case - it is for a civil action. Why can't the tenants in a Small Claims Case prepare an Answer? Why can't this form be adapted to be used in Small Claims?	The committee appreciates the information provided and notes that providing a procedure for defendants to file an answer in small claims court is beyond the scope of this proposal, and would fundamentally alter the process of small claims court.
Neighborhood Legal Services of Los Angeles County by Michael Massman	In section 3a on Form SC-500, I would prefer to see a chart with spaces to write in the months and the amount owed (and paid) for that month, rather than an open space to write in a list. Without such a chart, there may not be the desired level of detail in the accounting. As noted in the background section for the proposed forms, there is no discovery in Small Claims; thus, this form is the most likely way that defendants will receive information about their alleged debt. A more explicit month-by-month breakdown will encourage more comprehensive information, as well as a more digestible and uniform approach to listing the alleged rental debt.	While the committee considered replacing items 3 and 4 with a table, the committee declines this suggestion because using a table to collect information about the amount claimed presented additional concerns. For example, it would be challenging to capture multiple payments made in a single month by different sources and without providing multiple lines for each month over a 19-month period, a table could not easily capture multiple

Asian Americans Advancing Justice – Asian Law Caucus	Under “What is COVID-19 rental debt?” clarification needs to be added that it doesn’t matter why the tenant did not pay the rent (whether it was related to COVID or not) only that it came due in this time period. The language in “What arguments can you make?” needs to be made simpler to provide meaningful access to pro per tenants.	The committee declines this suggestion as unnecessary. The committee declines this suggestion as after reviewing page two of proposed form SC-500-INFO the committee did not determine that any changes were appropriate. However, in response to this comment, the issues identified under “What arguments can you make?” were reordered so that the ones most likely to appear in these cases are presented first.
California Apartment Association	CAA requests that “repair costs for damage to the unit” be added to the examples of what can constitute COVID-19 rental debt in the first question. On page 3, the last question, “Who can look at your case file?” addresses the masking requirements imposed by Code of Civ. Proc. § 1161.2.5. That code section refers to a “resident of the premises for which COVID-19 rental debt is owed,” not a person who lives “at the property” for which COVID-19 rental debt is owed, as is stated in the third bullet. The masking provision does not allow any person who lives at the property (i.e., in another unit in the same building) to look up their neighbor’s court records. The use of premises in this provision refers to the specific rental unit where rent was unpaid.	The committee declines this suggestion as it is not clear from Code of Civil Procedure section 1179.02 that such damages are included within the definition of COVID-19 rental debt. In light of this comment, “property” was changed to “residence” in “who can look at your case file” on page 3 of form SC-500-INFO in the proposal.
Christine Copeland	SC-500-INFO I think it might be helpful to say somewhere that CCP 1179.04.5 prohibits a landlord from using a security deposit for any Covid-19 rental debt.	The committee declines this suggestion as unnecessary because the form already includes security deposits as an issue that may affect the amount of rent owed under “What arguments

	made simpler to provide meaningful access to pro per tenants: First, the language could be simplified by identifying the plaintiff as “landlord” and defendant as “you” or “tenant” throughout the list of potential arguments. Many small claims litigants will not be familiar with the terms plaintiff/defendant and will be more familiar with the term landlord/tenant. For example, “Did defendant or third party offer a rental payment that plaintiff would not accept?” could instead say “Did you or another person/entity attempt to pay your landlord and they would not accept?” Second, more illustrative language could be used. For example, the draft current states “Did plaintiff fail to provide a habitable premises? This means that if the housing did not meet certain standards, the amount owed may be reduced.” This could be rephrased to clarify better clarify what legal terms such as “habitable premises” and “certain standards” mean. For example, it could instead state “Did plaintiff/landlord fail to provide a habitable premises? If your home is not up to health, safety, or buildings standards, the amount owed may be reduced. Some examples are rodent or insect infestation, plumbing issues, black mold, etc.”	SC-500-INFO now refers to “tenant” and “landlord” rather than “defendant” and “plaintiff” throughout the form. The committee declines to use “you” to refer to defendant as form SC-500-INFO is intended to be used by all parties and referring to one specific party as “you” would be confusing. The committee declines this suggestion as a more extensive list of habitable premise issues is contained in the links provided above the list of issues.

Asian Americans Advancing Justice – Asian Law Caucus	Under paragraph 6(a) it is not clear that the Plaintiff is supposed to list each individual rental period. It should be made clear that each month of rent due must be listed, rather than listing a total amount and the latest due date. We recommend the same revision as above for paragraph 6(b). A litigant may misunderstand that they can list lump sum amounts for ‘utilities’ or other category of additional costs, rather than listing out each month (or other period) of missed payments.	In light of this comment and others, items 6(a) and 6(b) now respectively include “For each month you claim rent is due,” and “For each month you claim other financial obligations are due,” before the instruction to include each amount due.
California Apartment Association	This form is designed for use when the plaintiff is only seeking COVID-19 rental debt. AB 832 does not require a plaintiff to separate COVID-19 rental debt from other rental debt that may be owed to the landlord. CAA has heard from many of its members that tenants have outstanding balances that include rent due as far back October 2019, which would likely be sought in any action filed in Civil Court. Similarly, landlords may have claims for amounts due on or after October 1, 2021. This form should accommodate any claims that can be appropriately joined in an action to recover COVID-19 Rental Debt.	The committee notes that item 9 allows plaintiffs to make other allegations, including raising claims for other damages besides COVID-19 rental debt that may be properly joined in an action to recover COVID-19 rental debt.

	Allegation 4 should be expanded to require the plaintiff to state the date on which COVID-19 rental debt was assigned. Under Civ. Code § 1788.65(a), COVID-19 rental debt cannot be assigned between March 1, 2020, and September 30, 2021. Furthermore, under Civ. Code § 1788.66, COVID-19 rental debt of certain tenants cannot be assigned at all. Defendants must be aware of the date of assignment to properly assert this defense.	In light of this comment, item 4 on now requires plaintiffs to provide the date of assignment.

Asian Americans Advancing Justice – Asian Law Caucus	PLD-C-505, Civil (not small claims) Answer form: We suggest that the Answer not be made mandatory. Currently it reads “This form must be used . . .” and we are concerned that if pro per tenants file on another form, court clerks may reject their filings resulting in default judgments. The general denial language in paragraph 2 is confusing and should be simplified. We recommend: “Defendant generally denies each and every allegation stated in the complaint.” In addition, the language “defendant may make the Specific Denials” should be changed to “must make Specific Denials.” As currently written, pro per tenants will not realize that if they don’t do the specific denials, they are admitting everything. This issue highlights a general concern, which is the lack of a corresponding “Information” sheet for this form. We suggest creating an information sheet to explain general denials and other aspects of the form. For example, the information sheet could explain that “A general denial is appropriate if defendant disagrees with any statement in the complaint or does not have enough information to know if every statement in the complaint is true or not, AND one of the following conditions applies: 1)	The committee declines this suggestion for several reasons. First, the Code of Civil Procedure mandates that the council develop pleading forms and include a statement that access to the records in the case is limited. Such “masking” can only be achieved if the forms containing such notation are mandatory. Second, given the complexity of the issues involved, and the likelihood that many defendants will be self-represented, a mandatory answer will provide defendants with the ability to respond to specific allegations and raise defenses pertinent only to actions to recover COVID-19 rental debt. The proposed general denial now states “Defendant generally denies each statement in the complaint,” but the committee otherwise declines this suggestion as the defendant is not required to make specific denials. The committee declines this suggestion at this time as it is outside the scope of the proposal, but will consider developing an information sheet as resources and time permit.

	The complaint is not verified or 2) The amount in the complaint is...." In paragraph 3, the language “if defendant disagrees with any statements in the complaint” should be removed because pro pers will often take the allegations at face value because they don’t know one way or the other if it is true or not. They often do not realize that by failing to challenge statements that they do not, themselves, know to be true, they are admitting them. Also, the instructions here are confusing, and repetitive of the instructions in the previous section. The instructions should be revised to simply say: “You must Complete this section if you cannot check the General Denial box, above.” Also, rather than “if defendant agrees . . .” the instructions should clearly convey that by not responding to an allegation, the defendant is admitting it, based on their own personal knowledge. Suggested language: “If defendant knows that everything in the complaint is true, do not check any boxes. This will be an admission that all of the statements are true. If the defendant disagrees with a statement or does not have enough information to know if a statement is true or not, you must specify that, below.” The instructions in paragraph 3(a)(2) and all the similar instructions thereafter in this section, could easily confuse a pro per since it says: “. . . that defendant denies on this basis.” A clearer instruction would be: “. . . that defendant does not admit because they do not know whether it is true or not.” To make these forms accessible for pro per tenants, it is necessary to provide a plain language explanation for the defenses. For example, pro pers are unlikely to know that problems like a broken fridge, roaches and mold are “breach[es] of the warranty to provide habitable premises.” In	The suggested deletion was taken and replaced with, “Defendant may complete this item if Defendant did not check the general denial box, above.” The committee otherwise declines this suggestion as defendants are not required to complete specific denials if they do not make a general denial. In light of this comment, the statement “[t]his will be an admission of all the statements in that section of the complaint are true” has been added as the last line of the instructions to item 3 in form PLD-C-505 in the proposal. The committee declines this suggestion as Code of Civil Procedure section 431.3(e) permits defendants to deny allegations if they have no information or belief. The committee declines this suggestion as after reviewing item 4 in proposed form PLD-C-505 the committee did not determine that any changes were appropriate. 	order to avoid lengthening the form, the Judicial Council could create a separate information sheet about the defenses that is referenced by the court form. Finally, for the defenses the form should not direct the defendant to provide facts supporting the affirmative defenses, but rather offer for the defendant to provide facts supporting the affirmative defenses on form MC-025. The Code of Civil Procedure and the Rules of Court only require that affirmative defenses be separately stated and reference the cause of action which they are intended to answer. Cal. Code Civ. Pro. §431.30(g); Cal. Rules of Court, rule 2.112. 	that are provided to civil litigants should also include the fee waiver forms FW-001 and information sheet FW-001-INFO. Many Defendants in civil debt collection cases are self- represented and low-income individuals. They often lack resources and access to information. Many tenants facing potential lawsuits to collect unpaid rent due to Covid-19 are still facing economic hardships and thus may be eligible to have their court fees waived. Fee waiver information is especially important for defendants in civil litigation cases, because unlike small claims cases, they are required to file answers to avoid default judgments. Litigants who are unaware of the availability of fee waivers may not respond to lawsuits if they mistakenly believe they cannot afford the court fees and receive default adverse judgments as a result.

Legal Aid Foundation of Los Angeles	LAFLA agrees with the Committee’s decision to recommend a new answer form for civil cases to recover COVID-19 rental debt. Neighborhood Legal Services of Los Angeles County by Ana Maria Garcia	The PLD-C-505 is a civil Answer for Recovery of Rental Debt. This document seems to set out the tenant's options including defenses. However, this document is not for a small claims case - it is for a civil action. Why can't the tenants in a Small Claims Case prepare an Answer? Why can't this form be adapted to be used in Small Claims?	The committee appreciates the information provided and notes that providing a procedure for defendants to file an answer in small claims court is beyond the scope of this proposal, and would fundamentally alter the process of small claims court.
Neighborhood Legal Services of Los Angeles County by Michael Massman	In the section 4 on Form PLD-C-505, I suggest adding a Failure to Mitigate defense (Cal. Civ. Code § 1951.2(c)(2)). Because individuals facing actions to collect Covid Rental Debt that has been converted into consumer debt may not always have access to a housing advocate, the form may be their only way they can learn of this defense.	The committee notes that item 4(g) in the proposal covers this defense as it permits defendants to allege that they do not owe rent once they vacated the rental premises.

Comments by Public Housing Authorities
Commenter	Comment	DRAFT Committee Response
Housing Authority of the City of Los Angeles	1) PHAs cannot apply for Emergency Rental Assistance (ERA) funds without a resident’s consent because of Federal privacy laws. [FN iii 5 U.S.C. § 552a [Attachment 2]³.] “PHAs can share information about a family only if that family consents to their data being shared. Absent consent, PHAs are not authorized to share data regarding families in the public housing programs with third parties.” [FN iv Questions on the U.S. Treasury’s Emergency Rental Assistance (ERA) and Other Rental Assistance Programs (May 12, 2021), U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, Q5 at p. 2 [Attachment 3]⁴; see also 5 U.S.C. § 552a(a)-(b) [Attachment 2]⁵.] Thus, PHAs cannot represent that they have applied and cannot apply for ERA funds absent consent from a resident. The forms as drafted would improperly prohibit PHAs from proceeding with unlawful detainer actions at the pleading stage, prevent issuance of a summons in an unlawful detainer action, and preclude PHAs from recovering COVID-19 rental debt in a civil suit. PHAs might be forced to routinely file ex parte applications in order to participate in the unlawful detainer process, which is a waste of government resources and taxpayer money for both the PHAs and the Courts. As such, the forms as drafted impede PHAs equal access to justice. a) Forms affected: PLD-C-500 Complaint – Recovery of COVID-19 Rental Debt, at ¶¶ 7 & 8; UD-101 Plaintiff’s Mandatory Cover Sheet and Supplemental Allegations – Unlawful Detainer at ¶ 3; UD-120 Verification by Landlord Regarding Rental Assistance – Unlawful Detainer at ¶ 3; UD-125 Application to Prevent Forfeiture Due to COVID-19 Rental Debt at ¶ 3.	Providing any blanket exemption to statutory requirements is beyond the purview of the Judicial Council. In light of these comments, proposed form UD-101 now contains item 13, Other Allegations, where public housing authorities may assert preemption or that an exemption applies. While inclusion of item 13 may not prevent the need for an ex parte application to obtain a summons in an unlawful detainer process, it does permit the public housing authorities to raise the issues at the outset of the case. The committee declines to modify other forms in the proposal in response to these comments. Form PLD-C-500 already contains an item for plaintiffs to make other allegations. To the extent public housing authorities are unable to file form UD-120 because of other laws, they can explain this in the items for other allegations on form UD-100 or form UD-101. Given that defendants will fill out form UD-125, it is unclear why any such addition to that form would assist public housing authorities.

Bet Tzedek also operates a Small Claims clinic in conjunction with the Los Angeles County Bar Association and Southwestern Law School, which provides information about the small claims process. Many of the people we serve are seniors, individuals with disabilities, and individuals with limited English proficiency. Our comments are informed by our experiences in these areas. Since the pandemic began, and particularly with the sunset of the Judicial Council Emergency Rule 1, there has been a marked increase in the need for assistance with evictions and other rental housing-related matters. In recent months, we have provided countless consultations to tenants who are availing themselves of the protections afforded by AB 3088 and who will almost certainly soon be faced with back rent collection lawsuits in small claims court. Because litigants in small claims court cannot be represented by an attorney, it is especially important that the Judicial Council forms be accurate and accessible to tenants. We commend the Civil and Small Claims Advisory Committee for its efforts to do so by revising SC-100 and by adding SC-110. We have the following suggestions and comments. [See comments on specific provisions below.]	The committee appreciates the comments.

Asian Americans Advancing Justice – Asian Law Caucus San Francisco, CA by Arianna Cook-Thajudeen, Esq. Housing Rights Program	3. Remove the option of including the defendant’s email address. We find the addition of the option, in Section 1 on the second page of the form, to allow the plaintiff to include their email address helpful, particularly for court scheduling purposes. However, we have concerns about the option to include the defendant’s email address in Section 2. The form is completed by the plaintiff only, and the email address the plaintiff has for a defendant may be inaccurate or out of date. Moreover, it is our experience that many low-income tenants and consumers who have email accounts do not necessarily use them, or have the means to access those accounts regularly. Inclusion of email addresses on the form may result in confusion about the use of email for service, and may result in improper use of defendants’ email addresses, including for debt collection. We would recommend keeping the option for the plaintiff to provide their email address and deleting the option to include the defendant’s email address.	In light of this and other comments on this point, the committee modified the proposal to exclude the item requesting defendant’s email address, while retaining the request for plaintiff’s email address, in forms SC-100 and SC-500. The committee decided to remove the item requesting defendant’s email address from the revisions in light of the fact that it was being requested from the opposing party and there was no way to confirm the validity or usage of the address. Committee members note that there are alternative ways for courts to invite defendants to alternative dispute resolution programs without trying to get the plaintiff to provide the address. Taking that into account, and acknowledging the concerns noted by several commenters, the committee concluded that while it was appropriate to include a request for plaintiffs to provide their own email addresses on the claim forms (if they have one), it was not appropriate to ask them to provide defendant’s.
Bay Area Legal Aid Oakland, CA by David Canela Hilda Chan Lisa Greif Kari Rudd	Defendant’s Email Address We are concerned that the form asks landlord plaintiffs to list an email address for their tenants. If the landlord is mistaken, if a tenant no longer uses that email address, or if they do not check it regularly, they could miss out on important notices. Also, including a field for the defendant’s email address could imply to the plaintiff that they may electronically serve defendants by email. To avoid this, we recommend removing the email field for defendants on form SC-100 and allow defendants to voluntarily provide their email address if they choose to do so.	See response to comments by Asian Americans Advancing Justice – Asian Law Caucus on this issue.

In addition, many of our clients do not regularly utilize email and do not have consistent access to reliable internet. Moreover, we are concerned that the plaintiff or the court may presume that because an email has been provided, electronic service may be acceptable. We therefore recommend deleting the line for the defendant’s email address. If the line for the defendant’s email address is maintained, it should be made clear that the plaintiff’s provision of an email address does not confirm that it is accurate or checked regularly and does not constitute a waiver of normal notice requirements or an agreement by the defendant to accept electronic notice.
California Access to Justice Commission Oakland, CA by Hon. Mark Juhas Chair	3. Clarify that plaintiff’s listing of defendant’s email address on Form SC-100 does not constitute defendant’s agreement to electronic notice. The revised form SC-100 newly requests the plaintiff to identify email addresses for both the plaintiff and defendant. It should be made clear that the plaintiff’s providing an email address for the defendant neither confirms that it is an accurate or regularly checked email address, nor takes the place of normal notice requirements or voluntary agreement to electronic notice by the defendant. Particularly in the context of COVID-19 rental debt, it may be that tenants do not have regular or reliable access to email. Further, because this form is filled out by the plaintiff, there is no assurance that the email address provided is a preferred method of communication for the defendant. 	Defendant’s email address on the SC-100 has the potential benefit of encouraging Online Dispute Resolution (ODR) by making it easier for a Plaintiff or Defendant who may want to initiate ODR. Community Legal Aid SoCal created an Online Dispute Resolution pilot program for small claims Cases in Orange County Superior Court. One of the ongoing challenges for our program has been getting small claims litigants to participate in ODR since it is voluntary. Online Dispute resolution offers several benefits. It saves the litigants time and money associated with going to court, it can resolve a court case sooner on the party's own terms and can help parties better prepare for their court trials. ODR can also help alleviate court calendar congestion and conserve court resources for the most complicated cases. Due to COVID-19 related court closures small claims trial dates are being scheduled much further out than normal, and many litigants want to avoid having to go to court due to COVID-19 Safety concerns. By resolving the dispute remotely small claims litigants can avoid having to go to the court in person. Thus, we support measures that will help the parties resolve their disputes outside of the court. However, the inclusion of the Plaintiff and Defendant’s email addresses on the SC-100 does raise concerns. The Defendant’s email address will be provided by the Plaintiff. This raises concerns about the accuracy and legitimacy of the Defendant’s email address. Many people have email addresses that they do not check routinely or may share with other members of their household. Therefore, inclusion of the email address should not allow the Plaintiff to circumvent any current service requirements of the SC-100 on the Defendant, or any notice that may be given by the clerk of the court. To avoid confusion,

Law Foundation of Silicon Valley San Jose, CA by Nadia Aziz, Esq. Directing Attorney, Housing	In section 1, it is helpful for the plaintiff to provide their email address when available, however, plaintiff should not provide the defendants email address, as the accuracy or frequency with which the address is checked cannot be guaranteed, and could result in the tenant/defendant not receiving notice. Public Counsel Los Angeles, CA by Amanda K. Pertusati Supervising Staff Attorney	Email Addresses: We have concerns about the inclusion of the defendant’s email address on the form. The form is completed by the plaintiff only, and the email address the plaintiff has for a defendant may be inaccurate or out of date. Moreover, it is our experience that many low-income tenants and consumers who have email accounts do not necessarily use them, or have the means to access those accounts regularly. Inclusion of email addresses on the form may result in confusion about the use of email for service, and may result in improper use of defendants’ email addresses, including for debt collection. We would recommend including the option for the plaintiff to provide its email address, and deleting the line for the defendant’s email address. 	In Section 2, we believe that a plaintiff should not provide a defendant’s email address without the defendant being able to confirm that they would like to provide that email address. As we have worked with our low-income tenants and consumers, we have found that relying on a client’s email address can be problematic. First, an email address may be mis-entered, either through a typo or through a misunderstanding when the tenant or consumer provided that email to the plaintiff. That could result in the court thinking a defendant is ignoring notices, when in reality they aren’t receiving them. Additionally, just because a tenant or consumer has an email address does not mean that they know how to access it, or that they access it regularly. Many of our clients do not have any, or at least reliable, internet access at home. Many of our clients check their email infrequently, if at all. We are extremely concerned that if a defendant’s email address is provided without their knowledge, and that the plaintiff or the court may rely upon that email address without the defendant confirming the accuracy of the address, such a method of contact would be extremely unreliable. We are not sure what the process could or should be to allow a defendant to provide their email address to the court, if they so desire, since there is no responsive filing in a small claims case. It may be that the defendant just cannot reliably provide their email address in these cases.

Bay Area Legal Aid Oakland, CA by David Canela Hilda Chan Lisa Greif Kari Rudd	2. Form SC-100 Amount Owed As AB 3088 provides for partial payments of rent during the statutory period, we recommend that Section 3 require that the plaintiff explain whether the alleged amount owed includes or excludes any offsets (such as money that the plaintiff received from the defendant or a third party). Having this information from the plaintiff will help defendants prepare to address this issue in their response and at trial. The form should also include a place to indicate the date that the rent became due and clarify the amount of time that must pass before a plaintiff can bring an action to collect COVID-19 rental debt.	In light of this and other comments on this point, along with the mandate to create such a form enacted in AB 832, the committee is recommending a new claim form (form SC-500) for these cases. Item 3 in proposed form SC-500 has been tailored to actions to recover COVID-19 rental debt. Specifically, it requires the plaintiff to list the specific amounts they claim defendant owes for rent or any other amounts of COVID-19 rental debt, listed by month due. In addition, item 4 requires a list of any offsets or payments made by or on behalf of defendant. As to the amount of time that must pass before a claim may be brought, the committee notes that the law authorizes that such claims may be commenced November 1, 2021, which is the effective date of the recommended form.
California Apartment Association Sacramento, CA by Whitney Prout Policy and Compliance Counsel	CAA agrees that the revisions the committee has proposed for this form are appropriate. However, CAA recommends several additional changes to make the form easier to use and more useful to the judicial officers who will adjudicate these cases. CAA recommends that a checkbox be added to paragraph 3 that can be used in cases seeking payment of a COVID-19 rental debt as an alternative to filling out subdivisions (a) through (c). Because these cases will all involve the same basic set of allegations (i.e., that the tenant failed to pay rent or other charges due between March 1, 2020 and January 31, 2021), there is no reason to have the plaintiff give a narrative explanation of their claim. Instead, what the defendant and judicial officer need to know is the basis for the obligation (i.e., the rental agreement or lease) and what amounts are alleged to be unpaid.	See response to comments by Bay Area Legal Aid on this issue.

	Together with the checkbox recommended above, CAA recommends that the Judicial Council make available an attachment that includes the basic allegations required in this type of action and a place where the plaintiff can specify the charges due for the period in dispute and any payments made. The Judicial Council provides cause of action-specific forms in other contexts, such as Form PLD-C-001(1) (Cause of Action—Breach of Contract) and Form UD-100 (Complaint – Unlawful Detainer), and it would be appropriate to do so here as well. By providing this form, the judicial officer is much more likely to get the information needed to adjudicate the case, rather than potentially confusing and irrelevant narrative explanations from inexperienced litigants. Having a form pleading will also mean that the information is provided in a consistent format, making it easier for the judicial officer to find the information they need when referencing the pleading. If the committee is amenable to this recommendation, CAA is happy to assist in the development of this form. As the committee is likely aware, CAA is very experienced in the development of forms used by rental housing providers throughout the state and has created many forms to assist rental housing providers with compliance with AB 3088.

Asian Americans Advancing Justice – Asian Law Caucus San Francisco, CA by Arianna Cook-Thajudeen, Esq. Housing Rights Program	1. Specify the “Code of Civil Procedure” when referencing “Section 1179.02” in the new checkbox. The addition of the new checkbox on page 1 of the form with the statement: “ACTION FOR RECOVERY OF COVID-19 RENTAL DEBT AS DEFINED UNDER SECTION 1179.02” is incredibly helpful. However, we recommend including “CODE OF CIVIL PROCEDURE” before “SECTION 11709.02” to help unrepresented litigants find and understand this legal information.	The committee appreciates the comment and agrees with the idea of adding the name of the referenced code. In light of space limitations however, especially because of the additional language now required at the top of the form under section 1161.5.2, the committee decided to add “Code Civ.Proc.” where section 1179.02 is referenced on new form SC-500.
Bay Area Legal Aid Oakland, CA by David Canela Hilda Chan Lisa Greif Kari Rudd	Certification of Compliance with AB 3088 Notice Requirements To reduce the number of bad-faith filings, we recommend that the form include a certification that the plaintiff complied with all notice requirements before collecting on COVID-19 rental debt. This should include an affirmation that the 15-day notice to pay rent or quit was served with the “Declaration of Financial Distress” and other required attachments. Masking The form should make it clear to litigants that the action will be masked, and explain what that means.	The committee declines to make the suggested change, because—other than the mandatory service requirements to initiate an action in small claims court provided in Code of Civil Procedure § 116.340 and the new requirements from SB 91 (provided in Code of Civil Procedure § 871.10) that plaintiff attach documentation showing a good faith effort to investigate the availability of rental assistance—the committee is unaware of a notice requirement plaintiff must comply with to collect COVID-19 rental debt. The proposed small claims form now includes a statement regarding masking at the top, and the new information sheet explains what that means.
California Access to Justice Commission Oakland, CA by Hon. Mark Juhas Chair	1. Specify the “Code of Civil Procedure” when referencing “Section 1179.02” in the new checkbox The revised form SC-100 includes a new checkbox with the statement: “ACTION FOR RECOVERY OF COVID-19 RENTAL DEBT AS DEFINED UNDER SECTION 1179.02.” One purpose of this new checkbox is to provide information to the parties and the court about what information may be needed to make or defend against the claim. Adding a clear reference to the “Code of Civil Procedure” would assist unrepresented litigants with understanding and finding such information.	The committee has made the suggested change and spelled out “Code of Civil Procedure” where section 1179.02 is referenced on form SC-100 as well as on new form SC-500.

California Apartment Association Sacramento, CA by Whitney Prout Policy and Compliance Counsel	In addition, CAA recommends that paragraph 10 – which asks whether the claim is worth more than $2,500 – be revised to provide clearer guidance to the plaintiff as to how to respond to the question. While the proposed revision tells the litigant that the limit on filing more than two claims seeking $2,500 or more does not apply to cases seeking COVID-19 rental debt, it doesn’t tell the plaintiff how they should respond to the question. The simplest solution would be either direct the plaintiff not to answer the question if the case seeks a COVID-19 rental debt or add a “not applicable” response option the plaintiff can select.	Based on this and other comments, the committee has revised the proposal to recommend adoption of form SC-500, a separate claim form that parallels form SC-100, but is specifically for use in actions to recover COVID-19 rental debt in small claims court. The information sought in item 10 on form SC-100 is not included on this new form.
California Association of Judgment Professionals Oxnard, CA by Gretchen D. Lichtenberger Legislative Chairperson	Suggestions for the revised SC-100 form: 1) On page 1 where you suggest adding “ACTION FOR RECOVERY OF COVID-19 RENTAL DEBT AS DEFINED UNDER SECTION 1179.02”, we suggest you add “CCP” before “SECTION” so it reads “ACTION FOR RECOVERY OF COVID-19 RENTAL DEBT AS DEFINED UNDER CCP SECTION 1179.02”. 2) You may possibly want to consider adding a brief exception regarding COVID-19 Rental Debt in the first paragraph on pages 4 and 5 such as “ "Small claims court" is a special court where claims for $10,000 or less are decided, COVID-19 Rental Debt may exceed the limits”. Christine Copeland Commissioner Santa Clara County Superior Court	[comment received in a prior circulation of unlawful detainer forms] I look forward to seeing the proposed changes for the small claims claim form (SC-100) to advertise the lifting of jurisdictional limits for landlords seeking more than $10,000 or $5000 (corps or LLCs). Since you’ll have to change the SC-100 to accommodate that change effective 8/1/21, I ask that you consider an instruction somewhere on the form that a landlord should look at their lease and make sure all landlords and all tenants are listed as parties. This is because a large percentage of the time, we learn at the first small claims hearing that necessary parties are missing, and we have to order that the claim be amended to capture all parties. And once you amend a claim, then the clerk has to set a new court date, file more forms, the plaintiff/landlord has to then serve the amended claim, etc. and so the Court’s workload is often double what it needs to be.	In light of this comment, the committee added to form SC-500-INFO language directed at the plaintiff to consider naming all tenants as defendants. The committee declines to add an instruction to form SC-500 requiring plaintiff to name all landlords and tenants as parties because no statutory authority requires such inclusion of all landlords and tenants.

This would support the underlying nature of the Small Claims Court as a streamlined venue. Finally, we believe that the COVID-specific rental debt process should include an option to remove a case to Superior Court for particularly complicated cases. If a COVID rental debt claim is for over $10,000 and would have been brought in Superior Court but for the fact that it is COVID rental debt, the Court should allow Defendants to request that the case be removed to Superior Court. Small Claims Court’s streamlined process does not allow for the participation of legal counsel during the hearing. Since the various COVID eviction moratoria have nuanced and location-specific requirements, some Defendants will have complicated answers and/or counterclaims to their landlords’ actions. Especially when a case involves more than $10,000, a Defendant with a complicated case should be given the opportunity to remove that case to a venue that would allow representation during the hearing. Clarify the most common affirmative defenses in Form SC-110-INFO. While the proposed SC-110-INFO form includes some information about affirmative defenses, we suggest that the form make clear that there are additional affirmative defenses other than those listed. Bet Tzedek Legal Services Los Angeles, CA by Jenna Miara Directing Attorney, Impact Litigation & Policy	• Possible Defenses We strongly recommend that information about the affirmative defenses available to a tenant/defendant be added to SC-110. This is particularly important because tenants are not required to file an answer to a small claims rent debt complaint so they will need to raise any applicable affirmative defense to non-payment of rent and prepare to present those affirmative defenses at trial. A good model for this is UD-105, the Judicial Council form for answering an unlawful detainer, which clearly explains each affirmative defense. We also recommend that SC-110 more clearly state and expand the list of defenses that parties may present. The paragraph in the middle of page 1 that begins “The plaintiff and defendant may disagree on the amount...” should be a separate section with its own heading, e.g. “What arguments can I make?” It should also be clear that it is not an exhaustive list. Commenter	Comment	Committee Response
California Apartment Association Sacramento, CA by Whitney Prout Policy and Compliance Counsel	Form SC-110-INFO CAA thanks the committee for creation of Form SC-110-INFO to assist both landlords and tenants. CAA recommends three additions to the form to make it even more helpful. First, CAA recommends that the definition of COVID-19 rental debt, found on page 1 of the form, be revised to make clear that it applies only to charges due under a lease or rental agreement for a residential rental unit. Currently, the form refers only to a “lease or rental agreement,” which could include charges due pursuant to a lease for commercial real estate or for a lease of personal property. This revision is consistent with AB 3088, which defines “COVID-19 rental debt” as unpaid rent or any other unpaid financial obligation of a tenant under the tenancy that came due during the covered time period (Code of Civ. Proc. § 1179.02(c)). The law then defines “tenant” as any natural person who hires real property that is neither commercial property nor used for transient occupancy (Code of Civ. Proc. § 1179.02(h)). Clarifying this definition will help prevent litigants from unwittingly alleging that a COVID-19 rental debt is sought when the debt does not meet the legal definition of a COVID-19 rental debt. Finally, CAA recommends that the form include information about the ability of a property manager to appear on behalf of the owner of the rental property pursuant to Code of Civ. Proc. § 116.540(h). CAA has already received questions about this issue, and so it is likely that more landlords will have this question as March 1 approaches. By including this information in SC-110, together with a reference to Form SC-109 (Authorization to Appear), it will hopefully reduce the number of questions directed to court staff and increase the filing of the proper authorizations.	The committee agrees and has added such language to information sheet. The committee agrees and has added this information to form SC-500-INFO.

California Lawyer’s Association Sacramento, CA by Elisabeth A. Thank you for your consideration of these comments.	The committee has added the word “residential” to the first page of the information sheet (now numbered as form SC-500-INFO) under “What is COVID-19 rental debt?” in light of these comments.
Public Law Center Santa Ana, CA by Leigh E. Ferrin Director of Litigation and Pro Bono	In the section that discusses what the defendant should take to small claims court, we suggest that there also be a sentence or two about any deadlines for submitting documents to the plaintiff. There can be a reference to the rules, but a specific statement will also be useful, since many of these defendants will not be directly accessing the small claims rules and procedures.	Defendants in small claims court are not required to file a response to plaintiffs’ claims. Accordingly, the committee is unaware of any statewide deadlines to submit documents to plaintiffs to which commenter refers and declines this suggestion.

To increase the chances defendants will see and have access to the information sheet, we recommend that plaintiffs be required to serve form SC-110-INFO along with the revised form SC-100 in applicable cases.	The committee declines to make the suggested change. The Code of Civil Procedure does not require service of anything except “a simple nontechnical” claim form to initiate an action in small claims court. (§ 116.310). However, proposed form SC-500 tells parties to read form SC-500-INFO in several places, provides a live link to the form in each place, and identifies a website URL and in-person locations where the form can be obtained. Finally, requiring service of form SC-500-INFO would require a rule of court. Otherwise, the consequence for not serving the form would be unclear and courts would have no way of knowing that when they undertake service (which is expressly authorized for small claims), they are required to include the information sheet along with the claims form. A new rule is outside the scope of the current proposal, but the committee will further consider this issue in the future.

As a result, tenants being sued in small claims court for unpaid rent could face the potential of much higher judgments without attorney representation. 	There is concern that defendant tenants without attorney representation, as would normally be available in unlawful detainer cases, will be at a disadvantage in the small claims trials for COVID-19 rental debt. However, if the defendant loses at the small claims trial, they will still have the opportunity to appeal the judgment and be represented by an attorney at the appeal. Thus, more information about the small claims appeals process should be provided to the litigants. A small claims appeal information sheet similar to the existing SC-100-INFO page should be created and information about appeals should be included on the proposed SC-110 information page.

Clarify that appearing in the small claims case, and raising defenses, is not a legal basis for eviction or retaliation. Typically, an action seeking rental debt also implicates possession and eviction. Self-represented tenants may be concerned when served with form SC-100 “Plaintiff’s Claim and ORDER to Go to Small Claims Court” seeking rental debt as potentially relating to eviction. The forms should make clear that eviction and possession are not at issue in the small claims court case and should clarify that any acts of retaliation by a landlord for raising defenses to nonpayment of rent is illegal.	In response to this and other comments on this point, information is included in new form SC-500, in both the “Notice to the person being sued” on page 1, and the “Let the case ‘default’” item on page 5, to make clear that these are not eviction cases. University of California, Irvine School of Law UCI Law Clinics by Claire Johnson Raba Clinical Teaching Fellow	Case Management: In response to the request for comments on changing docket codes and modifying case management systems, we strongly encourage the addition of a field, or fields, to track information relating to these cases. We encourage that this information be required to be reported to the Judicial Council under JBSIS required annual reporting of aggregate case information data, including filing, disposition, time to disposition, and all other JBSIS fields that currently apply to limited civil matters. We also urge the Judicial Council to clearly identify the name of the suggested field in order to normalize this data across	See response to comments by Bay Area Legal Aid on this issue. That request for comments is to courts, requesting estimates on how much work will be required to implement proposals.

This will ensure that the courts, the JCC, and advocates submitting requests under California Rule of Court 10.500 will be able to track how many small claims cases are filed specifically to collect COVID-19 Rental Debt, and the disposition of those matters. This data will be incredibly important in understanding the effectiveness of the provision in AB 3088, for the provision of the legal aid services, and for future legislative considerations.

11. Changes Suggested for Other Forms

California Apartment Association Sacramento, CA by Whitney Prout Policy and Compliance Counsel	Finally, all the changes made to Form SC-100 should also be made to other forms that include the same items, such as Forms SC-100A and SC-120.	To the extent the commenter is seeking to have the revisions relating to the jurisdictional limits in small claims court extended to the other forms, the creation of a new claim form for actions seeking recovery of COVID-19 rental debt, SC-500, and the form attachment for additional litigants in such cases, SC-500A, makes such modifications unnecessary. To the extent the request is for revising forms SC-100A and SC-120 to include email addresses of plaintiffs, revising those forms is outside the scope of this proposal. However, the committee will consider revisions to those forms as time and resources allow.
Superior Court of Los Angeles County by Bryan Borys Director of Research and Data Management	3. Recommendation: Modify the SC-100A Other Plaintiffs and Defendants form to accept an optional email address line, to be consistent with the SC-100 form.	See response to comments by California Apartment Association on this issue.
Superior Court of San Diego County by Mike Roddy Executive Officer	Because a landlord could be seeking damages against more than one tenant and the form has a check-box referencing SC-100A for more than one defendant, it is recommended that SC-100A be amended, so that the #3 in SC-100A also include the same language in #10 of SC-100 that reads as follows: “but this limit does not apply if this action is to recover COVID-19 rental debt.” Finally, it is proposed that the changes included in SC-100 also be applied to the Defendant’s Claim and Order to Go to Small Claims Court (SC-120).
